General Wolselsoy has received a small piece of paper with General Gordon's genuine seal on the back, dated December 14, saying that Khartoum is all right. dispatch has been received from the Mudir stating that an Arab from the Mahdi's camp has reached Dongola. He affirms that the Mahdi's followers are gathered in force at Mizenelnek, twelve hours march south of Omderman. They have repeatedly attacked Omderman, but have been repulsed with heavy loss and compelled to retreat to Mizenelnek.

General Gordon, npon learning that Bedonin Arabs came to the wells during the night, sent armed beats to guard the wells and prevent access thereto, thereby causing great suffering among the rebels, many of whom have died from small-pox and dyséntery. The Mahdi therefore withdrew his army to Jabbara, two days from Omderman. Several tribes subsequently deserted.

The Mahdi then told the principal chiefs that he intended to march against the Mudir of Dongola. The chiefs professed readmess to follow if the Mahdi would charm off the bullets of the enemy by leading instead of following his troops. The next day the Mahdi told the chiefs he had seen in a dream that the Mudir was a saint against whom it was useless to fight. This statement caused great alarm in the Mahdi's camp.

General Gordon's note is not an inch square. The paper was rolled up about the size of a

The paper was rolled up about the size of a pin and was sewed in a seam of one of the messenger's garments. General Gordon es-timates the Mahdi's force at from 20,000 to 80,000. The messenger adds that in a recent engagement one of the enemy's guns was

The garrison is able to hold out. General The garrison is able to hold out. General Gordon spends his nights in a casseless watch visiting the outpests to see that every sentry is on the alert. He has two pelaces, with a gun mounted on each of them. He has always examined the guns at day break in order that he may assure himself that they are properly primed and ready for action. He hen lies down and sleeps during the greater part of the day. General Gordon is described as cheerful. The men are well supplied with tobacco. Five boats of the Black Watch contingent have arrived at Kroti, having accomplished the journey in a shorter time than any body of troops that has Kroti, having accomplished the journey in a shorter time than any body of troops that has preceded them. The company of Hussars which were sent ahead yesterday to prepare tea and which took the wrong path found a camp of Nomad Arabs from whom they learned that there was no hostile forces within many days march, and that numerous camels could be procured from this and other tribas if processary. tribes if necessary.

The Profits of Orchards.

From the Country Gentleman. The abundant supply of apples the past season, and the low prices they have brought in market, have induced many landowners to hesitate in planting for future profit, and some are even prepared to cut down their trees. This result teaches a useful lesson-to plant less in number and give better care and cultivation. Many have been so eager to grow rich fast, that they have extended their rchards beyond their ability to give them the best management. The crops have been large, but of moderate or poor quality. A certain amount of expense must always incurred in gathering, packing and shipping the fruit, and if the prices obtained are sufficient only for covering all these expenses nothing is gained. Half as many, if wellgrown and excellent in quality and appearance, may sell for a higher price, and give positive and satisfactory returns. The man who raises fine fruit, carefully assorts, packs well, and marks his name on all his packwell, and marks his name on all his packages, will ultimately acquire a reputation among purchasers by which he can always obtain a ready and good market when the country is flooded with second-rate products.
The aim for success should therefore be to select the best varieties, give the trees the best cultivation, prune to prevent a mass of brush, destroy insects, gather carefully, assort the best, pack securely, and ship to intelli-gent and competent venders who know the difference between the fluest and only difference between the finest and only medium truit, and who can take advantage of this difference in supplying purchasers.

A PRETIY WAITRESS WILES.

A Canadian Farmer is Deceived by a Young Girl Who Promises Marriage. Edward Timmins left Rochester, N. Y., recently in a sad and disgusted state of mind. He is a wealthy farmer, whose property is near Northport, Canada. Last summer, his wife having been buried two years, he went to one of the fashionable hotels in the Thousand Islands for recreation. He there nuct Miss Islands for recreation. He there met Miss Jesnie Ellenner, a plump, pretty, fascinating able waitress. He lost his heart and proposed marriage. She accepted on condition that she should find his home to correspond with the big stories he told her of its luxury and comfort. He went home and sent her $20 to pay her expenses for a visit to his house, which she did. She seemed satisfied and fixed the date of the mptials for December 18 at the home of her aunt in Rochester.

In order that she should cease the menial work of a waitress he sent her $100 in greenbacks to keep her until her marriage. He next sent her another $100 for her wedding outfit. When Timmins came he searched outfit. When Timmins came he searched Rochester through and through for the alleged aunt, but could not find that any such woman lived here. He then tried to find out what had become of the intended bride, but his letters to her last address remained un-answered, and he is now not only broken hearted but disgusted. He has gone to Clay-ton to look for Jennie, whom he finally believes may be an adventuress.

Bathing in the Far East.

The Japanese bathe to an excess, using such hot water that fatal syncope is an occasio val consequence. With the Japs the bath is a sensuous luxury. On the other hand, their neighbors, the Chinese, get inside as their i.eighbors, the Chinese, get inside as much clothing as possible, and are never seen in the streams with which their country abounds, bailing or swimming. To go barefoot, except from dire necessity, is with them indecent. The Malays and the natives of Aden are many of them scarcely less than human ducks. A bit of silver cannot reach the bottom of the sea before they have it. The Hindoos and Brahmins bathe—especially in the Ganges—as a religious exercise, ally in the Ganges—as a religious exercise, smearing the body with oil first, if they can afford it.

MY LOVE AND I.

We loved each other, my love and I; and the wind sighed low through the tasseled corn.
The bobolink sank in the dewy morn.
And the brook ran merrily by.

We loved each other, my love and 1; And the quait piped low mid the yellow corn; We heard in the distance the huntsman's horn, And the leaves were brown and dry.

We looked to the future, my love and 1, The future so crowded with hopes and fears, That turns our smiles so often to tears, As the days pass weardy by.

He spoke of the time when we two should dwell Together beneath fair Southern skies, Where the rose in its fragrance never dies, And love hears no parting knell.

The corn was garnered long years ago, The bebolink's song is heard no more; Only a shadow falls through the door Where he used to come and go.

The sea is wide, and it lies between my love and me; my love and me; where the flowers bloomed dead leaves now lie and the grass o'er his grave is green.

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

PARKER'S TONIC. Bulwer Lytton's Bridge.

m21ydW&S&w

"What a beautiful bridge between Old age and childhood is religion. How intuitively the child begins with prayer and worship on entering life, and how intuitively, on quitting life, the old man turns back to prayer and worship, putting himself again side by side with the infant," remarks E. Bulwer, Lytton in his "Strange Story." Yes, but between its distant abutments the bridge of life has many high and awful arches, through which the wild waters dash and roar in wrath and desolution. Prayer and worship alone do not sustain these. Nature's soid rocks must lie unshaken beneath, and human art and skill must rear and solidity the structure overhead. God's will is best exemplified in the law's lie has made for the creatures whom He has placed under their control. Neither the child's trustful "Our Father." nor the old man's "Forget me not in the midst of mine infirmities," will ailter this by the weight of a single grain.

Science and art first—then faith and prayer—is the order of Heaven itself. Divinity heals through its agents, and those agents are the discoveries of man; not the vague announcements of prophets or seers. Is life a burden to you; Does time drag? Is your power to cope with life's problem and duties weakened? You are not well. Your blood is singgish or tainted, perhaps; or some important organ is torpid or overworked. This fact may have lake the form of dyspepsia, rheumatism, gout, malaria, pains in the stomach, chronic headache, or any of a dozen other fils. PARKER's TOMIC will lavigorate you, as fresh air lavigorates those who have been shut up in damp, fetid cells. It is powerful, pure, delicious, scientific, safe—the keystone of the central-arch of the bridge of life, deci-imd8&w WHERE IT TOUCHES THE SHORE AND THE GREAT COLUMNS IN MID-STREAM.
