Columnia, Des 22.—In colonial times there were eventy-eight islands in the Susquebassia river, containing 3,176% acres and later dive containing 80 acres, and three containing 100% acres. At the junction of the Juniala and Susquebanua rivers, there was one bland containing 305½ acres, and another containing 22 acres.

If would be of some interest to know how many of these islands have increased any of these islands have increased size, or been diminished in size, have disappeared entirely. Mundorfs and has increased five or six times its iginal dimensions. Hill island, formerly bason's pow Urban's island. n's, now Urban's Island, at Peach ottom, has increased very much in its area. As a rule, all islands have increased where their heads have been properly protected by trees, or artificial walls.

More than fifty years ago, an ark loaded with stone and coal, sank just below the old pridge in the raft channel, and an island was bridge in the raft channel, and an island was formed upon it, which contained about an acre of ground upon which were growing a number of trees, several inches in diameter; about 41 years ago when the ice moved, it cut into the sides and turned the island upside down, and in a few hours not a single vestige was left to mark the spot where it stood. The water at that point from that period to the present time has been ten to twelve feet deep.

The islands opposite the lower end of Washington were called the "Isles of Promise." It is probable that there was a much larger channel between the islands opposite the Bine Rock, as that was the course by which the ferry boats were taken by Cressop, Ross and Emerson, who owned the ferry.

This ferry was so dotted with trees that it was impossible to see the lower from the upper end. If the ferry boat was desired at either end its attention had to be signaled to by one shot from a gun.

Pavements and streets, alike, yesterday, were in a miserable condition for walking, but the latter was probably the safest, as snow-sides from house tops were in danger of striking a street walker. Several accidents occurred by sides failing upon pavement walkers, but no serious injury was done.

Owing to yesterday and to-day's thaw, ice cutting is postponed for the time being, the ice in the river being slushy and unsound. Several teams crossed the ice yeeterday, but it will be dangerous to do so to-day.

Hundreds of our young men enjoyed skating on the river yesterday. This pleasure had also better be postponed for the present, as the ice is anything but safe.

TWO OLD CITIZENS GONE. Warwick Township Loses Two of its Life-ton

Warwick township, this county, has re-cently lost two old Democrats in the deaths of Charles Rudolph Kreiter, of Warwick, and Hiram Kline, of Lexington. Both these gen-tiemen were brought up and lived in the doc-trines of Democracy, never flinching or wa-vering throughout the many years of defeat. vering throughout the many years of defeat. They stood by the party, saw its defeat in 1866, but lived to see it restored to victory.

Charles Rudolph Kreiter died on Sunday

orning at 8 o'clock, after a lingering illness. He was the oldest native-born citizen of Little. He first saw light on March 10, 1812, in the house now owned by Julius Sturgis. Deceased was a son of the late Benjamin Kreiter, at one time prothonotary of Laneaster county; he resided in the vicinity of Lititz nearly all his life and was well-known throughout this and Berks, Dauphin and Cumberland counties. He learned the millwright trade when quite young and gained a wide reputation for the unusual skill he displayed in connection with that trade. He was respected by all who knew him, for his sterling qualities and for his punctuality in attending to the wants of his patrons. Later in life he owned and operated a door and sash factory, but losing the four fingers of his right hand
at the age of 54 he relinquished that oussiness and lived thereafter a rather retired life. A wife, who is five days his senior, and eight children survive* him. He was married 49 years ago on Christmas Day.

Death of Hiram Kline. Hiram Kline, a life-long resident of Warwick township, died on Friday evening of rheumatism of the heart, after an illness of ten days. He was well known as a good, genial person and was highly esteemed by all who knew him, being foremost in aiding or advocating any worthy cause. He won respect by his kindness and lived an honorable and useful life. His efforts to serve his Master were marked by the characteristics of a good Christian, and he died in the belief that the salvation of his soul was eternal bliss. He was a loving husband and a kind father, rearing his children in the same path led by himself. Mr. Kline was a skilled farmer and made agriculture a careful study. A Colored Cremation Orator. Rev. Mathew Mark Diggs, colored, announces that on the night of Thursday, Jan. 8th, he will deliver a lecture in the colored church, in Faegleysville, on the subject of "Cremation." This will be a rather difficult subject for this well known orator, and a large audience will no doubt attend to hear his wrestle with it. A Banner on Fire. Yesterday Mrs. Kylie tied a large banner o the iron railing on the steps of the INTEL-LIGENCER business office. On the top was a lighted candle which finally burned down to the paper. The affair caught fire and was destroyed in a few minutes, but not before quite a crowd had gathered. INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulars never intended as a beverage, but to be use was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of greater potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweeps away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive, we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable disease. Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than BRANDY.

The aged, with feeble appetite, and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY

For all their ills and aches. Be it, however, strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

Regart's Old Brandy,

Sold by our enterprising friend, H. E. SLAY-MAKER. This brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our expenence extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandles—no matter with how many law breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics, would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the carative power of REIGART'S OLD BRANDY In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers of the constive power of REIGART'S OLD BRANDY In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers of witnesses—one case in particular we will cite: A hard working farmer had been afflicted with an exhausting Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour cructations constantly—no appetite—in fact he was obliged to restrict his slict to crackers and state bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as new, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed carnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try REIGART'S OLD BRANDY.

In his case, he hooked up with astonishment; but after hearing of his wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy fathfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was all taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which he choose to cat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine, he has been of very little pecutiary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.
