

Lancaster Intelligencer.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JUNE 25, 1884.

In Their Own States. Mr. John Kelly is reported as declaring that Blaine could carry New York against Cleveland, and Mr. Dana says something to a like effect in the Sun.

Mr. Dana's judgment is not so good as Mr. Kelly's, and the bias of his strong prejudices may sincerely lead him to the conviction that Cleveland would be a weak candidate in New York; but until he can show good cause for his opinion it will continue to be the general judgment that a candidate who is strong in the country will be strong in New York also.

Hamelin's Epher. The mastery of music over nature is a legend old as Orpheus. It appears and reappears in the traditions of every people and the literature of every tongue.

The dwarf Ghouf, of the Chinese tale, who cleared Ishpan of its tormenting vermin, and when refused his promised reward, sent his old black mother, fifty feet high, who stood with whip in the market place, strangled the townsman and enticed them to her magic tower.

There is danger that John Alexander Logan may lose the sole remaining identity attaching to him as the unflinching enemy of the grammatical methods of Lindley Murray.

A Whisking Court has issued a rule against the proprietors and publishers of the Intelligencer, commanding them to appear on the 25th day of June to show cause why they should not be attached for contempt.

The Republican party represents the latest fractions of governmental progress, and is destined to survive upon the theory that the strong outlives the weak, until the development of principles still more advanced shall compel it to measure its step with the march of the age.

Again before the footlights we see one John A. Logan as a rabid "nigger hater," who in a public speech in the House, Dec. 9, 1859, alluded to John Brown as a "traitor, thief and scoundrel." How can this John be reconciled with the John of 1854, talking of the preservation of the political rights of the humblest citizen, "whatever his color"?

The business men and banks of the country who took trade dollars in at par, in good faith, and have lost nearly a year's interest on them, with no prospect of their redemption, will do well to remember where the responsibility for the failure to redeem them rests.

Mr. B. F. Jones, of Pittsburg, is proposed for chairman of the Republican national committee. He is without experience in politics, but he is rich, has a knowledge of business and is "an original Blaine man."

It may be the hand of Esau Jones, but the voice will be the voice of Jacob Elkins, alias "Steve."

COLLEGE professors and doctors of divinity may desert Blaine and repudiate Logan; but Denis Kearney says: "If I had 1,000,000 votes Blaine should have every one of them."

C. E. REED, of Mount Joy, has written a lyrical "plea for unity" in the grand old party. This is a sample stanza:

THE NEW YORK Sun recognizes the forcible reasons, furnished by an illustrious and upright public career for Mr. Randall's nomination, and declares that if it were possible to convince the Chicago convention that Mr. Randall could really carry Pennsylvania against Mr. Blaine, his nomination would not be so difficult to bring about as it may now appear.

THESE EVENING BELLS. How many have heard their music bells of youth and home, and that sweet time when last I heard their soothing chime?

A Whisking Court has issued a rule against the proprietors and publishers of the Intelligencer, commanding them to appear on the 25th day of June to show cause why they should not be attached for contempt.

Mrs. SINGER, who died in New York, the other day, was the first wife of the late Isaac Singer, inventor of the Singer sewing machine. He died leaving $14,000,000, but Mrs. Singer's name was not mentioned in his will.

READY FOR FLOOD.

A MODERN NOAH BUILDS HIS ARK.

Constructing a Schooner Among the Mountains of Vermont. Notion of a Vermont Lumberman.

At the foot of the high mountain called Tom Ball, in the northeast of Alford, Vt., has resided for 15 years Aaron Arnold and his wife, a respectable worthy couple, possessed of some little property.

The amount of work concentrated here is a great deal more than could be done by the hands of the men and boys on the place. The water supply averages fifty millions gallons daily.

Mr. Blaine is the most unpopular woman of distinction in Washington. I have heard that once when she was the prime minister's wife, she said to a friend: "I do wonder what all these people come to see for?"

The commencement season has called on the regulation of criticism upon the part of any citizen in ability and degree upon men who do not merit them.

For chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation to Chicago, I hear mention the names of W. F. Harry, W. A. Wallace, Ely D. Cook and Madison Hay.

Little Sam Randall—son of his father—has a head of his own. I asked him the other day who was his first choice for president and he promptly said: "Tilden."

AT THE BOTTOM OF A WELL. A young man's terrible struggle with death 50 feet under ground.

HERE AND THERE.

The Blaine men were greatly tickled over Wayne MacVeagh's anti-Arthur letter.

The capitol building of Washington in moonlight is a perfect dream of architecture. In the early morning, when the birds are singing through the eaves and the scene and associations are delightful.

I met Paris Haldeman, of Chickies, on the train the other day. He has but recently returned from a brief annual visit to London, and supposed me very much to his liking.

FIRE IN SADSBUURY.

DAVID WEBSTER'S BIG BARN BURNED.

A Horse-Tower, Hay Wagon, Harness, Hay-Corn and Oats Combined—The Work of an Incendiary.

The incendiary torch has again been applied with success in Sadsbury township, the perpetrator of the cowardly act making good his escape. Last night about half past eight o'clock the large barn on the farm of Daniel Webster, situated on the road leading from Smyrna to Christiansa, and about two miles south of the Gap, was discovered to be enveloped in flames by a mysterious cause.

The barn, a fine substantial structure, with dimensions of 66 feet by 60 feet, and a large wagonshed, together with their contents, consisting of a horse power, hay wagon, harness, hay, corn and oats were quickly consumed.

It was a fortunate circumstance that the wind was not in the north at the time. It being nothing but a horse power, hay wagon, creamery and other buildings in close proximity to the barn, from the flames. The work of rebuilding will be commenced as soon as the debris is cleared away.

PERSONAL. S. R. PEARL is recommended by the Clinton county Democrats for Congress and C. H. NILES for Warren.

REYNOLDS has been elected president of the Philadelphia, Reading and Pottsville telegraph company.

MR. C. W. WOLFE, mother of Henry S. Wolfe, is lying in a critical condition, having been stricken with paralysis.

MR. JAMES B. CLARK, of Westmoreland county, has accepted the pastoring of the Baptist church in New London, Chester county.

MR. JOHN L. BAIN, of Blairtown, N. J., has announced his gift to Lafayette college of $15,000 for the purchase of a commodious residence for the new president, Dr. Knox.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

The Active Interest the Ironsides and the Littlestowns in the Season.

The Ironsides played another splendid game yesterday, when they began their second series of games with the Active of Reading. About 300 people witnessed the contest, which certainly was brilliant throughout.
