WEDNESDAY MVENING, JUNE 4, 1884 The County Convention.

The Democratic county convention which met and did its work to day, was very excellent body of earnest men who hed their business in an orderly, natic way, so that the result can be cheerfully and consistently acquiseed in even by those who would have from defeat. had it otherwise. The convention was especially careful to select such a ticket, en for the offices to which the Democracy have little hope of electing, as would do credit to them were the relation of the parties here different from what it is. In Paris Haldeman, for instance, the party would have a Congressman of whom it might be proud; and who would be a fit representative of this great county and its varied interests. What a vivid contrast D. G. Eshleman would be on the bench to the indges the Republican party has given us! And if there was virtue in the political majority of the lower senatorial district Dr. John Martin would make it impossible for Amos H. Mylin to get back to the Senate. The nominees for assembly and other places on the ticket were in like manner selected with regard to the dignity of the offices and the chine. qualifications of fit incumbents for

The chief interest and excitement centered in the contest for county commissioner, the nomination to which is equivalent to an election. The conven tion had a choice between good men. and could not well have gone wrong. Mr. Hartman was a leading can didate three years ago; he had a large and devoted personal following, honesty and genial personal qualities : he is a representative of and was enthument, which constitutes so large a portion of the citizenship of this county. rascals out ! especially in the towns, and which contributes so largely to the strength of the Democracy. Mr. Schroeder, the nominee for auditor, is a young man of large clerical experience and ability, who will bring to the place conscientious zeal and an earnestness tor the proper discharge of its duties. The nominees for both these offices, the importance of which under the new salary bill is greatly enhanced, will have the support of a united party in their determination to check extravagance. misrule and favoritism in county affairs. They can well afford to stand up manfully against these, and if no one of their Republican colleagues will cooperate with them they can at least earn the reward and have the satisfaction of duty done.

But Mr. Ward was guilty of refined thievery and his offence is not therefore classed as a felony, as would be the stealing of a horse, though the latter species of wrong-doing is to the former as water is to wine.

Mr. Ward, instead of languishing behind prison bars for an offense against the commonwealth, is restrained in fail simply under a civil process. The sheriff of New York is responsible for his safe keeping, and he may, if he sees fit, let his prisoner go abroad without let or hindrance. It is an admitted fact that Ward has gone forth from time to time since his incarceration attended by a deputy. Thus is an opportunity given to him to see his friends and agree upon a story that shall help to cover his short comings when the civil suit is tried. It is unquestionably wrong that this state of affairs should exist. The man who has been guilty of such wholesale swind ling as this dapper New York geutleman should be made to pay the cost of his whistle. According to his own admis sions, he has obtained money and property from people under false representa tions, and he should be in the Tombs on a felonious charge instead of driving around New York with the object in view of straightening out his crooked record if such a thing is possible.

The law that makes this distinction favoring rich thieves is radically wrong. The man that steals millions should be placed at least on a level with the pickpocket who steals a wallet with an insignificant sum. Ward's perfidy has robbed hundreds where the pick pocket robs but one. It is time to blet out the distinction between rich and poor thieves.

A Deserved Defeat.

Mr. Blaine's canvass received a severe backset yesterday, which was well merited. His managers, John Stewart included, must feel a little cheap. They showed a disposition to avail themselves of the most disreputable agencies in order to win. In men of their charac ter this, in itself, does not rouse any sense of shame, but to be beaten at it covers them with discomfiture. It was a shrewd move of the shrewder leaders on the other side to take a negro of fair stand ing, against the corrupt and mildewed scalawag and carpet bagger selected by the Blaine managers. By this means they got the floating Southern vote, which might otherwise have been secured for Clayton.

In the first skirmish Blaine was beaten. The field proved itself strong enough to do this, even with Logan's forces helping Blaine, It does not follow that the combinations formed will continue to the end of the convention, but it is very certain that Blaine has got a black eye and he has now little more chance than Authur. The situation is simplified to day by Gen. Sherman's peremptory refusal to allow the use of his name, which was convention and which if agreed upon would have headed a formidable ticket. He may have taken himself out of the fight by reason of his consideration for his brother John, or he may really be averse to the duties of civil office; he is certainly not fit for them and he shows his wisdom in declining them in ad vance. Almost any result is yet possible at Chicago.

IT looks ruinous for the grand old party when a resolution binding the delegates at Chicago to support the nominee has to be withdrawn to save it

Found with Her Throat Cut.

A mysterious affair was brought to light in Detroit Tuesday morning. Schutz, a married woman, was found in Tinewood avenue, just outside the western limits of the city, with her throat cut and insensible. Appearances at her home indicate that she had been attacked in her bed, her sleeping baby being covered with blood, and that she was carried thence and left in a vacant lot to die. It may however, be a case of attempted suicide. She is still slive, but in no condition to give any account of the transaction. Her husband was arrested on suspicion, but was subsequently released.

Treaton (N. J.) Gazette, June 3. Sam Stafford waxed very angry yesterday upon being informed that a newspaper had attacked his historic integrity of his Paul Jones tlag. He denied with great vehemence that his sister had purchased the relic for $2 50 in a Philadelphia junk shop, and that it had been painted by an amateur artist in this city. He contended that it was an honest heirloom, and that all the great men of this country and England believed in it. They had all seen or heard tell of the flag, and he had been offered thousands of dollars for it. All the money in the world could not induce him to part with it, and the assertion that he is looking for a purchaser for his curiosity is therefore also untrue. Mr. Stafford said he would go at once and make affida. | tion. wit that the flag was genuine. He expected it to be his shroud one day, and ne would not be wrapped in a bogus rollio.

There he stopped, and the canon proved by exhibiting the paper that he had fully accomplished his

The names associated with the movement will give it character. and we would not be surprised at its success. There is a growing sentiment in favor of the incineration of dead bodies, and this is supported by many cogent arguments. The example set by the late Prof. S. D. Gross, and the reasons he assigned for it, are having great weight with people, who formerly looked upon anything but a burial of their remains, with abhorrence. One great drawback to any such change in the disposal of the human body after death, lies in the fact that the burial of the body has always been regarded as Christian, while burning has been associated with pagan rites. This feeling must not be thought strange. It is hard to change a practice that has had so many holy associations connected with it, and it is well that it is so. But some have gone so far as to think the resurrection would be effected by it. We remember one good old lady, now gone to rest, who thought looked through some mistake. H. P. HARTMAN FOR COMMISSIONER

The Selections for the Sounty Offices-A Large and spirited Convention-The Proceedings in Detail.

The district and county conventions of the Democratic party met this morning have prepared declining a Democratic in the third story room of Kepler's postoffice building to nominate a full county ticket. There was a full attendance and many spectators present. The chief interest centered in the contest for county | Mace. commissioner. Following are the proceednes in detail.

Tried Representative District. W. Haves Grier called the convention to rder at 10 o'clock and the delegates preented their credentials. Horace Haldeman, of Lincoln's school house, was nominated for chairman, and elected by acclamation. The secretaries W. H. Dietrich, of Rohrerstown, and Charles F. foung, of Columbia, were then named. W. Haves Grier then nominated for the ssembly from the Third representative district, S. H. Detweiler, of Columbia; Col. James Duffy, of Marietta, and acob Leber, of Ephrata, was named, but withdrawn. The three first named were then nominated. The chair then appointed John &. Lover, Mountville, J. W. were unanimously named as Democratic the Joint Convention. At 10:25 o'clock the two district bodies net in joint convention. W U. Heusel. sq., chairman of the Democratic county munittee called the convention to order. Mr. Hensel was unanimously named as permanent chairman of the convention. He returned thanks in a brief speech, in which he alluded to the fact that it was the first time he had ever been chosen to preside over a convention of the Democrats of the county. He spoke of the import ance of the offices to be tilled, and the duty to select good men for them.

The call for the convention was then ead, after which David F. Magee, of Little Britain, and W. Hayes Grier, of Columbia, were unanimously named as permanent secretaries.

W. Hayes Grier suggested that in order o facilitate business a committee of five of selected to name all the candidates for county officers, except those of commissioner and auditor. C. J. Rhoads and others objected, and the suggestion was iropped. Delegate Hastings moved to proceed to the nomination of candidates for county offices in the order in which they occurred in the call. The motion was carried. Grier moved that the convention remain in session until all business was transacted; also carried.

Nominations for additional law judge were then made. They were: B. F. Davis, Hiram B. Swarr, D. W. Patterson, H. M. North and D. G. Eshleman, esus The first four were withdrawn and D. G. Eshleman was nominated by acclama-

f Elizabeth, was named by acclamation. For register, Pierce Lesher, E. Cocalico ecliped and E. C. Diller, of New Holland was unanimously named. For county treasurer, John S. Mann, of Manor, declined and Robert Montgom ry, of Eden, was named by acclamation.

For clerk of quarter sessions, Henry S Rutter, of Leacock, was unanimously named.

For clerk of orphan's court, Samuel K. Hostetter, of Manheim, was named acclamation.

For prison keeper, George W. Styer, and ward city, was unanimously named. For prison inspectors, Henry B. Buch Warwick, and Washington Whitaker, of Fulton, were unanimously named. For poor directors, George Darmstetter, ith ward city, and Bernard Snyder, 8th ward city, were named by acclamation. Davis Kitch was unanimously chosen is the party candidate for coroner. W. Hayes Grier moved to make the ection of commissioner by viva voce vote.

Hastings moved to amend by making it by secret ballot. On a call for division it was seen that the advocates of a second ballot had carried the day by a vote of 41 to 32

B. F. Davis moved that the name of the district be put on the outside of the ballot cast by each district. Carried. Nominations for county commissione being next in order Joel L. Lightner nominated Henry F. Hartman, of E. Lampeter. Horace Haldeman then nominated in a omplimentary speech John D. Harrar, of Sadsbury ; George S. Boone, of Sadsbury and Eli Batton were also named. W. F McSparran, of Drumore, nominated Bordley S. Patterson, of Little Britain ; but before he was allowed to make the nomination, the convention decided that as there were three ties in Drumore township, each including Mr. McSparran, were entitled to one-third of a vote.

Before the first ballot was taken Eli Batton, of Sadsbury, arose and withdrew his name as a candidate for county commissioner, saying as he did so, that he believed the office belonged to the Southern district and he would not interfere with them. The announcement evoked much applause.

Before the call of districts was finished t was agreed that where there had been a tie in the election of delegates each one of the ties should cast a proportionate share of the vote. Horace L. Haldeman, J. Charles Beam, W. F. McSparran and C. F. Young were ounced as follows : Geo. S. Boone..... John D. Harrar..... 194 H. F. Hartman..... 37 B. S. Patterson...... 10 As Hartman passed the winning post his name was greeted with cheers and

Robert A. Scott of Little Britain shot a fine large American gray eagle in his woods on the 27th ult. Mr. Scott was at work in his field when he heard a great noise in the woods and looking for the cause discovered a lot of crows flying after and making a great fuss over a large bird. He procured his gun and shot it, breaking one of its wings. The bird came to the ground and on Mr. Scott's approach it flew at him in a flerce manner and showed fight. He then fired again and shot it through the head. It proved to be a large eagle, measuring six feet seven inches across its extended wings. It nad a large head, sharp curved beak and long talons as sharp as needles. It was a noble looking bird. Mr. Scott brought it to our office on Wednesday and sent it to a taxadermist at West Chester to have it prepared for preservation. An eagle has ately been seen flying around the lower townships of Lancaster and Chester counties and this is supposed to be the same

The belled buzzard has been spending a few days along the Octoraro near Andrews Bridge. It rang its bell quite lively at the farm of John Davis and other places last week and afforded considerable interest and amusement to the young people as well as the old. This buzzard seems to lead a charmed life and it is hoped no one will attempt to destroy it.
