The primary school located in Vigilant hall and taught by Miss Emma McDowell, was examined yesterday. Superintendent Ames expressed much satisfaction with the condition of the school. Interesting examination exercises are being held to-day at the high school, the classes in chemistry and geometry being those undergoing the ordeal of examination.

Most of its best players having become members of the Columbia base ball club, the Alerts deemed it advisable to disband, which has been done. The Quickstep will play the Resolutes to-morrow afternoon and on the following Saturday will measure strength with a Lititz club. It has also received a challenge to play a game with a York club at an early date.

At a meeting at the Franklin house, Columbia, of the board of directors of the Lancaster County Amateur Base Ball association, the American association rules governing games were adopted. Reach's balls will be used in all games. The championship opens May 20 and closes September 15. Every club is booked for twenty games.

Is Abe Buzzard in Cincinnati?

Lititz Record.

In a letter from J. G. Reinhold, dated May 10, 1884, who left this place recently for Cincinnati, he writes as follows:

"Last night J. M. Sheaffer, Isaac Forrow, of Farmersville, and myself while seated at a table in the Atlantic gardon, we were no little surprised to see coming along none other but the notoriety Abe Buzzard of Lancaster county notority. Mr. Morrow knew him well, and at once told me who he was. Abe looked at us, and noticing Mr. Morrow, he immediately struck out, we following him. We kept on his trail for several squares, and seeing that we were on his track, he slipped in an alley, where we lost sight of him. He was dressed up in the best of style, wore a high hat and a button hole boquet, and looked well. We notified the police, who went in search of the much desired escaped convict, but up to this time have not found him."

Up With 'Em

As we go to press the workmen at the Northern market are swinging into place the first one of the eighteen trusses that are to support the roof of that edifice. Each truss weighs about 2½ tons and is nearly 100 feet in length. And just at the same hour workmen are lifting by block and tackle a new "Universal" job press up to the third story of the INTELLIGENCER building. It is an even bet which set of workmen finish their job first.

SECOND EDITION.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 16, 1884.

ON WALL STREET.

MATTERS QUIETING DOWN THERE.

One Failure in New York City To-day—Others in Other Places—A Georgia Banker's Troubles.

NEW YORK, May 16.—It is given out on Wall street at this hour (10 a. m.) that the obligations of Fish and Hatch on the stock exchange are very small.

The opening of the Exchange shows no appearance of a flurry and indications point to higher prices to day, unless new failures occur.

WALL STREET, 11:05 A. M.—The firm of H. C. Hardey & Sons have just announced their suspension.

A Hopeful Circumstance.

NOON—The first two hours of business, which are usually the most dangerous in a season of flurry, have passed with only one small failure, which has had no great depressing influence.

1:30 P. M.—On Wall street at this hour stocks are stronger and higher again.

Proceeding the Market.

1:30 A. M.—The clearing house banks have agreed to advance $20,000,000 on government bonds if necessary to protect the market. Up to this hour, it is said, $2,500,000 have been loaned on this collateral; money is loaning at ½@¾ per cent. premium per diem.

2:15 P. M.—The hour of settling has passed and no additional failures are reported.

The Weekly Report of Failures Everywhere

The business failures for the last seven days throughout the country number 182 for the United States and 27 for Canada, a total of 209. As compared with 191 the previous week, this shows an increase of 18 failures, just about the number that occurred in Wall street. The other sections of the country report about the same as the previous week.

A Southern Banker Shuts His Doors.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 16.—John H. James, the banker, announced last night that he would not open his doors to day. He had control of real estate to the amount of half a million dollars, which he will offer for sale at once, and which will more than pay his liabilities.

The associate banks and bankers of Atlanta met last night and tendered Mr. James assistance. He declined, stating that he preferred to rely on his real estate, which would fully protect him. There was no run on his bank and he closes out of abundant caution.

The other banks are confident and strong, and have organized for mutual protection.

Failure of a Savings Bank.

NEWARK, N. J., May 16.—The Newark savings institution, which failed six years ago, closed its doors to day. Fisk & Hatch, the officers say, owe the bank a million dollars.

The Newark savings institution failed four years ago, but was taken in the guardianship of chancery, which, instead of appointing a receiver, left the board of managers in control to settle up the old debts and receive new deposits which were to be invested only in government bonds and similar securities, and which investments were to be especially for the benefit of the new deposits; and all deposits have realized 95 per cent., and there is enough money to pay the other 5 per cent. The new deposits have paid an income of 3½ per cent. yearly.

Much Excitement in London.

LONDON, May 16.—5 P. M.—There is a strong downward tendency in American stocks. The street is crowded and there is much excitement.

In this convention in Chicago, about 160 delegates being present. John F. Henry, of New York, was chosen president. Resolutions were adopted declaring that "labor and capital should be alike, not enemies; that corporations are the creatures of law, and should be controlled by law; that it is the duty of the government to at once regulate commerce among the states, including the transportation of money and the transmission of intelligence; that the national eight hour law must be honestly enforced, and the importation of foreign labor under contract be made illegal; that there should be graduated income tax; that the tariff, which is a tax upon the people, shall be so levied as to bear as lightly as possible upon the necessaries of life; that no further grants of public lands be made to corporations, and that American legislation has discriminated against agriculture, which has, in the meantime, borne the brunt of taxation." After the adoption of the platform Senator Boyd, of New York, declaring that "the convention had been organized to advance the interests of one candidate as against the advocacy of real principles," took up his hat and quitted the hall. The delegates from the District of Columbia also withdrew. General B. F. Butler was then nominated for president of the United States by 124 votes to 7 for Thurman, and 1 for Solon Chase. The convention then adjourned.
