THE DIAGNOTHIANS.

Minth Amelversary in the Presence of a Large Audlence,

A GALA EVENING IN FULTON BALL Pleasant Celebration of the Society's Forty-

A sea of bright happy faces, the great majority belonging to the gentler sex, smiled on the forty-ninth anniversary of the Diagnothian society of Franklin and Marshall college in Fulton opera house last evening. The stage was chastely and beautifully decorated. Pot plants of rare varieties graced the rear, and three hand-some floral bells, surmounted by a banner with the society legend "Dum Licet, Utamur," hung from the central arch, and a perfect floral garden bloomed to the left of the centre. After music, "Fruhling shust," Geipel, by the College orchestra,

Rev. Dr. J. Y. Mitchell opened the exercises by an effective prayer. Music, "Enchantment," Hermann, followed, after which Speaker S. M. Miller introduced the Salutatorian of the evening.

Salutatory—"The Rime of the Aucient Mariner." L. A. Salade, Tamaqua, Pa.
The speaker gracefully welcomed the large audience present, paying a warm tribute to the large number of the fair who had honored the occasion by their presence. The life and character of Coleridge were briefly portrayed, after which the orator launched into a detailed description and criticism of his master piece, "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner." The effect of the reading of such a poem cannot but redound to good in the hearts of those who peruse it with the proper spirit.

Music—Waltz, "Heliotrope," Strauss.

Oration—"Individual Responsibilities in a Republic," J. H. Apple, Saegerstown, Pa. The tendency of civilization is to cast aside whatever may obstruct its onward progress. At intervals the people have arisen and thrown off the yoke of tyranny. So it has been in our country, and to day it may be said that our repub lic stands without a peer. But with in crease of privilege comes increase of responsibility. To meet this situation of affairs there must be an education of the masses. The continuity of republican institutions depends largely upon private intelligence, and yet the uneducated are not our most dangerous classes. The real sinners are the able, virtuous citizens who, engressed in their business pursuits, let the worthless hold the reins of political government. To awaken these to a sense of their real responsibility is the duty of every true citizen.

Music-Selection, "Maritans," Wal-Oration-"Sleeplessne s from Thought" -F. C. Moyer, Freeburg, Pa. To be unable to throw off the burdens of the day and lie down to pleasant dreams is a dreadful affliction. The thoughts that we carry to our couch should be those that will involuntarily change to pleasant dreams. The speaker then in choice die tion recounted the methods for winning over the slumbering goddess, laying stress on the peril that may result to the subject from the use of drugs to bring about sompolence. Sleeping and waking, while seemingly in opposition, are in reality founded the one upon the other, and both may at all times, when the subject is in good health, be controlled by the will.

Music—Selection, "Iolanthe," Bowman Eulogy-" Jeremiah Suliivan Black, Edwin Sassaman, Reading, Pa., The speaker agreed with Emerson that it is natural for the average human to reverence great men, and few are more worthy of this here worship than that intellectual giant of Pennsylvania, Jeremiah Sullivan Black. The crator then briefly reviewed the strik ing points of the career of the great jurist His courage in the cabiact during the dark days of the civil war received their due meed of attention. The yeathful orator, strangely enough, seemed to believe that Black was the instrument by which Buchanan was restrained from going over to the Southern leaders. The scene and incidents of the great lawyer's death were graphically portrayed, closing with a glowing tribute to the legal astuteness and kindly heart of the lawyer statesman. Music-Galop, "Linden," Zikoff. Oration-" Much Ado About Nothing," John Keiser, Pittsburg, Pa. That all men are born equal is a self evident truth. Man starts out with the knowledge that he is superior to all else of created nature. In proportion to the manner in which man conforms to the rules of nature and conscience, will be be truly happy. For those who possess greater talen's, greater things are expected, but alas ' death often steps in to mock all human achievements. Individuals are only happy when they are employed in work that is best suited to their ability. To find our qualifications, we must examine ourselves carefully and learn our real abilities. If this were conscientiously done, there would be fewer failures to record in the learned professions He is great who is what he is by nature ; the man does not make the profession, but the profession makes the man. Music-Redowa, "Blooming" Faust. Oration-" Social Affinities." T. M. Biser, Boonsboro, Md. The law of affin ity like a golden chain runs through the whole race of mankind. The distinctive characteristics of individuals may vary, her arms to all ranks, all classes, and her future promises results even more glori ous than those of the past.

Music—Schottische, "Electric," Resch.

Anniversarian—"The Beauty of Art." H. P. Wanner, Reading, Pa. Man is intellectually benefited by an intelligent study of the beautiful in art. It affords food for the philosopher, nourishment for the lover of aestheticism. The three links of art are architecture, sculpture and painting. In these three we notice the gradual advance of art from rude, imperfect forms to the present finished work of beauty that delight the taste and insensibly lead the mind to the contemplation of higher things. The brain and the hand work in unisen in the creation of the truly artistic, and its ennobling beauty leads unconsciously from the creature to the Creator.

Music-Waltz, "Marigold," Bowman. Rev. Thos. G. Apple brought the pleasant exercises to a close by pronouncing the benediction, after which the orchestra rendered a march, to the sweet strains of which the large audience dispersed, carry-ing gratifying recollections of the evening's entertainment.

The committee of arrangements to whom is due a large share of praise for the suc cess of the occasion were: Wm. H. Hager, chairman, W. A. Henneberger, D. H. Sensenig, C. H. Obreiter, A. S. Dechant, L. E. Coblentz and Harry Corana.

A Strauge Will,

Just as every set of resolutions are sup-posed to begin with a "whereas," every last will and testament of a husband is supposed to begin with: "I will and bequeath to my beloved wife, the constant companion of my life, etc." But a French doctor, named Vincent

Laburn, who died the other day, and whose will is now before the civil court of the department of the Seine, threw a little CUTIOURA REMEDIES. variety into this ancient and venerable formula. Here it is:

"Japuary eight, eighteen hundred and eighty two. This is my last will and testament:

"At the moment I am drawing up this will, I am able to affirm that I am sound of body, but I dare not swear that I am sound of mind. I leave to others this ridiculous pretension. I possess a capital of $70,000 francs. How many tears, how many lies, how much treason could I not purchase with that sum? I first thought of leaving these 70,000 francs to some public charity. Then I said to myself: what good? The only real benefactors of humanity are war and the cholera.

"And, besides, I have a debt of gratitude to pay to my dear wife Calestine Mclania, who lives I don't know where. She has conferred on me the greatest enjoyment that I could possibly expect from her; by walking out of the house from me one morning and never showing her nose again. In recognition of that good act, I hereby constitute her my sole egatee.

"However, I leave her this legacy on me express condition : that is, that she must marry again, as soon as the required legal delay shall have elapsed. In this way, I can be quite sure that one man at least will regret my death.
"Signed; Doctor Vincent Lebrun"
"N. B.—A man who has not to reproach himself with having ever saved the life of one of his patients. The natural heirs of Doctor Lebrun are of the opinion that the author of this document was out of his head, strange and as Madame Lebrun has been absent over twenty years they demand from her prolonged stay the nullification of the will. Who Knew Bis Own Unriness. 'No, my dear," said the vonerable keeper of a country store to a timid little girl whose head scarcely came up to the level of the counter. " No, my dear, we haven't any red flannel, but we have some first rate New Orleans monasses." Softly hinting that she didn't think that would answer the purpose quite as well, the child went her way in search of the article she wanted. "Have you BENSON'S CAPCINE PLAS-TERS ?" asked a gentleman of a certain druggist whose name could be given were it desired. "I am troubled just now with a touch of my old friend, the lumbage, and the Benson's Plaster seems to go to the apot almost as soon as it touches the skin." "Not at present," replied the drugglat. gentally, " but we have lots of plasters just as good. There is Allcock's, the Capstonin and others-won't car of them do as well ?"

" My dear sir," retorted the gentleman, with a slight show of temper, "I say nothing against those articles, but I am a business man, and always ask for precisely what I want, and for nothing else. I may enlighten you, however, when I say that sometime ago, for another disease, of which the Capeine has since cured me, I tried all those you mention. with no appreciable benefit. They are ineffi-cient, every one of them, the mesnest act of the proprietors of some of them being this : That they make plasters with stodiar sound ng names to deceive the unwary into be lieving they are the same thing. BRANDY. Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. SLAYMAKER, Agent for BRIGART'S OLD WINE STORE, by a prominent practicing physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those afflicted with Indigestion and Dyspepsia. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweeps, way their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive, we present to the lavorable notice of invalids—essent to the lavorable notice of the medy, which is nothing more or less than BRANDY.
