THE LOUAL STRAGOGUE REMODELLED

Complete Renovation of the East Orange

Street Structure--Selemn Dedication Exercises Tals Evening. For the past two months workmen have been busily engaged in remodeling the Hebrew synagogue on East Orange street known as "Sharai Shomaim" or "The Gates of Heaven." The work was completed to-day and now there is no finer house of worship in the city. The growing congregation required more room than was to be had on the main floor, as the building was originally constructed and at a congregational meeting the following uilding committee was appointed to make the necessary improvements: Al. Rosen-stein, chairman; Julius Loeb, Joseph Strauss, David Lederman and Lewis Gausman. They were authorized to employ an architect and they secured the services of Jacob Northdurf, who prepared the plans and specifications for a thorough remodelling of the building.

In the rear of the synagogue the wall separating the main room from a wide vestibule was removed, and several feet were thus added to the room. Two small vestibules were erected, one on each side of the building, and across the rear of the church a gallery has been built which will be used by the Sunday school, the organist and the choir. Composition stained glass windows have been placed in the church, the walls and ceilings have been covered with imitation fresco paper, new chandeliers have been placed throughout the church, two handsome Newell lights have been erected, one on each side of the altar, which has also been enlarged. The cellar has been deepened, so that now there is a thorough ventilation in that apartment. A large new heater has been built and new jobsts and girders have been placed under the entire building.

The committee secured the services of D. Rapp, who did the carpenter work; Peter Rath did the bricklaying ; George Ponts the painting of the new work, Urban & Brimmer the remaining painting and Byron J. Brown all the graining Flinn & Breneman furnished the chandeliers, J. B. Martin & Co., did the papering, furnished the composition, stained glass windows and all the carpets for the aisles and pulpit; A. C. Kepler put up the heater. The gilding on the altar and ark was artistically executed by Brimmer &

The building committee, all of whom worked hard, deserve great credit for the efficient manner in which they discharged their duties. They have given to the mem-bers of the church a house of worship of which any congregation might be proud.

The church will be dedicated this ing. The exercises will begin at 7 o'clock. and an interesting programme has been prepared for the oc The Programme.

Pipance committee reported as follows:

Mr. Stade, chairman of improvements on the institute building, reported the work finished and presented bill of $885.51 for same. He sold the old material from the building for $70.40. After deducting this amount from $885.51, the remainder will have to be paid, equally by the board and the trustees of the old Columbia public ground company. The report was accepted and the amount ordered to be paid.

Superintendent Ames' action in doing away with the afternoon session during warm weather was approved of.

A number of bills were read, approved, and order granted in their favor.

The board then adjourned until Thurs day evening, Sept. 18, 1884.

A Laughable Game of Ball. Without a doubt the funniest game of base Lali ever played in Columbia, was that of yesterday afternoon, when the Columbia dudes won a ball from a nine of Grau's English opera company's members It was conspicuous of the numberless errors, absence of brilliant plays, and the desperate attempt of both cirbs to hit the ball. It was laughable indied, when after making four runs the dudes went into the field. The lett and right fielders held sunshades over them to keep off the sun. The centre fielder enjoyed the game by laying down in the field, while the shortstop used every endeavor imaginable to get up a boxing match with the second baseman. These four players were the life of the game and caused most of the fun. The right fielder hit the ball once, even though it did go foul, but a better baseman never played in Columbia. He was a safe runner and would not get off his base, only in an absolute case of necessity. The centre fielder carried off the honors of the day by his heavy slugging at the ball. We say at, because he could not hit it. Once ne singged so hard that he turned a single somersault, and a tempted to stand on his head. The crowd yelled at every bad play, and were quiet when applause was deserved—they were yelling all the time. The score, by

This was the case where the murderers took the bodies of their victims straight to the Ohio medical college and sold them for $45.

Johnson was attended during the last 15 minutes in his cell by Dr. Joyce alone. The sheriff read the warrant a few minutes before 10 o'clock. Johnson listened with a wild look, but said nothing. The jail physician administered some braudy. He knelt on the scaffold during a very brief prayer, and then made a neat speech, averring his innocence and saying he was prepared to die. His death was almost instantaneous and without a peculiar feature. The execution took place in the jail yard, the scaffold being screened
