A Verdlet for the Plaintiff in an leteresting BEFORE JUDGE LIVINGSTON :

On the re-assembling of court on Thurs-day afternoon, the trial of the suit of John S. Landis and Abser B. Miller vs. E. Gos linski & Co., was resumed. When the tobacco was delivered it was observed by the defendants that the tobacco was not properly assorted and that there were white vein leaves among the wrappers and they refused to receive the tobacco. After some conversation between the parties new contract was made by which plaintiffs were to receive 26 cents per pound for first wrapper, 10 cents per pound for white vein wrappers, short wrappers and seconds The tobacco was weighed and plaintiffs received a check for $1,016.32. That amount, the defendants claim, was in full for the tobacco.
