There is a marked increase in the exportation of cattle for breeding purposes to the states, the total number exported during the year just ended is 574, of the value of $19,380, averaging nearly $34 per head.

The breeders of this island are now fully aware of the necessity for a pure breed, with good milking qualities of their cattle for the United States, and they are most anxious that every precaution should be taken to insure the genuineness of the breed of their cattle when landed at the United States, and this shows the necessity of each animal being branded on the horn and accompanied by a certificate of pedigree, and a certificate describing the animal and the number branded on the horn, together with the certificate of the veterinary surgeon of the soundness of the animal, and its being free from foot and mouth disease.

Henry Clay was forced by ill health to abandon his trip to the capital in the winter of 1851-52 and he returned to the National hotel, hoping that when spring came he might return to Ashland and die in the bosom of his family.

There was hardly strength enough in his hands to convey food to his mouth, and that he was helped to and from his bed like a feeble child and like an old father.

Rights of Property Owners.

There was a lively sensation in Brooklyn yesterday morning when the employes of the Brooklyn elevated railroad undertook to tear up a flagstone in front of the residence of a Mrs. Elinger, in order to plant one of their iron supports.

The company had previously promised Rev. Father Keegan, of the church of the Assumption, near by, that the sidewalk there should not be disturbed. A crowd collected in the vicinity, and this was augmented when the heroic Mrs. Elinger took up her position on the flagstone, and shaking her head in a determined manner, notified the workmen that they should not run their road past her door.

"Stand your ground! Don't move an inch!" shouted several of the crowd, and much curiosity was manifested to see what they would do. By direction of the foreman the workmen dug round the flagstone very carefully, and when they had loosened it several took hold of the edges and lifted it up, carrying Mrs. Elinger upon it, and setting it down in front of the adjoining house.

The crowd, however, still shouting and yelling at the time, and the workmen were threatened but not interfered with. Rev. Father Keegan then repaired to the office of ex-Judge Tracy, and he hastened before Judge Cullen, of the King's county supreme court, and obtained an injunction restraining the company from going on with the work. The police stopped the workmen at once.

The Health of Emperor William. The health of the Emperor William is by no means so established as the chroniclers have been urging him to visit Weisbaden. The real desire is to get him away from the cares of statecraft, with which he persists in busying himself in spite of his entire physical prostration.

At last consented, and it is now officially announced that he will leave Berlin next Monday. He will endeavor to devote one day to a visit to Queen Victoria at Darmstadt, where the queen, who has reached Philadelphia, is expected to arrive to-morrow. It is announced, however, that the emperor will not be able to attend the approaching wedding of Princess Victoria and Prince Louis. As the Emperor is in deep mourning for the death of Prince Leopold, the ceremony will be shorn of much of its expected brilliancy.
