it Is so Very Amicable that the Police Ar rest the Contestants. Only 2,000 persons assembled at the Madison Square Garden, New York, Tuesday evening to witness the match between Sullivan and Greenfield. They appeared promptly on the stage but were not permitted to continue their "friendly set-to" for any considerable period.

The first round commenced in the most amicable manner, the Englishman show Greenfield was indiscreet enough to give Sullivan a hard one in the face. The latter began to look wicked, but while he was picking out a place to break in the Briton's anatomy in a "friendly" way, the foreigner forestalled him and tapped him on the forehead with his right hand "pillow." Suliivan was stung, hand "pillow." Sumvan and rushed Greenfield to the ropes, and in fighting followed. Sullivan was stung some quick in-fighting followed. Greenfield clinched, and was warned by the referee to stop such tactics. Sullivan then went for his antagonist. He slapped the Englishman's face to the hue of a poppy and made him glare wildly. Au-other clinch, another warning and more shouting. Greenfield was made to feel that his clinching was considered as an evidence of weakness, and began to work his hands like windmills in a hurricane. Sullivan had set his teeth. Both men were about to show how "friendly" they could be. Sullivan made a rush, Greenfield met it and the men bounded apart. They sprang at each other again and the four arms played to and fro like the cross threads of a silk loom. Greenfield's head banged against a post and a swinging round arm out from Sullivan elipped the skin from Greenfield's forehead near the right temple. Blood was on Sullivan's gloves and Captain Williams, as he espied the gore, rushed between the two men and stopped the fight. The match was decided in Sul-livan's favor. Both contestants were ar rested, bail being furnished.

The Iron Decline,

The decline in pig iron began early in 1882, when No. 1 anthracite pig was selling at $26 per ton. It now sells at $19, a fall of 27 per cent. Gray forge has declined at Philadelphia $1 per cent.; since that date; old iron rails, 40 per cent; best refined bar iron, 34 per cent.; Bessemer rails, 52 per cent.; nails, 40 per cent. A large proportion of the Pennsylvania furnaces are out of blast. Of the 161 anthracite furnaces in operation at the close of 1882, but $6 were in blast on October 1,1884. These facts explain in part the din inished demand for coal at Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maryland mines the cutting down of wages and strikes of which so much is being heard. From the Balti more Sun.
