Young immigrant Girl. Two months ago Mary Jane Caffrey, a petite Irish girl sixteen years old and of rather attractive manners, secured employment in Trenton as a clerk at a State street variety store. She had only recently come from across the water and several times mentioned to her employer a strange incident that happened to her at Castle Garden. A young man with lots of money and fashionably dressed happened to meet her one day and took a fancy to the girl. When she was leaving New York he said he would come to Trenton for her some day and take her away. She was almost pennitess. Thursday afternoon

The Sequel of a midnight Marriage, Viola Barnett, one of the three pretty young girls who figured in the midnight marriage ceremony at the house of Rev. Mr. Gulick, near Greenwood cemetery, last winter, is plaintiff in a suit in the Brooklyn city court against her busband, Frederick Barnett. The young wife says that on December 26, about 7 o'clock in the evening, Freddie called at her house and asked her to take a walk. She consented, and they went toward the cemetery. Freddie asked her to marry him and she declined. He then resorted to threats, telling her that he would inform her friends that she had been intimate with him. She again refused him, and he declared that if she would not marry him that night he would first ktil her and then himself. Viola says that young Freddie frightened her with his furious gestures and dire threats and she consented to the proposition. After the ceremony was over she says that she returned to her mother's house In her complaint she denies that she had been intimate with Freddie, and asks that the marriage be declared yold, Unarged with Billing her Ho band A warrant has been issued for the arres of Carrie Best, the boautiful young wife of Stewart Best, of Nicholasville, Ky., charged with poisoning her husband. It was issued at the instance of D. K. Best, the father in law. She appeared in court to give herself up, as the warrant had not been executed upon her by the sheriff. The attorneys agreed to put off the examination until Wednesday morning. The girl seems to be unconscious of the grave charge upon which she is called to answer. She was surrounded by lady friends and relatives. She was dressed in deep mourning. She has a shy gentle face with a rosy tinted complexion. She is rather small, easy and graceful in movement and is but 19 years of age. It is charged that she married her husband for his money and then administered poison to get rid of him. She gave bail and was released. Married After Three Days' Acquaintance.

Thursday afternoon a carriage was driven up to the State street store and a young man showed his face at the window. The shop girl dropped her seissors and apron and soon was seated in the carriage. The couple drove to a clergyman's were married and then returned to the Trenton house for tea. They left for New York Friday morning. The girl did not stop to get the balance of her week's pay from the storekeeper. The young man is said to be a lawyer in New York City.

Wilmington some years since and set up an artist's studio. He painted pictures of some merit, prepared engravers' blocks and gave out lessons, thus making a comfortable living and winning friends. Becoming interested in Mexican affairs and being a glib talker, he induced several of his acquain tances, among them Jerome B. Bell, editor of the Wilmington Sunday Star: Jesse K. Baylis, manager of the Wilmington opera house, and Dr. Jacob F. Frantz, a fellow Pennsylvania, practicing medicine in Wilmington, to subscribe $10,000 to the United States and Mexican syndicate, a company formed to work mines in

Shortly afterwards Herr removed to Philadelphia and in his capacity as secretary and treasurer of the syndicate set up an office. A prospector was sent to examine the syndicate mines and for a time Herr furnished the steekholders with roseate reports. Soon afterward the Wilmington stockholders sent one of their number, J. J. Pierce, to investigate the mines. He returned from Mexico with the prospector and reported that the secretary was deceiving the stockholders. A meeting was held in Herr's office and he still insisted that all was going well, but when the charge was made that only $3,000 out of the $10,000 subscribe! had been sent to Mexico, the secretary confessed that some of the money had been misapplied. He said he had been squeezed and consented to give up several thousand dollars on the paper of the stockholders. A day or two since, however, Herr had Dr. Frantz arrested in Wilmington on a civil suit, alleging that Frantz, with others of the syndicate's stockholders, had by threats and intimidation secured from the secretary $4,000 in notes and cash, this being the amount that Herr had dis-gorged when the stockholders met at his office. Herr includes in the suit Jerome B. Bell, Jesse K. Baylis, Clinton Rice, C. H. Labdell, Edgar H. Cook and J. J. Price. He says that he will have them arrested the very first time he catches them in Philadelphia. The bewildered stockholders, meanwhile, profess them-selves ready to answer any charge he has
