The Arrest of Two Canal Boatmen

Rurder in Manticoke, Nov. 24 -Latest Happenings Around Town.

A probable murder occurred at Nanti-coke on the evening of Nov. 24, 1884, the particulars of which are as follows : particulars of which are as follows : Captain of Pennsylvania canal boats Nos. 220 and 230, Benjamin Litey, while in the cabin of one of the boats reading to his children an article in a paper, which told how a negro had outraged a white woman. A short time afterward Samuel Taylor, aged 23 years, and ovidently under the, influence of liquor, boarded the boat and entered the cabin. His appearance so startled the children that they uttered shrill soreams of fright, hearing which Capt. screams of fright, hearing which Capt. Litey appeared and compelled the negro, who had no business in the cabin nor on who had no business in the cabin nor on the hoat, he not being an employe, to vacate. When on deck Taylor was knocked insensible by the infuriated Litey, by a blow on the head with a piece of wood. He would have fallen overboard, but a hawser caught and prevented the accident. Taylor was in a dangerous position, seeing which, the captain, aided by another man, rescued and laid him upon the deck. Capt. Frank Wagner, alias Butcher, of Pennsylvania boats, Nos. 300 and 310 just then appeared, and as he passed the unconscious form of Taylor, he inflicted several brutal kicks upon his head. Taylor several brutal kicks upon his head. Taylor was then removed to his home, in a critical condition. An attempt was made by Alderman J. F. Donobue, of Wilkesbarre, to take his ante mortem statement, but the negro was unable to speak. Warrants were issued, and placed in proper hands to be served, but before this could be done, the boatmen were on a southern trip. Yes-terday Alderman Donohue came to Co-lumbia with the warrants, placed them in the hands of Officers Wittick and Gilbert and last night Litey and Wagner were captured along the Tide Water canal, Alderman Donohue took the prisoners to Wilkesbarre this afternoon. The boatmen are well known in Columbia, Litey favorably, Wagner otherwise. On last Monday Tay'or was supposed to be in a dying con-

BOWERS & HURST. Guilty to Voluntary Massiaughter.

Guilty to Volumbary Massiaughter. Thesday Afternoon — The trial of Joseph Halder, of Columbia, for maintaining a nuisance, occupied the attention of the sourt all of Tuesday afternoon. A large number of witnesses were called on the part of the commonwealth, all of whom testified that defendant's bone boiling establishment was a nuisance and injuri-ous to the health of those residing in its vicinity. For the defense a number of witnesses were called, and testified that their places of business were within two or three hundred yards of Halder's establishment and they were not annoyed by the smell. On trial Tuesday Ecening.—Coursel concluded argument in the Halder nuisance case, the jury retired to deliberate and had not agreed upon a verdict when court ad ourned Hilton Rupert was indicted for sodomy. A number of witnesses were called by the commonwealth and testified to the facts of the case. For the defense a number of witnesses testified that the accused was of unsound mind. The court directed the or unsound mind. The coart directed the jury to render a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity, and Rupert will be transferred to the county insane asylum. their plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty of voluntary manslaughter. Counsel asked that sentence be suspended until Saturday, and that request was granted. They further stated that under the circumstances, the commonwealth's attorneys joined with them in a plea to the court for a light sentence for Parker and Thomas. The prisoners were remanded o prison until Saturday. Jacob D. Warfel was indicted for false pretense. David Killinger appeared as the prosecutor, and he testified that War-fel induced him to endorse a note for $100 by representing to him that he was the owner of two properties and that a man named Shirk owed him $600. The note went to protest. Killinger learned that the representations were false and he entered this snit.

The defendant testified that he was the owner of two properties when Killinger endorsed the note, and in support of his testimony deeds for two properties in Wartel's name were offered in evidence. In rebuttal the commonwealth called number of witnesses who testified that Warfel's reputation for telling the truth was bad, and they would not believe him on eath. Jury out.

They Adopt Resolutions Demonstrag the Usal and Freight Complusition by Whith Manufactures are Depressed. READING, Pa., Dec 10.-Copies of the resolutions passed by the Reading board of trade were sont to-day to every railroad company in this section of the country. The resolutions endorsed the movement of the Eastern Pennsylamic the Eastern Pennsylvania manufacturers to hold a meeting next month to protest against the continuation of the coal pool, against the continuation of the coal pool, and also declare that the business depres-sion in the Lebanon and Schuylkill val-leys is due to the coal combination which, owing to the consequent high price of coal, is virtually shutting up many manu-factories. The resolutions also denounce the freight monoply.

The Eastern Pig Iron association will meet in Philadelphia Dec. 20, and among other things will consider the subject of other things will cousider the subject of "cheaper coal as a necessity to save the pig iron business of this section from absolute ruin." The matter of lower freight rates will also be considered. Pig iron manufacturers consume 1.12 of all the coal mined in the state, and the iron trade generally uses  $\frac{1}{2}$  of all coal mined. Coal and iron constitute  $\frac{2}{3}$  of all the freight carried on the railroads in this state. The iron man do not propose to state. The iron men do not propose to reduce the wages of their men. Railroad monopolies must be shown up and the responsibility of dull times and no work placed where it really belongs. If coal prices were not kept up to an exorbitant prices were not kept up to an exorbitant figure by the pool (which amounts to a conspiracy) then coal would be cheaper, and the iron men could go ahead and give the people work. The iron could be produced cheap enough to compete with Southern Iron. Prices for coal are at least \$3 per ton higher than they should be. Wages in the East among iron workers are for lower these theres iron workers are far lower than those in the west, simply because coal is higher in price here. Yet in East Pennsylvania is the best coal and the Almighty his placed it there in the most abundant quantities. Then why should workingmen starve because a conspiracy of coal kings keeps up the prices of coal and thereby stops mills and furnaces and throws thousands out of work. A strong throws thousands out of work. A strong appeal is to be made by the iron men to the coal kings, and if oheaper coal is not fortheoming the furnaces will have to be closed. The P. & R. Co. and Lehigh Valley will be specially appealed to. The P. & R., by its high coal rates, has lost a coal of housings. great deal of business.

Harriet McKinney, a light colored mu-latto, and Jacob Sweigart, a white man, re-siding in this city, were arrested on Tuesday night by Officers Stormfeltz and Merringer. Harriet is a married woman, the wife of a Strasburg barber, and Sweigart is said to be a widower. Sweigart made the acquaintance of Mrs. Mo-Kinney at Strasburg last summer, and from that time it is alleged she received Sweigart's attentions whenever her hus-band was absent. McKinney sometime ago became suspicious and when his wile made an excuse for coming to town yester day, he decided upon following her. He learned that she met Sweigart and he finally traced the pair to the house of Mrs<sup>4</sup> ry on Church street, and they were Complaint was made against Mrs. Mc-Kinney and Sweigart before Alderman A.
