WHAT SCIENCE OFFES YOU.—USE no listments, salves or lottons. Ben-son's Capelne Plasters are best. Quick, highly medicinal. 25 cents. CUTIOURA REMEDIES.

NOW IS THE TIME TO CURE

It is at this season when the Pores open free-ly and the Perspiration is abundant that Disfiguring Humors, Humilisting Eruptions, Itching Tortures, Sait Rheum or Bezema, Psoriasis, Tetter, Ringworm, Baby Humors, Serotula, Scrofulous Sores, Abscesses, and Discharging Wounds, and every species, of Scalp are most specifiy and economically cured by the Curicusa Remedia.

IT IS A FACT. Hundreds of letters in our possession (copies of which may be had by return usal) are our authority for the assertion that Skin, Scalp and Blood Humors, whether Scrotulous, Inherited, or Contagious, may NOW be pernamently cured by Curicura Resolver, the new Blood Purifier, internally, and Curicura and Curicura Soar, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, externally, in one half the time and at one half the expense of any other season.

GREATEST ON EARTH. CUTIOURA REMEDIES are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst calt. Rheum in this country. My mother had it twenty years and in fact died from it. I believe CUTICURA would have saved her life. of an Ideal London Residence—A Fish's Regard for Her Young.

From the London Globe.

In the entrance hall of this fine house the fireplace was hidden in pink geraniums and grasses. The two fireplaces in the dining room were respectively dressed, the one with sunflowers and blue ball thistle on the chimney piece, mixed with variegated ferns and foliage and pink roses at the base; the other with scarlet gladioli and white hydrangea; against the deep terra cotta of the walls they showed up spiendidly. As one ascended the stairs, three huge balls of roses, each about three feet in diameter, were hung by loop pink ribbons, twined with a creep-ing plant from the balustrade at intervals; the lowest the darkest, the next a medium and the top the lightest shade of pink. The large drawing-room opened upon two The large drawing-room opened upon two alcoves. Opposite one was a large mirror encudes with palms that rose out of a bank of pink tiger lilles, pink beath and roses, interspersed with lovely leaves.

But the other alcove, the wonder of the whole affair, was literally a bower of roses. Wire netting, covered close with these sweet blossoom and leaves, lined the interior, with the exception of a mirror.

It was quite fairy like. The chimney piece and fireplace were arranged wholly with pink gloxinias and variegated foliage, a delicate cocoa palm finishing each end. The back drawing room mantel shelf was similarly arranged with pink carnations, and that of the boudoir beyond was embowered in magnificent pink tiger was embowered in magnificent pine tiger lilies, oleanders, pink geraniums and the lower part in glorious roses, with most exquisite greenery. The curtains through-out the rooms were all looped back by bands of roses; in fact, it was a perfect "nocturne in pink" als Whistler, and culminated in the beautiful dress of the hostess, who were a rich brocaded white satin, trimmed with roses and priceless lace, set off by a superb set of large pearshaped Russian emeralds hurg from rivieres of diamonds.

From St. Nicholas. It is rarely that the fishes, with their staring eyes that can neither open or shut, and expressionless faces, make any display of their lives and dislikes, but when they do, they are very apt to astonish us. Can it be possible, we say, that a fish has any power of feeling emotion? But hear what my friend Mr. Holder tell me. He says that Dr. C. C. Abbott, the well known naturalist or some one who Dr. Abbott knew once saw a young brood of catfish (or kitten fish, whichever you please) following their mother in a creek; and, securing them with a net, he placed them all in a glass globe two feet from the water. The mother fish seemed to know at once that something unusual had happened, and swam about for some time, evidently observing her babies alive and well, though not able to understand it. Several times she approached near the globe, then swam back as if undetermined; but finally she swam into shallow water, and using her side, or pectoral, fins as feet, fairly wrig-gled on dry land to the base of the globe. Here their captor carefully liberated the young fishes, when, to use his language, "they immediately clustered about her, and followed her into deep water." Now, you see, this catfish not only showed a motherly anxiety for the fate of her young, but she was willing to do a difficult and to go to th bore the severe suffering of being out of the water, and braved all the pain and unusual strain upon her fins in crawling upon the ground after her little ones. CURED BY PRAYER.

A Georgia Lady Sestored to Health Under Peculiar Circumstances

Macon was much excited on Friday over prayer. The invalid was Mother Angela, of Mount DeSales' academy, a Catholic institution of that city. Her name is Miss Henrietta King, of Columbus. She has been in the academy for twelve years, and was placed in charge of the Catholic school. The labors were arduous and she was com pelled to resign. She contracted a cold, which eventually developed into consump-tion. Since the 3d day of last January she has been a helpless invalid, and has had from fifteen to twenty hemorrhages. She had eaten soarcely enough to sustain life, and had repeatedly asked that she be al lowed to die.

About a mouth ago she became so ill that her death was looked for every hour. She lay on her back perfectly helpless and was unable to turn over, her weight having been reduced to sixty seven pounds. She was told by her friends that it was her was told by her friends that it was her duty to offer a prayer for her recovery, and was persuaded to offer a novema to the miraculous image of our Lady of Perpetual Help. This picture is from an original in the Church of the Redemptionists in Rome. It was blessed by Leo XIII, and was presented to the academy about one year ago. Before this picture she offered her daily prayer. The Mother began her prayers on the 14th instant, and Sunday, feeling no better, distributed her appared to her companions and prepared to die, making her confession to Bishop Gross. On Monday she offered her rosary, and immediately afterwards became imbued immediately afterwards became imbued with new strength and health. She called in a loud voice, and was assisted to rise. She dressed, and walked down stairs to join her mystified companions. She said she felt perfectly well and began to sing. Afterward she walked over the lot and took a ride. She drank five glasses of milk, and her appetite was good. She is still improving.

A Letter From Governor Gleveland. The following letter was read at the Democratic ratification meeting in Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday evening:

ALBANY, N. Y., September 23, 1884.—
My Dear Sir:—I very much regret that pressure of official duties will prevent my joining you at the meeting to be held in Columbus on the 25th instant. I hope the meeting will be the means of increasing meeting will be the means of increasing the enthusiasm already aroused for the cause of good government. I believe that the voters of the country are fully alive to the necessity of installing an administration of public affairs which shall be truly their own, not only because it is the result of their choice, but because its selected in-strumentalities are directly from the body of the people and impressed with the peo-ple's thoughts and sentiments. They are tired, I think, of a rule so long con-tinued that it has bred and fos-

a class standing between and their political action, and interests in affairs end with whose interests in affairs end with partisan zeal and advancement of personal advantage. Let me remind the people that if they seek to make their public servants feel their direct responsibility to them, and careful of their interests, their objects will not be accomplished by blinded adherence to a party which has grown arrogant with long continued power. Let me impress upon the people that the issue involved in the pending

Incendiaries in Cleveland. The city of Cleveland is infested by an organized gang of incendiaries. There were several attempts made Thursday evening and Friday to burn the city, and but for the vigilance of trusted employes of the buildings the central portion of this large city would have been in flames. Attempts were made to set the Welshire, the Blackstone and Power blocks on fire. The buildings were fired in places very difficult to reach by the firemen and would have been destroyed had the fires not been quickly discovered. There were unmistakable evidences of incendiarism. While Superior street was one dense mass of humanity to-day another supposed incendiary fire started in the block occupied by Strauss, Miller & Orth. The Management of Prench Prisons. A law passed in 1875 made a radical change in the management of French pri-sons, and now all prisoners are required to be kept isolated from one another by day as well as by night. Criminals whos terms of sentence do not extend one year are lodged in prisons belonging to the de-partment within which they were convict-ed. The point most insisted on is a sufficient number of cells to keep those who might be innocent of the charge against them from coming in contact with the habitual criminals. The matter hung fire a long time, but in 1830 cooperation of the government was finally secured, and proposed reforms are now in process of

DARKER'S TONIC. Swept Into the Stream. THE TAILOR'S GUILD.

One Thousand Acres of Land and "Right Smart of Bears," On the deck of a big Mississippi stea mboa stood an aged Southern planter. Indicating by a sweep of his arm the waters the boat was passing over, he said to a passenger from the North: "When I was twelve years old I killed North: "When I was twolve years old I killed my first bear on a new plantation my father was then cutting of a forest that grew directly over the waters out of this bead. That was a mighty good plantation: and there was right smart of bears there, too. But thist one thous-and acres of land went into the Mississippi smart of bears there, too Bat that one thousand acres of land went into the Mississippi liver years ago.

It is putting no strain upon the figure to say that great forests of youthful hope, womanly beauty and manly strength are swept in the same way every year into the great, turbid torrent of disease and death. Yet it should not be so. That it is so is a disgrace as well as a loss. People are largely too careless or too stuplu to defend their own interests—the most precious of which is health. That gone, all is gone. Disease is simple, but to recklessness or lignorance the simplest things might as well be complex as a proposition in Conic Sections. As the huge western rivers, which so often flood the cities along their shores, arise in a few mountain springs, so all our aliments can be traced to impure blood and a small group of disordered organs.

The most effective and inclusive remedy for disease is PAMKEE'S TONIC. It goes to the sources of pain and weakness. In response to its action, the liver, kidneys, stomach and heart begin their work afresh and disease is driven out. The Tonic is not, however, an intoxicant, but cures a desire for strong drink. Have you dyspepsis, rheumatism, or troubles which have relused to yield to other agents? Here is your help.
