LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

It was Saturday night, and two children small,
Sat on the stairs in the lighted hall,
Vexed and troubled and sore perplexed,
To learn for Sunday the forgotten text,
Only three words on a gilded card,
But both the children declared it hard.

"Love," that is easy—it means, why, this—"
(A warm embrace, and a loving kiss.)
"But 'one another,' I don't see who
Is meant by 'another'—now, May, do you?"

Very grandly she raised her head,
Our thoughtful darling, and slowly said,
As she fondly smiled on the little brother,
"Why, I am only only one, and you are another,
And this is the meaning—don't you see?—
That I must love you, and you must love me."

Wise little preacher, could any sage
Interpret better the sacred page?

THE SEA OF DREAMS.

There are many blessed islands
Lying in the sea of dreams,
From whose glorious palm-crowned highlands
Daylight never dies, it seems:
Where in the hushes of the thunder
Of the surf falls down the wonder
Of soft, silver-singing streams,

And forever drifting, drifting
Past their curbing shores of sand,
You and I, sad eyes uplifting,
Pass and pass but dare not land,
What though singing sirens beckon,
There has never touched, I reckon,
Mortal bark upon that strand.

—E. O. Cooke.

GEN. SHERMAN'S LETTER.

The Grief of a Brave Soldier Over the Death of His Boy.

Captain C. C. Smith, of the treasury department, lately found among his war letters the following from General Sherman, written soon after his son Willie died at Memphis:

"GAYOSO HOUSE, MEMPHIS, TENN., October 4, 1863.

"Capt. C. C. Smith, commanding Battalion Thirteen, U. S. Regulars:

"MY DEAR FRIEND.—I cannot sleep tonight till I record an expression of the deep feeling of my heart to you, and to the officers and soldiers of the battalion for their kind behavior to my poor child. I realize that you all feel for my family the attachment of kindred, and I assure you of full reciprocity. Consistent with a sense of duty to my profession and officers, I could not leave my post, and sent for the family to come to me in that fatal climate, and in that sickly period of the year, and behold the result! The child that bore my name, and in whose future I reposed more confidence than I did in my own plan of life, now floats a mere corpse, seeking a grave in a distant land, with a weeping mother, brother and sister clustered about him. For myself, I ask no sympathy. I go on, I must go to meet a soldier's fate, or live to see our country rise superior to all factions till its flag is adored and respected by ourselves and by all the Powers on the earth.

"But Willie was, or thought he was, a sergeant in the Thirteenth. I have seen his eyes brighten, his heart beat, as he beheld the batallion under arms, and asked me if they were not real soldiers. Child as he was, he had the enthusiasm, the pure love of truth, honor and love of country which should animate all soldiers. God only knows why he should die thus young. He is dead, but will not be forgotten till those who knew him in life have followed him to that same mysterious end.

"Please convey to the battalion my heartfelt thanks, and assure each and all that if in after years they call on me or mine, and mention that they were of the Thirteenth Regulars when Willie was a sergeant, they will have a key to the affections of my family that will open all it has; that we will share with them our last blanket, our last crust. Your friend

"W. T. SHERMAN, Major-General."

Slaves in Petticoats.

From the Chicago Times.

In Germany women do most of the menial out-of-door work. Switzerland is the only country in continental Europe where peasant women are not obliged to do all the hard work. A woman was seen recently in Naples carrying a coffin on her head, chatting gayly with a man who walked empty-handed at her side. Not infrequently a woman and a cow are seen together pulling a coal cart through the streets of a North German city, a man touching them up, gently, to be sure, with a whip as he walks beside them. In Denmark it is not an unusual to see a woman high up in a cherry tree picking the fruit, while a man lies at the foot waiting to place the ladder when she shall be ready to come down with her burden. "In upper Australia," writes a correspondent, "I saw a slight and very pretty young girl carrying the mortar up to the second story of a building, while a man waited there to put it in place when she arrived." A correspondent reports having seen a woman in Holland drawing a canal boat, bent nearly double with the leathern harness as she trudged along the towpath, a man sitting at his ease in the boat smoking.

"Old Isaacs'" Heart Touched.

From the Toronto Globe.

"Old Isaacs" is a well-know disorderly character of New York, who spends most of his time in prison. The other day he received a ten days sentence, and the next one called was a pretty and well-dressed girl of about 18. "Drunk" was the charge against her. The girl's tears failed to soften the judge, and the customary sentence of $5 was awarded. Neither she nor her companion had the money, and the court officers were leading her away sobbing as if her heart would break, when "Old Isaacs," shambling up the clerk's desk and diving into his inner vest pocket, drew fourth a dirt-begrimed wallet, from which he took a carefully folded bill, laid it down on the desk and said in a half whisper: "There's the fine for her"—jerking his thumb toward the girl. "She's too pretty to go to jail, and I had a daughter like her once." Then, shambling back, he took his place in the line again.

One of Burdette's Six Jokes.

'Ah! life is worth living, after all. Should there be any inquiry for me at the Eagle office, please tell the inquirers to stand a little farther back, shade their eyes and look clear up to the sharp point on the tip top pinnacle of human ambition. I am now sitting right there. To-day in my mail I received a letter from a resident of Connecticut, saying: "Will the author of 'Twenty Years in Congress' kindly send the subscriber his autograph, and oblige an ardent admirer." Now, do not ask me who I think will be in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet. I no longer care. I stand on the necks of presidents. By this remark I mean no disparagement to the neckedst president.

RHEUMATISM. "Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism, so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS."

PARKERS'S TONIC.

STORIES ON THE ROAD.

Commercial Travelers at a Wayside Inn--Something to Put in a Gripsack.

"Gentlemen, I almost envy you the positions you fill; your experience of the world; your knowledge of business; the changing sights you see, and all that, you know.

This warmly expressed regret fell from the lips of an elderly pleasure tourist, last August, and was addressed to a semi-circle of commercial travelers seated on the porch of the Lindell hotel, St. Louis, Mo.

"Yes," responded a New York representative of the profession, "a drummer isn't without his pleasures, but he runs his risks, too—risks outside the chances of railroad collisions and steamboat explosions."

"What risks for instance?"

"This, for instance," said Mr. W. D. Franklin, who was then traveling for an Eastern house, and is known to merchants in all parts of the country: "The risk—which, indeed, amounts to almost a certainty—of getting the dyspepsia from perpetual change of diet and water, and from having no fixed hours for eating and sleeping. I myself was an example, I say was, for I am all right now."

"No discount on your digestion?" broke in a Chicago dry goods traveler, lighting his cigar afresh.

"Not a quarter per cent. But I had to give up traveling for awhile. The dyspepsia ruined my paper. Finally I came across an advertisement of PARKER'S TONIC. I tried it and it fixed me up to perfection. There is nothing on earth, in my opinion, equal to it as a cure for dyspepsia. Messrs. Hiscox & Co., of New York, the proprietors, hold a letter from Mr. Franklin stating that precise fact. PARKER'S TONIC aids digestion, cures Malarial Fevers, Heartburn, Headache, Coughs and Colds, and all chronic diseases of the Liver and Kidneys. Put a bottle in your valise. Prices, 50c. and $1.
