THE GREAT NEW ORLEANS SHOW

The Dazzling Spectacle That Will be Seen When the Great Fair of the New South Has Fairly Opened.

Few Northerners have a proper appreciation of the extensive scale on which the approaching world's fair in New Orleans is projected. How much greater in magnitude it will be than many such exhibitions may be inferred from the fact that the entire buildings of Paris, and Vienna which were devoted to their fair could be put into the main building of the New Orleans exposition. It is about one-third larger than that of the Centennial at Philadelphia. It is by all odds the largest exhibition of which history gives any account. The Coliseum at Rome, a structure which gave a word to the world by which to express magnitude, does not compass half as much space as this exposition at New Orleans. But of course this is not as lofty and substantial as the Coliseum was.

The engines to be used for lighting the place alone are more tremendous than all those set in operation at the Philadelphia Centennial by the Emperor of Brazil and General Grant at the moment of opening the exhibition there. The whole arrangement is on this vast plan. It is worthy of the country. It is fashioned after it in its vastness and its splendor. Out in the Mississippi, bordering the whole space like the Great Eastern, soon to arrive from Europe—a fit companion of the grand event.

THE SPLENDOR OF DECORATION.

There will be about 75 acres under roof and the grounds and approaches to the buildings will be of brilliant appearance, ranging north with artificial decoration. Joaquin Miller, with the eye of the poet and painter, thus sketches this aspect of it:

"To me the best things here, the best, most impressive, most beautiful, most marvellous of all things, or can be brought here, is the army of ancient and wide boughed oaks that stand in solemn line. In their gray and priestly garments of moss they guard the exposition building about and down to the banks of the great swift river. Bring what you may here, gold and silver and silks and precious things, I shall turn from them all to these gray old bearded and impressive druids for contemplation and companionship."

They are not dull in the least, like the great trees of Yosemite, lofty, leafless and desolate in their gigantic glory; but they are broad boughed, green and evergreen. The least one of this wonderful avenue fronted and flanked by the trunk and branch of thousands. And the grass grows green beneath them, even up to the tremendous trunk. And then up the trunk the ferns have found their way. And far up and far out along the spreading boughs they are seen in green and gold and purple of thousands. And the grass grows green beneath them, even up to the tremendous trunk. And then up the trunk the ferns have found their way. And far up and far out along the spreading boughs they are seen in green and gold and purple of thousands.

"There are no such oaks anywhere else in the world. But the wonder and the beauty of them has found a singular and rare dignity in their gray and majestic serenity that sweep almost to the earth. In their leafy branches the exposures have been generally assumed by the exposition management. The department of colored exhibits was the idea of Director General Burgo, and is only one of the positions which will be occupied by the exhibition for the position he occupied."

CUTICURA.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR EVERY FORM OF BLOOD DISEASE, FROM PIMPLES TO SCROFULA.

I have had the Pannicula for nine months. About five months ago I applied to a doctor near Boston, who helped me, but unfortunately had to leave, and I did not take the medicine for nearly three months, but the disease did not leave. I saw Mr. Carpenter's letter to the Philadelphia Record, and the case perfectly described mine. I tried the CUTICURA Remedy, using the Sulfur and Cuticula Soap in proportion, and call myself completely cured. L. F. BARNARD, Westwood, N. J.

RUSSIA TWENTY YEARS.

Cured—Not a Sign of its Reappearance.

Your CUTICURA has done a wonderful cure for me more than two years ago. Not a sign of its reappearance since. It cured me of all the eruptions which had troubled me for more than twenty years. I shall say speak well of CUTICURA. I had a great deal of it. FRANK SWAN, Druggist, Haverhill, Mass.

BEST FOR NOTHING.

Having used your CUTICURA Remedies for eighteen months for Tetter, and finally cured it, I am anxious to get it to sell on commission. I can recommend it beyond any remedy I have ever used for Tetter, Burns, Cuts, etc. In fact, it is the best medicine I have ever tried for anything. H. H. HOOKER, MYRTLE, MISS.

SCROFULOUS SORES.

I had a dozen bad sores upon my body, and tried all remedies I could hear of, and at last tried your CUTICURA Remedies and they cured me. J. H. GASKILL, HERRON, THAYNE COUNTY, PENN.

Every species of itching, Scaly, Pimply, Scrofulous, inherited and Constitutional eruptions, such as Eruptions, Tetter, Scald Head, Ringworm, Itch, and the New Blood Purifier internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP the great Skin Cure externally.

Sold everywhere. Price: CUTICURA, 50c; SOAP, 25c. RESOLUTION, $1.00.

KEPTORANIA PLEADER.

A young Criminal Who Thieving Instincts Cause from Birth and Training.

In the trial on Tuesday of James Heath, son of a formerly wealthy citizen of Louisville, Ky., for stealing an immense clock, it was made that he is a kleptomaniac, and was so developed by the peculiar circumstances of his birth and childhood. Heath's father testified that the boy was born on May 21, 1863, at Lexington. His mother was an intense rebel, and boarded in a family following the same deep prejudices. She went through the city of Lexington begging for the soldiers and accepting anything, from a postage-stamp up, and thus it was that the unfortunate son was born in a rebel's household, and from the midst of intense feeling and prejudice. The mother had so worn herself down by mental excitement and labor, that after the birth of her child she was unable to raise it. A colored wet-nurse was hired, and about the time the child was old enough to be weaned she was discovered to be an incorrigible thief.

After the war Mr. Heath and his family removed to Louisville, Ky. James was then old enough to toddle around, and he was constantly accompanied by his mother to the grocery. He invariably returned with something filched from the grocer's stock. It was shown that the boy's father was formerly in good circumstances, but had been impoverished in consequence of having attempted to keep his son's misfortune from the world by paying for the misdeeds committed by him in his weakness.

"Sawdust Used Medically."

This is one of the latest ideas in medicine. But what ever you do with your sawdust, it is a great medicine. Be your hands with it, scratch your back with it, or make a sticking plaster of it—only don't swallow it. This medical sawdust is made of the best of the grocer's stock. It is made of the best of the grocer's stock. It is made of the best of the grocer's stock. It is made of the best of the grocer's stock.

Many oldsters remember "the dead line" at Andersonville. It was a mighty dangerous neighborhood. Dysentery, biliousness, and liver complaint were the common ailments for the sick. But Burdock Bitters are a certain remedy, soon everywhere. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 127 and 129 North Queen Street.

I wish everybody to know. Rev. George H. Thayer, an old citizen of one of our towns, writes as follows: "I was a prominent citizen and a Christian minister of the M. E. church, just this moment stopped in our store to say, 'I wish everybody to know that I consider that both myself and wife owe our lives to Shiloh's Consumption Cure. It is a specific for all kinds of consumption, and is giving perfect satisfaction in all cases of chronic cough, phthisis, and all other pulmonary troubles.' The name is 'Shiloh's Consumption Cure'."—J. B. Cochran, druggist, 127 and 129 North Queen Street, Lancaster, Pa.
