THE WONDERFUL WEED.

MARKETS HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Some Account of the Old and New Crop—Great Expectations of the Farmers—The Local Market.

During the past week there have been sold on this market about 400 cases of '81 and '82 and 500 cases of '83.

A number of the packers have commenced sampling their packings, and so far as this important work has gone, the result more than justifies our opinion heretofore expressed that the crop is the finest grown in this county for a great many years. Joseph Lederman, Skiles & Frey, David Lederman and others, are among the early samplers, and express themselves more than satisfied with the result.

The Crop of '84.

But fine as is the crop of '83 the crop of '84 promises to be much more valuable. Fully one half of this crop is Havana seed, and it has more than realized the expectations of those who took such an earnest interest in introducing it as well as of the farmers, some of whom at least were rather reluctant to make the change from seed leaf to Havana seed. The new variety appears to be exactly suited to our soil. It has grown vigorously, matured rapidly, and will weigh almost as much per acre as the seed leaf, while the prices offered for it are very far in advance of the prices offered for seed leaf. More than one half the Havana seed has been cut and put upon the poles, and a cleaner crop was never hung. If it cures as well as it promises to do, it will prove a bonanza alike to the grower, the dealer and the cigar manufacturer—all of whom will be relieved from the scare they were thrown into by the importation of Sumatra leaf.

While the Havana seed has the "call," it will not do to underrate the importance of our seed leaf crop. It, too, has grown luxuriantly and thus far escaped all damage from hail, insects, blight, or other damage. The farmers are now busily engaged in cutting their early plantings, and a yield of over a ton per acre will be realized on hundreds of farms, the average probably reaching from 1,500 to 1,600 pounds per acre. The Havana seed will yield 200 or 300 pounds less per acre. We congratulate the tobacco farmers on the bright prospect before them.

NEW YORK MARKET.

Seed Leaf, Sumatra and Havana for the Week Ending Saturday, August 23.

From the Cr. Tobacco Journal.

Notwithstanding the almost entire absence of any but small buyers, our market was kept busy during the week by the leaf inspectors. As a consoler to many the fact will serve that the demand for Sumatra was very small during the week. Some couple the fact with the inauguration of the sampling season, and in it they discern the turning point in the tide of dullness and apathy to seed leaf. Certain it is that the next few weeks will wipe away any doubt regarding the fate of seed leaf for the coming year at least. The samples drawn last week in our market were in the main from the Pennsylvania and Wisconsin Havana seed. There is very little change in the Wisconsin; there is considerable in Pennsylvania. It has improved decidedly in recently picked goods; but there is damage in great many lower grades and in lots carelessly packed. Nothing has been supplied in other crops in quantities sufficient to arrive at a correct estimate of their condition. A grain of comfort to holders of seed leaf appears to be the arrival of some new Sumatra, which is bad in color and burning. In this direction there is no hope for our seed leaf market. There may be bad tobacco in the Sumatra, but there is enough of good to supply any demand in this country. Packers are beginning to flock to Wisconsin to operate in the '84 crop. This is natural; those who packed last year and sold early made considerable money; those who haven't sold will make some little money yet; and as the views regarding the making of money in seed leaf have dwindled down to most modest proportions, anything that offers even a shadow of a profit will be invested in; in fact, must be invested in. What else can packers do? Consequently, we will soon have a rush to Wisconsin, and also to Pennsylvania and Connecticut for the Havana seeds. New York state will have to take a back seat as yet. The uncertainty of last year's crop is not apt to kindle a great deal of enthusiasm for new. All the '84 native seed tobacco will go begging for a long time to come.

The report of sales in old crops in our market was exceedingly meagre. The aggregate sales will not average 600 cases price 7 to 12 cents; buyers don't ask any one where and when the tobacco was grown; all they want to know is how much the seller is willing to lose.

In '83 tobaccos, 54 cases Wisconsin Havana seed wrappers sold at 37 cents; 50 cases running brought 26 cents, according to the broker's report; the market closes with the report of a sale of 105 cases '83 Connecticut seconds at 14 cents.

Havana—Active; sales 700 bales; quotations, 85 cents to $1.30.

O. HAMMERSTEIN.

The Tobacco Leaf summarizes the market as follows:

Western Leaf—The market is firm with strong quotations.

Virginia Leaf—There was nothing doing in Virginia leaf the last week. The hot weather has evidently "knocked the buyers out," but we may expect to see some trade soon.

Seed Leaf—Our market remains featureless. Total sales, 720 cases.

Spanish—Havana Billets were sold to the extent of 250 bales, at from 80 to $1.15.

Sumatra—200 bales changed hands at from 125 to $1.60.

Manufactured—The past week has been an extremely dull one, and has disappointed us, as we fully expected some orders for Southern account. Some manufacturers seem willing to sell goods for no profit, but they are foolish, unless they must have money. Tobacco can not be any lower this year, as there is no reason for it. We speak of old reliable stock. The cheap goods offering are of primings or doubtful or unsound stock. Many factories have stopped work. They say that while they get 2 and 3c. advance over last year, there is no profit, and they prefer to close up.

Gans' Report.

Sales of leaf tobacco reported by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., tobacco brokers, No. 151 Water street, New York, for the week ending August 25, 1884:

300 cases 1881 Pennsylvania, 6 to 10c.; 200 cases 1882, do., 8 to 13; 220 cases 1883 New England, 6 to 13½; 100 cases 1883 Wisconsin Hav., p. t. Total, 820 cases.

Philadelphia Market.

Seed Leaf—Handling of cigar leaf can not as yet be called satisfactory; still, to the credit of our dealers, it can truly be said that the aggregate of each week's sales foots up a decided increase over last year's business. Sales have been considerable in new leaf of all grades while the call for old stock is daily increasing. The market at present is well supplied in old as well as new grades of stocks. Prices are steady, while margins are small.

Sumatra each week shows an increased demand.

Havana—Trade is A No. 1 stock is full of life, and is quickly appreciated.

Baltimore Market.

Maryland leaf tobacco is coming forward very freely, and all desirable grades find ready sale between the competition of buyers for France and other countries. The demand is chiefly for the better sorts; common leaf apparently is little wanted. All desirable samples command full prices. Of Ohio leaf sales the past week were 75 hhds, chiefly spangled and red, taken by shippers.

A VERY BRIEF WILL.

How W. L. Schaffer Disposed of His Estate of One Million Dollars.

One of the shortest wills ever offered for probate at the office of register of wills in Philadelphia is the last will and testament of the late William L. Schaffer, who for over fifty years was cashier of the Girard National bank, and which was admitted to probate Monday morning. Mr. Schaffer was a bachelor, and left an estate valued at over $1,000,000. The will is in the decedent's own handwriting, and is written on a small scrap of legal cap paper, occupying with signatures only four lines. The brief instrument is as follows:

PHILADELPHIA, July 8, 1880.—I do hereby give and bequeath to my sister, Eliza beth Schaffer, all my real and personal property of whatever description.

W. L. SCHAFFER.

Witness—J. Reeves.

Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism.

Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water.

All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters; I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; other wise I would have been now in my grave. J. W. Money, Buffalo, Oct. 1, 1881.

Poverty and Suffering.

"I was drugged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring.

I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it."—A WORKINGMAN.
