

Lancaster Intelligencer.

MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 28, 1884.

THE BIG WALKING MATCH.

It opens last night with a great crowd in attendance.

The scene at Madison Square garden Sunday night clearly indicated that the people of New York are not yet tired of pedestrian matches. The crowd began to gather at 8 o'clock and when the band began its introductory concert there were 1,500 people in the garden. From that time the crowd began to pour in steadily. Representatives of all classes were present, including a large quota of sporting men and athletes, and many bankers, brokers and merchants. Half a dozen Kickapoo Indians came early in the evening to the grand contest, aeg Ebow, the Chinese, the contestant, aeg Ebow. The track had been measured during the day and was found to be an exact eighth of a mile. It is ten feet wide and a foot in thickness. During the day Winston H. Burrill, a colored man from Pennsylvania, was admitted as an entry. He is a carpet cleaner, Colonel Hamilton Basby, of the Turf, Field and Farm, had been chosen referee. The judges were Colonel Leslie Bruce, of the Turf, Field and Farm, and L. E. Myers, the champion amateur runner. The list of scorers was made up of members of the Manhattan, Williamsburg, Pastime, American and Jersey City athletic clubs. That Hart, the colored champion, would not start, for some reason that was not announced.

A full list of the starters and their records is as follows: Winston H. Burrill, Pennsylvania; John H. Sullivan, Saratoga, 560 miles; George D. Noremac, New York, 560 miles; Robert Vint, Brooklyn, 578 miles; Charles Thompson, New York city; Nitaw eg Ebow, Dakota; Alfred Elson, Meriden, Conn., 423 miles; Peter J. Panchot, Buffalo, 541 miles; William W. Lounsherry, Chicago; Daniel J. Herty, Boston, 556 miles; Patrick Fitzgerald, ex alderman of Long Island City, 582 miles; Peter N. Campion, Bridgeport, 595 miles; George Hains, Pennsylvania; Samuel Head, Birmingham, Eng., champion twelve hours a day walker of England.

At 11 o'clock the garden contained 7,500 people and shortly after this Rowell entered the building. As he walked up the track to his quarters he was greeted with cheers from all parts of the building. All the other contestants had come in before this time, preparing for their tramp. Most of them had passed unnoticed by the crowd. At a few minutes of 12 the men came out from their quarters and the starting point at once became the centre of attraction. The men appeared to be in prime condition. At midnight Colonel Bazby gave the word to "go," and the men were started on their journey. Noremac was the first to complete the mile. He was closely followed by Rowell, Fitzgerald and Herty in the order named. Noremac's time was six minutes. The third score at 1 a. m. stood: Burrell, 8 miles; Sullivan, 8 miles; Noremac, 8 miles; Vint, 7 miles 7 laps; Rowell, 8 miles; Thompson, 7 miles 5 laps; Nitaw eg Ebow, 7 miles 3 laps; Elson, 8 miles; Panchot, 7 miles; Louisburg, 6 miles 3 laps; Herty, 8 miles; Fitzgerald, 8 miles; Campion, 7 miles 3 laps; Day, 8 miles.

Cure of Rheumatism
OCEANUS POSTOFFICE, ROCKAWAY BEACH, N. Y.
March 1, 1883.
I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. Six weeks ago I had a severe attack and took to bed with nothing appearing to me of any good. I got a box of Dr. Benson's Pills at last, and took three and four every night for a week. I got better every day, and in a week I was well. On the bench we have no doctor, and our main relief is on Dr. Benson's Pills and Alcock's Plasters.

M. P. HOLLAND, Postmaster.

Day's Horse and Cart Powder is indispensable for the care of sheep and lambs in winter. It keeps the lamb warm and fattens the lamb by increasing the milk of the mother. Price twenty-five cents per package of one pound.

The New Bicycle.
This machine is propelled by steam, and will carry two people twenty miles in an hour. It is safe, and it is said to be much more comfortable than a bicycle. Price $25.00. Not to be compared with Rardon's Bicyclette. Price 25 cents. Will carry the invalid along the road to healthiness. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street.

American Art.
Photographs, Engravings, etc., can be easily copied on the liquid Art Color. Made from Chromo Dyes. Full directions for this beautiful art work, with a handsome colored cat, a photo and a book, for 10 cents. WELLS & RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

No Deception Used.
It is strange so many people in this country to suffer after being treated with Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Sour Stomach, General Debility, etc. If they can procure at our store the THERAPY OF THE THERAPY, it will do no harm or reflect on their price. Price 25 cents. Sold by H. B. Cochran, 137 and 139 North Queen street.

What is it about?
Let us tell you what Dr. Thomas' Acetie Oil is good for. It's deadly to rheumatism and neuralgia, and it cures all diseases of the skin, hair, eyes, teeth, bones, joints, sinews and other tissues. It's only relief from pain. The granthal discovery of the Nineteenth century. Send us for illustrated pamphlet. Address,

VOLTAIC BELT.
Electric Apparatus can be sent on 30 days trial.

TO MEN ONLY,
YOUNG OR OLD.

BOILER WORKS.

We are suffering from Services Debility. Lost Vitality, Lack of Sence Force and Vigor. Wanting Weakness, and all these Diseases of Aged Men. If you are subject to these debilities and are equally good for sprains. For sale by H. B. Cochran druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street.

MOTHERS! Mothers!
Are you disturbed at night and broken your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve you of all trouble. Price 25 cents. Note—there is no mistake about this. Price 25 cents. Sold by H. B. Cochran, 137 and 139 North Queen street.

RESCUE FROM DEATH
The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that others may be induced to take Dr. Wm. H. Hall's BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I laugh at my friends, who say my case is incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that others may be induced to take Dr. Wm. H. Hall's BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I laugh at my friends, who say my case is incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."

The following statement of William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of last year I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, so severe a cough, I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the sum of $1,275.00 I paid for medical treatment and drugs, and my bill was incurable, but I got a trifle to satisfy me. My surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have done for the past three years."