LIFTED OVER. As tender mothers guiding baby steps, Whore places come at which the tiny feet Would trip, lift up the little ones in arms Of love, and set them down beyond the harn so did Our Father watch the presious boy. Led o'er the stones by me, who stumbled of Myself, but strove to help my darling on : He saw the sweet limbs faltering, and saw Rough ways before us, where my arms would fall; eached from Heaven, and litting the dear Who smiled in leaving me, He put him down, Beyond all hurt, beyond my sight, and bade Him wait for me! Shall I not then be giad,

And, thanking God, press on to overtake?

KILLING HIS GUILTY WIFE. A Double tragedy in Atlanta-Wife and Betrayer Fatally Shot.

For several days Mr. Thomas M. Jackson, proprieter of the Atlanta box factory, has imagined that he could detect a hand kerchief flirtation between his wife and Mr. Will McDouald, a saloon keeper across the street. For 14 years he had lived in bliss with his wife, and five interesting children had have born to them. He tried children had been born to them. He tried to repress the suspicion, but it continued to grow upon him Wednesday he deterned to set a trap, and announced to his wife that he was going north on the even ing train. He secreted himself during the daylight, and, arming himself with a shotgun and revolver, he awaited developments. No sooper had Mr. Jackson departed than the following note was hastily sent across the street by the woman.

StR: If you wish you can call to night My husband will be gone. Call at 10 o'clock. Come back way. Let me know if you are coming. Yours truly, picions, and raising his shotgun a charge of buckshot told the couple that the injured husband was at hand. With a scream McDonald jumped out of bed and wildly discharged his pistol in the direction of the window. He attempted to escape, but found the windows barred and the doors locked. In the meantime Jackson had run to the front to give the libertine a parting shot. As a white figure emerged Jackson blazed away, when his wife, whom mortal'y wounded. McDonald came di-rectly after, firing his revolver wildly in his flight, when Jackson his flight, when Jackson winged him again with a marderous volley. By this time half a dozen policeman gathered, besides fully 500 people who had been awakened by the of musketry. The wounded woman, in her death agony, was taken to a house across the street, while the two men were taken to the station house. Inside of Jackson's house a frightful scene was presented. The bed was covered with the blood of the guilty pair. Five little children, who had been put away in their cribs for the night by their foolish mother, were running around the rooms in their night clothes all unconscious of the disgrace of their dying mother and the deed committed by their desperate father. The wounded couple cannot live. Mrs. Jackson is a member of the Baptist church, is highly connected, and has always moved in the best circles.

Mr. Willie McDonald:

A Perfect Medicine Chest. SING SING, N. Y., POSTOFFICE,

March 19, 1883.
One week ago, while engaged in my dutie as assistant postmaster, I was taken with a painful I could hardly breathe, and I sched al over my body. I immediately sent for an ALLOOCK'S POSOUS PLASTER and applied it over the seat of pain; in twenty minutes I was en-tirely relieved and cured. I have used All cock's Plasters in my family for over twenty years, and have found them wonderfully effec-tive in curing coughs, colds and pulsionary difficulties. They are a perfect medicine chest; they cure without the slightest pain or incon venience, never leaving a mark on the skin [TROS. LEARY,

President of Village of Sing Sing, N. Y. When purchasing a porous plaster, becure to get "Alloock's," All other so called Porous Plasters are imitations.

"I'm All Broke Up!" This is the usual exclamation of one afflicted with rheumatism, or lameness. Rheumatic people are indeed entitled to our sincere sympathy and commisseration. Speedy relief is offered them in Dr. Thomas Eclevisic Oil, 11 is the sworn enemy of all aches and pains. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street.
