The principal topic of discussion among tobacco men here and elsewhere, is the Spanish reciprocity treaty recently tobacco men here and elsewhere, is the Spanish reciprocity treaty recently negotiated by Minister Foster with the Spanish government, and now being considered by the United States Senate. A majority of cigar manufacturers oppose it on the ground that the admission into the United States of Havana cigars at one-half the tariff rate now imposed would cheapen the price of them, and thus cripple if it did not close up our manufacture and 25 hhds taken for home manufacture and 25 hhds for export.

Baltimore Market

Receipts continue light. The market for Maryland is held very firm, and the demand from shippers absorbs all desirable samples offering at full prices. Of Ohio leaf causes a constant redection of stock in factors' hands and firm prices to be maintained. We note sales of 103 hhds taken for home manufacture and 25 hhds for export. the United States of Havana cigars at one-half the tariff rate now imposed would cheapen the price of them, and thus cripple if it did not close up our manufactories of fine cigars. While they oppose lowering the duty on the manufactured cigars, they generally favor the reduced duty on the leaf tobacco, because they could then buy it a great deal cheaper than now, sell a much larger portion of Havana cigars, and have a correspondingly greater profit in their manufacture.

greater profit in their manufacture.

For these very reasons the grower of seed leaf opposes the treaty. He argues that the mere Havana cigars that are smoked the less will be the number of seed leaf will become less profitable. He consoles himself, however, with the reflection that if the treaty should be retified be will have the right to expert ratified, he will have the right to export to Cubs, almost free of duty, the tobacco grown in Lancaster county, which under existing laws is forbidden.

Tobacco packers and dealers are divided in opinion as to the merits of the treaty. Those who deal in domestic tobaccos are generally opposed to it, while those who dabble in Cuba and Sumatra leaf generally favor it.

In an interview with a representa-tive of the N. Y. Tobacco Journal Minister Foster, who negotiated the treaty, is re-presented as saying:
"I think that when the tobacco trade

come to understand the treaty, they will not be so opposed to it. I want it to be understood that the treaty is not my child. I simply acted as the instructions. I came over here last summer for the express purpose of getting the views of the president and of getting instructions as to how to proceed. I have only a general knowledge of the tobacco trade of this country and I used the pres ent tariff law as a guide in my negotia-tions. I scaled the present tariff exactly 50 per cent. The tobacco clause of the treaty is exactly the language of the pres-ent tariff on tobacco with the figures re-unction of the control of the contro equalise things better to have a uniform I regard the treaty as the greatest step his country taken in this century. It ha always been the dream of American nan for the United States to control the trade of the American continent. If this treaty is ratified, it is a giant step to-ward the fulfillment of that dream. We shall then control the trade of Cubs and Porto Rico, which amounts to about $70,000,000 a year, and all the other South $70,000,000 a year, and all the other South American countries will follow in Cuba's footsteps. There are a number of treaties now pending with South American countries, all of which depend upon the success of the Spanish treaty. You know that we have also pending a treaty with Mexico. We must find new outlets for our manufactures. Any improvement at all, however slight, will stimulate our manufacturing industries and cause a revival of business in this and cause a revival of business in this country. This Spaniah treaty will greatly benefit American trade, not so much possibly in itself, but in the consequence that will follow. I know the tobacco trade will follow. I make the tobacco trade will have to make serifices, but they ought to be willing to make them for the general good. Besides, if they will accept the treaty, they can have or get any relief from any burdens they are now suffering under."

The Tobacco Journal favors the treaty,

and says in an editorial:

"Let the cigars come in at the rate proposed, which is 12½ per cent. ad valorem and $1.25 per pound. Then, figuring at the almost certainty of abolition of the the almost certainty of abolition of the internal revenue, such cigars would be laid down here at less than $45. The wages in Havana are acknowledged to be from 50 to 100 per cent higher. Now let the Havana tobacoo come in free here, and then we can make better and cheaper cigars here than they do in Cuba. Without going into further details in this matter we only once more refer to the fact of our mountains of unsalable tobacco, which, if the duty on Havana leaf is taken which, if the duty on Havana leaf is taken off, will have a broad and paying channe of cutlet."

The Tobacco Leaf opposes the treaty, and in its opposition is backed by a large majority of manufacturers, one of whom is reported as saying: "Cuba manufactured annually 200,000,000 eigars, of which 50,000,000, came to this country. On these the tariff was $2.50 a pound and 25 per cent. ad valorem in addition. Fine eigars were made in Havana by slave labor for $40 a thousand. The present duty was about $40. Now, if half of that was taken off, then a fine Havana eigar could be landed in this country for $60 a thousand and could be retailed here for three for a quarter, and in that case, what becomes of our could be retailed here for three for a quarter, and in that case, what becomes of our Havana filled cigars ?"

To which a consumer responds: "There are 10,000,000 cigar smokers in the United States; 50,000,000 cigars is just five apisce per annum. If these cigars can be had 'three for a quarter' why should we pay a quarter apiece for them or be obliged to smoke 'stinkers?"

THE NEW YORK MARKET. THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Leaf reports that sales of Western leaf amount to about 150 hogsheads, of which 100 were for export.

In Virginia leaf some business was done in old bright cutters to 22 to 27 to. No sales for bright wrappers, although there is a fine stock here. A few Burleys were sold at 14 to 17c.

The publication of the Spanish treaty has had the effect of curtailing transactions in Spanish tobacco to actual necessities; sales 800 bales at 70 to $1. Demand for Sumatra has also decreased; sales.

The local tobacoo market is as dull as it well can be. About 150 cases of '83 leaf was sold during the past week, and about 200 cases of old, most of which was to supply the immediate wants of cigar manufacturers. There have been no sales of the '84 crop, and dealers say they won't touch it until after the holidays, and not then unless they know what is to be done
with the proposed Spanish treaty.

The farmers, meanwhile, are having
good weather for handling the new crops,
and are carefully preparing it for market.
The general report is that it is clean, fine
and of good color, though a part of it that was cut late shows a good deal of white vein.

The only sale of '84 leaf that we have heard of is a two acre lot of Havana seed, grown by John Mann, of Manor, and sold to George Brownstine, of California at 16, 6 and 3.

The principal tonic of discussion among

ture and 25 hids for export.

Baltimore possesses peculiar advantages for maintaining its permanence as a tobacco market. It is a planter's as well as seaboard market. The entire growth of the state of Maryland, consisting of about 40,000 hogsheads, comes directly to this city, where the purchasers, mostly agents for manufacturers, are permanently established. The entire Ohio crop, about 18,000 hogsheads also comes directly here.

lisbed. The entire Ohio crop, about 18,000 hogsheads, also comes directly here, and it may be said of both these crops that they are more directly purchased by the manufacturers than any other crops of tobacco in the United States, because in handling all the other crops there is a larger proportion of "middlemen" who must necessarily desire some profit.

The Maryland crop is taken mostly by foreign demand, comparative little being used in this country. For example, in 1884, the French government takes about 12,000 to 18,000 hogsheads, and the rest of the crop is mostly taken between Germany and Holland. A small portion, not more than about 2,000 hogsheads, is used in this country.

Hotheration Among the Doctors.
There is a breeze in the St. Louis medical society, over certain breaches of the code. Several physicians had "specialties" and advertised them. This being contrary to medical etiquette, necessitated the resignation of these physicians. How queer it seems that when a good means of cure is jound, anybody should object to make it public. It is no secret that many physicians use Brown's Iron Bitters in their regular practice, with the happiest effect. Dr. M. E. Doughiry, Franklin, Va., asys, "I am highly pleased with Brown's Iron Bitters, and believe it to be superior to all other preparations."

Many old soldiers remember "the dead line" a Andersonville. It was a mighty dangerous neighborhood. Dyspepsia, biliousness, and the sick, but Burdon seases are full of perils for tain remedy. Sold everywhere are a cerby H. B. Cochran, druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street.

It has never failed to cure the most severe colds I have had, and invariably relieves the pain in the chest."
