THE TOBACCO MARKET.

QUIET CONDITION OF LOCAL TRADE.

Nothing Noteworthy Occurring—Packing Going on at the Warehouses—Trade in New York and Philadelphia.

There is nothing special to note in our local market. The crop of 1883 has been bought up very closely, and buyers have about closed out their purchases, the plantings that are yet unsold being too widely scattered to warrant the expense incurred in hunting them up. The inferior quality of goods and the high price at which they are held are also obstacles in the path of the buyer. Consequently very little new tobacco was bought last week. Large quantities previously purchased continue to be received at the warehouses, and at most of them packing goes on with almost the same activity that has been noticed during the earlier part of the season. A few packers have nearly finished, but those who bought largely will not get through for two or three weeks to come.

In old tobacco only a few small sales are reported, and packers have been so busy with the new crop that they show but little anxiety to sell the old until they are more at leisure. Prices for both '81 and '82 remain firm.

During the past week a number of farmers commenced setting out their plants for the '84 crop, and during the coming week many more will do so. There is still some complaint heard that the plants are small, and that the weather is too cold to push the planting. It will be two weeks yet before the planting will be fairly under way.

From present appearances the acreage in this county will be fully as large the coming season as last year, if not larger, and a vastly greater proportion of the crop will be of the Havana seed variety, notwithstanding the unfavorable reports from many sections of the county that the young plants of this variety do not compare well with those of the native varieties, and that in some cases the seed did not germinate at all. The trouble was owing probably to the fact that the great demand for this variety of seed exhausted the supply and induced unscrupulous dealers to sell the farmers a seed of inferior quality.

The New York Market.

Western Leaf—Trade has been dull the past week and without feature deserving comment.

Virginia Leaf—But little doing in Virginia leaf the past week. A few fine dark wrappers, from 12 to 15c, comprised the bulk of the sales. Manufacturers do not seem willing to buy liberally at present.

Seed Leaf—The inquiry for seed leaf has been moderate, but transactions embraced the growths of nearly all sections, state leaf coming in for a fair share of attention.

Spanish—Havana fillers have been sold to the extent of 400 bales, at from 80c to $1.15.

Sumatra—Sales foot up 250 bales at $1.45 to $1.90. Market quiet.

Plug—An observer says: I have to report only a very moderate business the past week, and there seems no prospect of improvement for some time. Business generally is dull, not only in tobacco, and the events of the past ten days have not helped matters at all. It seems to be the general impression now that if the tax was removed we would be enabled to improve our trade, and it is time the jobber and middleman had a chance. For export the orders seem to have been coming in more freely. The exports were 113,439 pounds.

Smoking—An average demand is reported by dealers.

Cigars—Steady inquiry, but not an appreciably active one is reported by both manufacturers and importers.

Crops' Weekly Report

Following are the sales of seed leaf tobacco reported for the INTELLIGENCER by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., tobacco brokers, No. 131 Water street, New York, for the week ending May 26, 1884:

500 cases 1883 New York State Havana, p. t.; 350 cases 1883 New England, 11@30½; 100 1882 Wisconsin Havana, Seed 21; 250 cases 1881-'82 Pennsylvania, 6@12½; 100 cases sundries, 4½@18c. Total, 1,300 cases.

The New York Tobacco Journal has reviews of about 150 cities and towns in the United States in which cigars are largely manufactured, and in nearly all of them trade is reported "dull."

Vigorous efforts continue to be made by tobacco growers and dealers to induce Congress to repeal the internal revenue taxes on tobacco and cigars, but it is believed nothing will be done in that direction during the present session of Congress.

Philadelphia Market.

The handlers of manufactured tobacco admit that the trade the past week has been quiet, but not as dull as anticipated, when the disturbed monetary condition of the centre mercantile city of the country is acknowledged. What is still more encouraging is the fact of manufacturers being able to sustain prices, with the exception of low grade 6 and 12 inch twist, which are scarce and advanced in figures, especially if bright in color. Stock in store is not heavy.

Smoking tobacco moves as usual on orders, with sales largely confined to low grades. New brands of granulated Virginia manufacture are being offered on the market, which have both the appearance and quality of meeting with favor.

Cigars—Reliable manufacturers are still fully employed and daily receive encouragement from their customers.

Snuff—Orders flow in while snuff moves out steadily.

Receipts for the week—781 hhds, 3,798 caddies, 5,102 cases and 117 pails of fine cut.

Exported of manufactured tobacco—To Hiogo, per ship Lord Wolseley, 385 lbs; to Liverpool, per str Pennsylvania, 20,106; total, 20,491 lbs.

Seed Leaf—A week of inactivity for sales of cigar leaf prevailed in this market except for the '83 crop, which changed hands in lots of from 100 to 500 cases, principally Wisconsin Havana, Little Dutch and Connecticut seconds, all at advanced figures. A few small lots of '81 and '82 Pennsylvania, including some '82 Connecticut and Ohio, found a market where it will be consumed. Prices at present favor holders.

Sumatra steadily arrives, and finds an appreciating market.

Havana moves out of bond in increased order.

Tobacco Production of America.

A report issued by the commissioners of agriculture places the entire production of tobacco in the United States during the year of 1883 at 513,077,558 pounds, and the acreage at 671,792. The value is placed at $43,189,651, but this fails to represent the full market value of the crop, which was closer to $60,000,000. From this report we learn that twenty six states produced tobacco in 1882, although Louisiana is not credited with anything, while in fact she produces more than a number of states enumerated. The seed leaf producing states are credited with close to 75,000,000 pounds, Pennsylvania leading with 31,000,000 pounds, and Wisconsin following with 10,000,000 pounds, Connecticut and New York with nearly the same amount, and Massachusetts with a little over 4,000,000 pounds, Kentucky is credited with 89,296,000 pounds, Virginia with 33,000,000 pounds, Tennessee 31,000,000 pounds, and Maryland 28,000,000 pounds.

EARLY FRUIT AND VEGETABLES.

Strawberries and Asparagus in Great Quantities and at low Prices.

N. Y. Times.

The supply of strawberries this week will be fully equal to any demand for them at upward of 10 cents per quart for berries of fair quality. There will be a large supply of them from Norfolk, unless the prices go so low as to make the shipment of them from there unprofitable. There is an unusually large crop now ripening in Maryland and lower Delaware, and there will probably be as many shipped from the peninsula this week as next, and the greater portion of the strawberries will be gathered on the peninsula within the next 10 or 12 days. The receipts from there will be very large. The train which conveys the fruit to New York from the lower peninsula, whence most of the berries will come, leaves so early in the day that growers will not have an opportunity to pick all that are ripe before train time, and in that part of world Sunday picking is not yet tolerated. But all that can be picked before the train leaves will be gathered, and consequently the quantity of berries that will come on Wednesday will be very much in excess of supply. The weather has been unusually favorable for the proper ripening of the fruit and there should be as many really nice berries here as ever before came to the market from the peninsula. And although fruits and vegetables seem to be selling more rapidly than usual when the supply has been so great, there is little doubt that really good strawberries will be retailed by the middle of the week for from 8 to 10 cents per quart. There will be a few lower Jersey strawberries here this week.

There is a fair cherry crop everywhere, consequently there is little chance of there being any scarcity of that fruit until July. They were here last week from Virginia and North Carolina, and there will doubtless be a good many here towards the last of the week from Baltimore. The early apple crop bids fair to be a great one, but not for a month or more will any of value reach here from the South, unless a very few may be sent here from the mountains of Georgia.

Southern vegetables are very abundant, and will continue to be so until driven from the market by vegetables grown in the vicinity of New York. Peas, which have been unusually scarce and high, came in such abundance from the York river peninsula and from Eastern Virginia last week as to become almost a drug in the market. Maryland peas will be here this week, and there is no probability of any further scarcity and the low prices of last week will still be the rule. The supply of asparagus is very great, but so great is the popularity of this vegetable it seems as if the increase in its cultivation, although extraordinary, does not keep pace with the demand for it. There is probably twice as many acres devoted to the cultivation of this vegetable on Long Island as there were 10 years ago, and then there were only some few small "patches" cultivated in New Jersey. Now the number of acres devoted to the cultivation of asparagus in Monmouth county alone is far greater than on Long Island, and hundreds of acres of new beds are yearly added to the list, and still there seems scarcely enough to supply a demand for it at $1.50 per dozen for ordinary asparagus up to as high as $4 per dozen. On Saturday last between 38,000 and 40,000 bunches of asparagus were sold in that market at prices that will average on the total amounts fully $1.75 per dozen bunches. There is little doubt, however, that the supply this week will be as large as at any other time during the season, and prices as low.

Advertising Cheats!!

"It has become so common to write the beginning of an article, in an elegant interesting manner.

"Then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such.

"And simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible.

"To induce people

"To give them one trial, which so proves their value that they will never use anything else."

"THE REMEDY so favorably noticed in all the papers,
