THE WHOLE TRUTH.

ABOUT ULEVELAND AND MRS. HALPIN

tien. Horatio C. King, Investigates the True Inwardness of the Allegations Against Cleveland's Morality. Gen. Horatio C. King, of Brooklyn, at the instance of Mr. Beecher to find out what there was in the stories about Gov. Cleveland. He says: "I felt confident, that these stories about the governor were false, because the whole character and life of the man repudiated the cowardly and unworthy actions attributed to him. And my high opinion of him was fully justified on finishing my investigation. I learned enough to convince me that he had been wrongfully accused. I went everywhere and did quite a little bit of detective work on my own account. The facts seem to be that many years ago, when the governor was 'sowing his wild oats,' he met this woman with whom his name has been connected, and became intimate with her. She was a widow and not a good woman by any means. Mr. Cleveland, learning this, began to make inquiries about her and discovered that two of his friends were intimate with her at the same time as himself.

When a child was born, Cleveland, in order to shield his two friends, who were both married men, assumed the responsibility of it. He took care of the child and mother like a man, and did every thing in his power for them until the woman became a confirmed victim to alcoholism and made it impossible by her conduct for him to have anything to do with her. He never separated the mother and child, nor did he do anything to injure the woman. He was throughout the whole affair a victim of circumstances. He accepted responsibilities that not one man in a thousand has shouldered and acted honorably in the matter. I questioned many men in Buffalo who have known the governor for years and I found that he was admired and respected even by those who disliked him personally.

Ex-Supervisor Krumbolze, of Buffalo, had served in his official capacity while Cleveland was mayor. He had known him for years, and assured me that the first intimation of immorality or acything of that kind which he had seen came from the sheet that published the scandalous story. Like many men, Mr. Cleveland likes good living and good company, but he never goes to excess in anything, and he respects the opinions and the prejudices of others. The other stories told about the governor cannot be substantiated ; indeed, the evidence all goes to show that they were manufactured out of whole cloth. No one seemed willing to father them; it was, 'I heard this and heard that'

and 'So-and-so told me this.' " "After the child was born the woman made a habit of visiting every man with whom she had been intimate and demanded money under a threat of exposure. Three of her four admirers—for she was an at-tractive woman—were married, and the man who in reality was father of the in COMPLETE TREATMENT WITH INHALER | fant had an interesting daughter whom he idolized. He was in constant dread lest his offense should reach his wife and his perfect image in manner and looks. Cleveland acted a heroic part, suffering

Albany and called on Gov. Cleveland. told him," added the general, "that Mr. Beecher was very much disturbed by these stories that have been circulated about him, and that I would like a statement from him about them. The governor then frankly told me that the version of the stories was substantially correct, and that the account published in the Buffalo Telegraph was false and scandalous. 'I acted throughout,' he said, as any henorable man should.'" "No man," continued Gen. King, with some warmth, "could have looked at the governor and not have felt that he was speaking the truth. I am sorry this thing came before the public at all; it may force the Democratic partyto show up the private life of the Republican candidate, and you can take my word for it there is a scandal in the life of the Plumed Knight that I would not like to see published even about an enemy.

"The Rev. Ball, who originally fathered the story," said Gen. King, "is the pastor of a small Baptist church in Buffalo, and formerly held a position in the custom house. He is a campaign orator, who puts the highest value on political labors. Senator Titus, of Erie, it is alleged, paid Ball $250 for services rendered in a political contest while county treasurer. II. R. Jones and Mr. Schou were bled to an equal extent. Ball claimed that he had done Jonathan Scoville some service when the latter was running for congress in Buffalo and tackled the congresman for $50, ask ing Cleveland to back up his claim. But the governor refused to do this, goodnaturedly giving the worthy Ball the sum

he was in need of. "How he was requited the events of the last few days will show. The allegation that the governor visited the club house on Grand Island, a 'resort of lust and drunkenness,' as Ball says, is ridiculous. The club house was the headquarters for the best families of Buffalo, where such people as Judge Haight and his family were daily to be found. Ball continues that the governor was one of a riotous party who accompanied Oscar Folsom when the latter was thrown from his carriage and broke his neck. That is an outrageous and actually rediculous perversion of the trouble, as all Buffalonians know that Folsom's only companion at that time was Warren Fisher.

BLAINE AND THE CATHOLICS.

The Tarring and Feathering of a Pricet When Jim Wasa Know Nothing. The Weekly Post in reviewing Blaine's career as a Know Nothing thus refers to his editorial endorsement of the disbanding of foreign military companies by

The enactment of so extreme and outrageous a law was in pursurance of the agitation kept up by Mr. Blaine as the agitation kept up by Mr. Blaine as the editor of the Kennebec Journal, and other Know Nothings in Maine. A most natural effect was the springing up of a bitter and unreasoning hostility against foreigners of every class, and especially foreigners of every class, and especially against Irish Catholics. In Elisworth, Maine, the agitation took the form of violence against a Catholic priest, the Rev. John Babst, which was thus described in the Bangor newspapers of August, 1856 :

"We mentioned briefly in yesterday's paper that Rev. John Babst, the Catholic pastor in this city, had been foully treated by a gang of ruffians at Ellsworth on Saturday evening. We learn that Mr. Baost was staying at the house of one of his people, Mr. Kent, who lives near the Catholic chapel. was staying at the house of one of his people, Mr. Kent, who lives near the catholic chapter. Wr. Kent's house, about 9 o'clock Saturday evening, was surrounded by a large crowd, of whom some twenty or thirty, mostly young men, entered the house. They searched from bottom to top for Mr. Babst, who had retired to the cellar to keep out of the way. There they found him, bore him out of doors, ran him down the street and, having got some distance from the house, stripped him of all his clothing except his pantaloons, and in that condition put him astride a fence rail and carried him upon it down three or four rods, when the rail broke. About this time they began to debate what further indignities to inflict, most being in favor of throwing him into the ditch and leaving him there. When a light was seen coming up the street some one said this was the approach of some one who had provided tar and feathers. The gang broke up into small knots. The light approached and it proved to be the sheriff the county with some assistants, though we did not learn that they were recognized by the victim at the time. In one of the knots of persons Mr. Babst was placed and his garments thrown over him, and thus not recognizing the sheriff he was not recognized. The sheriff, supposing that Mr. Babst had been murdered by the gang, proceded further along the street to find the body. It was raining violently at the time and very dark. The ruffians as soon as rid of the sheriff came together. They then took the pantalooas from Ma Babst's person, leaving him entirely naked. Then they proceeded to smear him with tar and feathers from head to foot, making some disgusting personal assaults and using various degrees of foul language."

Old citizens of Augusta vouch for the truth of this story, and say it was well remembered, and was but one of several out-rages committed during the Know Nothing excitement of 1854 '55 and '56. One gen tleman further said that Father Babst now lives in New York, or did until recently, and that he often shows with pride the marks left on his body by the tar which was smeared and beat on to his flesh with clubs and stricks. Nowhere does history record that Mr Blaine ever repented of his course in fur ever done anything to show that he does not continue to hold these sentiments.
