AT CHICAGO.

THE FIRST DEFEAT FOR BLAINE. Clayton Defeated for Temporary Chairman by a Vote of 431 to 387-John K. Lynch.

The surprise created at Chicago on Monday by the national committee's selection of Powell Clayton for temporary chairman of the convention was rather eclipsed by the rejection of that selection by the convention.

For a time then it looked as if the chance of making a hopeful opposition to Clayton was gone. An hour or so after midnight, however, Henry C. Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, got hold of John H. Lynch, the colored ex-congressman from Mississippi, and insisted that he should accept the candidacy against Clayton.

It was not until after midnight that the plan was formed and set about aiding it. When Chairman Sabin called the convention to order he had been offered, he nominated Clayton, Lodge, of Massachusetts, nominated Lynch, a California delegate made a plea for harmony and for not disturbing the choice of the national committee.

Mr. Stewart, of Pennsylvania, sustained the action of the committee in the selection of Clayton in an eloquent appeal, which was met by a most brilliant and timely reply by Lynch.

At an analysis of the vote for temporary chairman is as follows:

State	Lynch	Clayton
Alabama	27	11
Arkansas	23	11
California	16	10
Colorado	9	6
Delaware	5	1
Florida	7	1
Georgia	25	11
Illinois	28	23
Indiana	19	21
Iowa	20	24
Kansas	3	17
Michigan	13	3
Mississippi	12	1
Minnesota	25	1
Montana	17	1
Nebraska	17	1
Nevada	9	6
New Jersey	6	12
New York	431	387

The Chairman's speech. "Gentlemen of the convention I feel that I ought not to say that I thank you for the distinguished honor that you have conferred upon me, for I do not. Nevertheless, from the standpoint that no patriot should fail to respond to his country's call and that no loyal member of his party should fail to comply with the demand of his party, I yield with reluctance to your decision and assume the duties of the position to which you have assigned me.

Every member of this convention who approached me on this subject within the last few hours knows that this position was neither expected nor desired by me. If, therefore, there is any such thing as a man having honors thrust upon him, you have an exemplification of it in this situation. [Laughter and applause.] I came to this convention not for the purpose of securing the defeat of any man, but for the purpose of success of any man, but for the purpose of contributing to the extent of my vote and my influence to make Republican success in November next an assured fact. [Cheers]

I hope and believe that the assembled wisdom of the Republican party of the nation, through its chosen representatives in this hall, will so shape its platform and will present such candidates before the American people as will make that victory beyond a shadow of a doubt. No far as the candidates for the presidential nomination are concerned, I do not wish any gentleman to feel that my election (by your vote) is indicative of anything relative to the preference of one candidate over another. I am prepared, and I hope that every member of this convention is prepared, to return to his home with an unimpaired reputation to give to the candidates of this convention a loyal and hearty support, whoever they may be. [Cheers]

I am satisfied in my own mind that when we go before the people of this country our action will be ratified, because the great heart of the American people will never consent to have a political party gain the ascendancy in this government whose chief reliance is upon a fraudulent ballot and on violence at the polls. [Applause] I am satisfied that the people of this country are too loyal ever to allow a man to be inaugurated as president, whose title to the position is brought forth in fraud. I am satisfied that the American people will ratify our action, because they will never consent to have a revenue system for the government other than one that will not only raise the necessary revenue for its support, but will also be sufficient to protect every American citizen in his business.

[Cheers.] Gentlemen, not for myself, but perhaps in obedience to custom, I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me.

A few formal resolutions were passed and the convention adjourned until 11 a. m. Wednesday. The Blaine Men's Financier. Col. McClure's Dispatch.

The oratory and the enthusiasm were all with Blaine. There were no special cheering speeches for Lynch and the cheering was feeble and chilling when following the Clayton buzzes.

When it came down to the sober vote the little scribe of the South started ahead and stubbornly kept ahead through two long hours, and ended the score with Lynch in 359 for Clayton. Then for the first time did the anti-Blaine men let loose their lungs and they made things bowl.

It was first blood for the field against Blaine, with part of the field divided against itself, and was a terrible blow to the Blaine leaders. They blundered again, as Blaine's leaders seem ever fated to blunder. They affronted every decent hesitating delegate by presenting Clayton with his perfidy, a stenoh in the nostrils of all, and they doubly blundered in permitting a general battle on a practical issue.

They accepted Hoar, who was half inclined to Blaine, they would have tempered the New England hostility to Blaine and avoided a decisive battle until they had gathered every available man into their ranks. Now they have concentrated the Arthur, Edmunds and Sherman forces, lost an important battle and to night instead of holding and swelling their prestige and rushing the Blaine boom, they are on the defensive, with the fact patent to all that Blaine had become a formidable candidate.

Another important point was gained by the anti-Blaine men in their successful fight for delay. They protracted the debate solely to prevent the convention from reaching a ballot next day and they practically exhausted the day in the election of a temporary chairman. They can now delay a ballot until Thursday and that does not promise well for Blaine. It was delay and bad leadership that doomed him in 1876 and 1880 and it looks as if the same causes were to produce the same result.
