The line of march was up Broadway to Thirteenth street, to Fifth Madison Square. Many business and private houses along the line of the proorssion were profusely decorated with bunting and portraits of the Democratic candidates for the presidency and vice presidency were displayed on every block.

The head of the procession began to move at 3 p. m., and reached the reviewing stand at 4 20. Governor Cleveland arrived on the grand stand at 8:30, and was greeted with a storm of cheers from the vast throng that had assembled from every quarter of the metropolis. The Wholesale Dry Goods Merchanta' club, headed by Gilmoro's orchestra had the right of way. They turned out nearly 5,000 strong and presented a remarkably fine appearance. They were followed by the dry goods central division of the who esale clothing and dry soods clubs. The carpet trade and wholesale closk manufacture's, flower and leather trade, and members of the Stock Exchan e marched next. The second division of the monster proesssion was composed of members of the bar, the wholesale drug trade, custom house brokers, shoe and leather trade, printers and publishers' clubs, the paper trade, the Columbia college club, the jewelers' club, omployes of the American watch company and insurance men. The column consumed over three hours in mayching rapid'y before the governor, who saluted it with uncovered head. The excellence of the music played by the many bands was an attractive as well as an inspiring feature of exhibition.

Among the mottoes dusplayed upon the Protection to labor-destruction to mo nopolists;" "No free trade here;" "Honesty against corruption;" "No party lines" and "Public office is a public trust."

Improving on Antore. From the N. w York Herald.

The Parisian fashion of baving a professional manicure polish and point the flager nails has become surprisingly prevalent in New York. A few years ago the idea was introduced by several persons prominent in fasionable circles. Soon after a French professor of the art opened a manicuring establishment in this city. So great were the amount of his success and the number of shekels that flowed into his till that his example was soon followed by others, until now the professional finger beautifiers are numbered in the hundreds. A fashionable lady now considers it almost a necessity to visit the manicure's two or three times a week The French custom of having the operator come to the house and do the polishing in the bath has never been introduced here. The patrons of the art are not confined to the fair sex alone. but fully as many men as women delight in their almond shaped and glistening nails.

At the best known establishments in town there are, besides the proprietress, about a dozen young women assistants. The "patient" on his arrival is shown The "patient" on his arrival is shown into a reception room, elegantly furnished, where he awaits his turn. When it arrives he is ushered into the operating room and placed in an easy chair with a table attach m at, on which are jars, brushes, spor ges, files and various little ivory im plements. The floger tips are first worked in cologue water, then covered alternately with a salve and a pewder. Then follows with a salve and a powder. Then follows the polishing, filing and shaping. The whole performance lasts about an hour and costs 61. When it is failabet the patients names are it objects for preserva-tion in the Smith of is ineffection.
