MEN IN A BURNING ELEVATOR.

morning flames burst from the of flainwater & Stearns in Lamar it was soon noised about that two in the building and hardly had the in the top story. The excitement intense. Mr. Ratuwater, though from rheumatism, was quickly on al, and offered $2,000 reward for the case of the men supposed to be in ling. He explained the manner in a elevator was built, and said if the ff egress by the stairs there was no the windows were 14 feet from the d could not be reached without a Isoder was run up to the window from the the hat came, but the man who went was driven away by the flames and oke. The ladder was then lowered, and efforts were directed toward suppressing fire. It soon enveloped the whole inside he building, burning away the supports he second floor, letting down the mass of in, which poured out of the door. The rred form of a mancame with it, which quickly taken up, placed on a blanket taken to the morgue. Soon another y came through the same floor, but it was takly covered by the grain, and the toting second story prevented its recovery. Bedy removed was charred beyond all ognition. The feet to the knees and the dato the elbows were burned off, and not stige of skin was left to tell whether the i was white or black.

vestige of skin was lett to tell whether the name was white or black.

The men in the elevator were John Keller and Joseph Evans. Keller was an unmarised white man, 25 years of age and had been in the employ of the firm for years. Evans as a colored man, 30 years of age, and had leso been with Rainwater for years. He was married man and had one child.

A boy about 12 years of age named Dean, a missing, and is believed to have also been purned up, as he was generally about the levator and was in the building just before teaught fire.

A BASE BALL FEAT.

How Paul Hines Intends to Catch the Highest "Sky-Scraper" on Record.

Mr. McLaughlin, the superintendent of the Washington monument, has made a bet with Paul Hines, the noted centre field of the ampion Providence base ball nine, that the cannot eatch a base ball dropped by McLaughlin out of the window near the top onument. This might seem an easy natter for a good ball player to do, but a mont's reflection will show that McLaughlin, who has spent years on the shaft, under-stands its various problems pretty thoroughly.

The monument, by its isolation and plainness, deceives everybody in respect to its real height. It is, for instance, higher than the Palisades at any point, and nearly twice as high at some levels, as from the windows to the base is about 515 feet. This distance is nearly twice as great as from the top of Trinity church spire to the ground. A man at this elevation looks like an insect, and to ordinary mortals certainly a base ball would be invisible. I have forgetten the formula for the law of falling bodies, but Mr. Hines will probably be able to tell his friends what it is if he gets his hands on a new base ball thrown out of that window. But he will have to "judge" the "fly" as well as "hold" it, for the monument will suck in town is it the tiny satellite, making the ball describe a curve different from the parabolas of the outfield. However, Mr. Hines thinks he can eateh the ball, and it will be interesting to see him try to do it. He is said to be the best fielder in the profession.

THEY ALL INSURE THEIR LIVES. Merchants, Bankers, and Railroad Men Insur-for Immense Amounts. Jno. B. Stetson, of Philadelphia, hat manufacturer at Fourth and Montgomery avenue is one of the largest life insurance policy holders in the world. He pays premiums on $720,000. He has $360,000 on his own life. Theodore B. Peterson and Richard Peterson, the booksellers, each have policies for $100, 000. Frank B. Gowen, ex-president of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad company, carries a $125,000 policy. Thomas Dolan, the carpet manufacturer, pays premiums on $100,-000; Hamilton Disston has in the vault of a well-known safe deposite company policies for $510,000; Join Wanamaker pays premiums on $250,000; B. Sayre, of the same company, is insured for $100,000. Mackellar, Smiths & Jordan, the type founders, are insured for nearly a quarter of a million. W. R. Clyde is insured for $150,000. There are at least 200 for $510,000; John Wanamaker pays premiums others who have policies of from $25,000 to $50,000.

In New York, William H. Vanderbilt is insured for $620,000. Every policy he owns has been issued within the last five years. Jay Gould made up his mind a dozen years ago to insure his life, and year by year has added to the amount until he can produce policies for $490,000, which he calls his emergency fund. Pierce Lorillard has $255,000 on his life. F. W. Devoe, the New York paint manufacturer, carries policies for $250,000. Cyrus W. Field's life is insured for $240,000. Alexander Barrett and F. B.
