Beautifiers, externally, which have cured me and left my skin and blood as pure as a child's.

ALMOST INCREDIBLE.

ALMOST INCREDIBLE.

JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custour House, New Orleans, on oath, says: In 1870 Scrotulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times I could not fit my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1840 i heard of the CUTIONEA REMEDIES, used them and was perfectly cured.

IN EUROPE.

WHAT OR. BOMBERGER BAS SEEN.

An Eventful Experience in Brief-Taking Many Points of Interest in a Few Days-A View of the Helfast Conneil. Among the persons well-known in this city, who are visiting Europe this year and making an extended tour, after having attended the Pan Presbyterian alliance, in Belfast, is Rev. Dr. J. H. A. Bomberger, D. D., from one of whose private letters to his sister, we are permitted to make the following extract.

Paris, July 10, 1884.—Since my card from London I have been (1) through that yast city as fully as was possible in seven days; (2) to Edinburgh, taking in, hastily of course, its various leading points of natural grandeur, and deep, historic, tragic interest (stood in the casement window of John Knox's house, from which he preached to the crowd, which by thousands used to throng the ascending street below ), &c , &c., including the castle, perched like an eagle's nest upon a rocky precipice, overhanging the city; (3) Glasgow, on a carousing Saturday afternoon, when I saw more of what seemed whole or half drunk women, some genteel looking in other respects, than it seems to me I ever saw before, putting all together-but there also witnessed a Sabbath so quiet as to amaze me; (4) Belfast, and the alliance council, including a trip, on Saturday, June 28, to the Giant's Causeway, about 60 miles north, and its natural wonders; and now (5) have been four days in this glittering metropolis.

That the things seen, and thought, and feit, in all this whirl, should have so crammed and dazed my head as to bewilder me, and make it somewhat like a huge Saratoga trunk, tossed about until its contents were a huddled mass of confusion, which it will take considerably longer to arrange than to pack in, you may well imagine. That arranging work must be postponed for the present. But so far my trip has been far more pleasant than I at all anticipated, and I trust it may prove lastingly valuable to me in its results. Two or three impressions, at least, are likely to be permanent: (1) That old countries and their great cities-like many old, and mighty and rich people-do not get better by age ; (2) that besides many things to amaze one, there are also many which yield lessons of solemu admonition; and (3) that rightly to profit by such a trip, far more is needed than eyes and opera glasses.

Just to touch upon the last place seen the heart of Paris). Yesterday afternoon was given to a couple of hours' visit to it. The grounds are laid out with exquisite taste-terraces, shaded straight and wind ing promenades and drives, fountains and artificial lakes, flowers—all fixed up at immense expense and kept in perfect order; but the palace, which first arrests the visitor's notice, Napoleon I's favorite residence, where he was crowned, is all in utter ruins since the bombardment by the Prussians in 1870. And from in front of its ghastly ruins, the stranger looks out over Paris, and six miles off sees the gilded dome of Napoleon's tomb glittering in the sunshine. This only as a specimen of the contrasts one is constantly seeing. Sie transit, gloria mundi ! ( I will put in this letter an ivy leaf plucked just outside the ruins).

But now take a leap backwards, In Edinburgh I met Dr. Bausman and wife, Dr. Apple and Mr. Hensel, and the others whom I knew well, so that it began to seem somewhat homelike. They con-tirmed what Mr. Good had told me in London, about their dreadful alarm near Queenstown, on the way over. To appreciate their situation, one must have been in one of those fogs at sea. Old captains fear them more than storms. The meeting at Belfast was largely attended (some 350 delegates) and deeply interesting. But they kept such long daily sessions that it became very wear. some, and left no time for rest or writing. The farewell address by Dr. Cairns, of Edinburgh, was marvellously appropriate and grand. He is a large, tall, (6 feet 2 or 3 inches) brawny Scotchman,-and as he never studied elecution, he reminded me of an elequent elephant, (Jumbe, without the trunk, however), standing on his hind legs, swaying his body about in his own way, but with overwhelming power of diction and action. It balles description. How at one point, he uttered something like this: "We have been like a company of workmen laboring in a tunnel amidst the darkness and smoke, and often tempted to give up the effort. But the sound of the hammers of those engaged from the other side has reached uscourage and hope revive and we resume the toil with fresh vigor, until the last rock is blasted, the tunnel is fully opened, and a full highway to the lands beyond is cleared for the progress of the Gospel of the Lord our God." Now think how a huge elephant might say this !

At Belfast I was not only grandly but most kindly and fraternally entertained by a Mr. and Mrs. Lemon and family that you get it. It is for sale by all Druggists, and by the OREGON INDIAN MEDICINE residing at a large splendid country search that you get it. about two miles out of town. They had slx besides me. Mr. Good was also at Belfast, and on Friday 4 p. m., July 4, we left together (by same train) with Dr. and Mrs. Bausman for London. Mr. and Mrs. B. stopped about 11 p. m. at Carlislo. Mr. Good left me about 125 miles further on. going to Liverpool, whilst I went directly through and came on here, reaching Paris on Saturday 8 p. m. Here I am boarding at the same house with the Rev. Lucas and family-who are very kindly belying me to see the sights, without loss of time. H. B. Cochran Mr. Good is to be here (from England) Queen street. sometime to day, and to morrow (d v,) we start together for Switzerland, &c. We expect to keep together as far as Berlin, (about July 19),—where he is to go on to Russia, (St. Petersburg), and I begin to turn my face homeward. And much as I appreciate the kindness intended by friends who planed this tour for me, and the things I see on my way, I long to have the trip over, and get to my proper work

FIGURES FROM THE POSTOFFICE. Only a Slight Decrease as Compared With the Three-Cent Rate.

Much concern has been telt in postal quarters as to the results of the reduction of letter rates upon the receipts of the department. From the report completed Friday by Third Assistant Postmaster General Hazen it appears that the gross receipts for the quarter ending June 30, 1884, aggregate $5,169,052,30. This is for the 150 letter carrier offices. For the same quarter last year the gross receipts were $5,485,324.14. The decrease is therefore only $316,-271.84 and is quite satisfactory to the department. Of the 150 offices there is an increase in sixteen, showing an advance already in comparison with the previous quarter. The Cincinnati office shows a gross receipt of $150.011.78, a falling off of $13.637.27 from the corresponding quarter of last year. Philadelphia shows $381,199.50, a decrease of $5, 251.54; Pittaburg, $78.075.72, a decrease of $6, 115.96; Nowark, N. J., $33,327.80, of $6,115.96; Nowark, N. The Young Parson's Retort

$5,831.52, a decrease of $832.32.

Cincinnati Enquirer. Bishop Wilmer, Protestant Episcopal, of Alabama, is one of the readiest men with retort to be found in the states. His first parish was in Virginia. At a certain company, where all the gentlemen of the neighborhood were, the young cleryman was present. There was also present man noted for his infidelity as to Chris-tianity, and for the roughness of his manners and speech to those by whom it was professed. This skeptic soon began to talk at the youthful parson, who prud-ently made no reply. The enemy became more aggressive, and, addressing him directly, said:
"Mr. Wilmer, you don't seem to like to talk about rel gion and the Bible.' "Yes, sir," he replied: "I do like to talk about it to people who are earnest and re-spectfully in their treatment of it."

"Well," rejoined the assailant, "if you will answer me one question I will let you

Mr. Wilmer said: "Sir, I do not know that I care to be let off from anything; but ask me the question, and if it is a proper question, and if I know the answer

I will give it to you."
"Well, sir, I have asked all the preachers I have ever seen, and none of them could tell me, and now I ask you: What became of the body of Moses when the devil and the archangel had a contest

It was a trying question for the young theologian, and a trying occasion, for the assembled company all silently awaited his reply. He quickly arose from his chair, walked across the room, stood directly in front of his autagonist and said, firmly and here-St. Cloud (six miles northwest from respectfully: "Sir, that question does not concern you in the least.'

"Why not, sir?" "Because it is perfectly certain no archangel will ever have any contest with the devil over your body."

Lite is some pronounce it the best."- H. W. Payne, Manuthing like a spiral staircase; we are always coming around over the spot we started from, only one degree further up the stairs. "That is a pretty illustration," remarked her friend musingly, gazing into the glowing coals which radiated a pleasant heat from the many-windowed slove. "You know we cannot step tolling up the fill, though."

"Surely we cannot, and for myself I don't find fault with that necessity provided the advance in life is not attended with calamity or suffering, for I have had my share of that. Not long since my health utterly broke down. My system was full of malaria. My digestion became thoroughly disordered and my nerves were in a wretched state. I was languid, ate little and that without enjoying it, and had no strength or ambition to perform even my light household duties. Medical treatment lailed to reach the seat of the trouble. The disease—which seemed to be weakness of all the vital organs—progressed until I had several attacks, which my physicians pronounced to be acute congestion of the stomach. The last of these was a desperate struggle and I was given up to die. As the crisis had partially passed, my hosband heard of the merits of FARKER'S TOSIO as an invigorant in just such cases as mine. I took it and felt its good effect at once. It appeared to pervade my body, as though the blessing of new life had come to me. Taking no other medicine I continued to improve and am now in better health than I have been for a long time."
