

STRIKERS ON THE MARCH.

The strikers caused by rioting South Bend, Ind., Employers. Monday a number of employees at the Oliver Chilled Plow works, at South Bend, Ind., struck for higher wages and compelled all the men to quit. At an early hour Tuesday morning two hundred of the strikers congregated in front of the gate and would not allow anyone to pass. Those who tried to pass through the gate were severely beaten. Officer Kelly, who tried to quiet the mob, was shot through the scalp and badly wounded. Captain E. Nier attempted to go into the office and was attacked with clubs. He was badly beaten about the head, but he finally succeeded in getting in and locking the door. He is now a prisoner in the office, his only communication being by telephone to the city. The Veteran Guards of the G. A. R. mustered about seventy men to assist Captain Nier, who is a member of the guards. The sheriff empowered them to act as state militia to preserve the peace and disperse the strikers. On hearing this some of the strikers left the vicinity of the works. The following persons were taken into custody by Captain Nier, Mr. Card, Officer Kelly and Jacob Barnhart, the foreman in the plant shop.

An immense crowd followed the guard to the factory. Great excitement prevails in the city. Further investigation shows that last evening between four and five o'clock about two hundred strikers and armed themselves with iron rods and clubs, marched to the other departments of the factory and forced the other employees to quit work. When the men refused to do so they were attacked and brutally beaten. The rioters went out and the rioters finally went to the engine room and forced Roberts, the engineer, to shut down. Previous to this demonstration the superintendent, together with those grinders, who are principally Poles, with a few Hungarians, said that if they had any grievances to place them in writing and appoint a committee to present them and they would be considered. They refused to do this.

The causes which led to the rioting to-day are stated to be the reduction of wages. At this meeting it was determined that they would not accept a reduction of wages. The strikers proposed a reduction of twelve and a half per cent. on the average wages throughout the factory and the men of the Poles would not agree to this and went out and were out about three weeks. They then agreed to accept the reduction and went to work Dec. 28th, with the exception of the grinders in the previous strike, who the Oliver refused to take. The grinders insisted this time that they would not work at work make such an unreasonable demand that they knew the Oliver could not accept it. Before this outburst the men were earning an average of $1.50 a day. The strike was made without knowing whether the Oliver would or would not accede to their demands. It was intended to send a committee to them to consider their grievances.

STAMPED BY A SUICIDE.

An Old Cincinnati Firm Forced to the Wall by a Bangling Suicide. The sensational suicide of Herman Mack, in Cincinnati, was discovered Saturday evening after his dead body had hung for four days in a fashionable club house, was followed by the assignment of his employees, Messrs. Zollers, Sons, a wholesale dry-goods and auction firm. The liabilities are about $80,000. The assets, consisting of real estate in Cincinnati and Middletown, Ohio, and stock and personal property, are estimated at from $70,000 to $100,000. Preferences were made by the firm to the amount of nearly $10,000. The firm is 25 years old and has had a partner member, his two sons having been admitted to the partnership in 1882. The assignee is Samuel Wolfstetter, of Cincinnati.

BETTER HAVE NO AMUSEMENTS AT ALL.

From the Columbia Herald. THE INTELLIGENCER on Saturday's issue, takes exception editorially to the opinions of the musical and dramatic critics of Lancaster, and reads the troupe a lesson on the substitution of spangles and tinsel for genuine merit, and declares the idea that a low grade of performance can be done away with by cheap tricks, will tend to elevate those who prize them. It also reminds the troupe that advertising admission at ten cents and charging thirty cents for standing room, is in the English a "fraud." We are pleased to see our contemporary take this stand. Better have no amusements at all, than to bring them down to the order of concert-saloon performances for the reason that they are rendered at concert-saloon figures. Complimentary tickets are doing away with honest criticism, and as a result amusements are losing confidence in press testimonials, and we are often compelled to judge of the merits of a performance by experience. Better have good opera and high prices than ten-cent shows that leave in their wake vituperated tastes.

"Hazel Kirke" at the Opera House.

Last evening another large audience was present in the opera house to witness the play of "Hazel Kirke," by the Standard dramatic company. Although the piece is somewhat heavy for this company they did well considering, everything. Mr. and Mrs. Barry were very good as Dr. Kirke and Mrs. Kirke, and Lottie Stevenson, as Dolly Dutton, certainly pleased. Tom Daley took Mr. Magee's place and played Puffles Green, but as it was impossible for him to commit the part in so short a time, he was compelled to read it from the manuscript, and made a hit by his reading. This evening the company will play "The Factory Girl," and to-morrow evening "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be given.

The Will of a Well-Known Farmer.

From the Norristown News. The will of Henry A. Derr, late of this borough, was admitted to probate Thursday morning. The only bequest of a public nature is contained in the following: He gave to the trustees of the Humane Engine company No. 1, of Norristown, Pa., $1,000, the income to be paid into the horse committee's fund of said company forever. If at any time the authorities of the borough of Norristown should introduce a paid fire department or for any cause whatever said company should surrender its charter, then the bequest is to revert to the heirs of deceased.

Henry Robbed.

A chicken thief invaded the hen roost of Mr. E. Schaeffer Metzger, 233 east Chestnut street, last night and stole therefrom five fine fat pullets. The thief waving off the heads of the flock, and proceeding to the hen house, "Schaeffer" was prevented from following him. The thief who promises to put in practice if his thief returns.

Another Complaint Against Dennison.

Another complaint was filed against John E. Dennison yesterday. The prosecutor, Peter Duffenough appeared at the office of Alderman Barr, and made affidavits that Dennison by false and fraudulent representations obtained from him $2,000. A detainer was lodged at the county prison.

The Largest Porker.

From the Elizabeth Chronicle. Mr. Peter A. Rott, of West Chester, is no doubt ahead in raising large porkers, having slaughtered one last week that weighed 60 pounds, dressed. This is the heaviest one we have heard of in this neighborhood.

At the Soap House.

There were 200 number of soap obtained at the soap house to-day.

An Elegant Banquet.

Last evening an elegant banquet was given at Hotel Copland, North Queen street. Thirty-five gentlemen sat down to partake of it, although a number who were invited were unable to attend. The supper was prepared in Copland's best style and was very nice. During the progress of the banquet a number of songs were sung, stories related and speeches made, and all enjoyed themselves. The party broke up at midnight. The menu was as follows:

- Blue Potatoes a la Mode. Soup (cream of Tomato). Roast Wild Turkey. Boiled Potatoes. Baked Potatoes. Cranberry Sauce. Cucumber Salad. Cold Chicken. French Peas. Sardines on Toast. Boiled Quail on Toast. Coffee. Fruit.

Two Mothers Flashed to Two Mothers.

Two mothers in Atlanta, Ga., have received unexpected and sad news this week. Miss Carrie Keber was a student in a New York academy. While her mother was seated by the fire reading a loving letter, in which the young lady described the pleasures of Christmas, a rap at the door was heard, and a boy handed in a message announcing the sudden death of Miss Keber from pneumonia. Miss Lizzie Thomas recently went on a visit to Orange Court House, Va. While preparing to retire, Miss Thomas's clothing caught fire by coming in contact with the grate. She was so terribly burned that she died soon after. A telegram containing the sad intelligence was sent to the young lady's mother.

Funeral of the Late Amos S. Henderson.

The funeral of Amos S. Henderson took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The remains encoined in a black cloth covered cedar casket were borne in a hearse, followed by a long line of coaches, from the late residence of deceased, corner of East and Second streets, to St. James church, which was filled with mourners. The casket was placed in front of the altar, and the Episcopal burial services were conducted by Rev. Dr. C. F. Knight, pastor, assisted by Rev. L. M. Hardy, master of the choir. At the conclusion of the services, the funeral procession was reformed and proceeded to Lancaster cemetery, where the interment was held. The pallbearers were Dr. P. W. Williams, George M. Kline, D. G. Esleman, Henry Baumgardner, John D. Skiles and R. J. McFarman.

Crying Over Spilled Milk.

Had it not been for the fraud practiced upon the people by the management of Mr. Cameron's withdrawal, there is no room for doubt that a very decided majority of the Republican members of the legislature would have been free men, and not henchmen of the machine. Under the terms of the act, every member of the legislature who could not be walked there in open daylight, if he shall succeed at all, will be true to crookedness that was supposed to be straightforward action.

Democratic Congressional House Caucus.

A caucus of Democratic members of the House was held Thursday afternoon. It was announced that its object was to agree upon a plan of action during the remainder of the present session of Congress. No plan, however, was presented. Mr. Randall said that he had called the caucus merely to acquaint the members with the condition of the appropriation measures. He was of opinion that there would be no disagreement between the House and Senate on any of the appropriation bills, and that every appropriation bill would be passed before the 4th of March. He recommended that nothing should be done which would embarrass in any way the new administration.

The Darker Side of the World.

F. N. Wheeler, internal revenue storekeeper for the Fifth district of North Carolina, killed by an unknown person near Greensboro, on Friday last, and an investigation is taking place.

Presidential Nominations.

The president has nominated William A. Richardson to be chief justice of the supreme court in place of Justice McKim. Mr. Richardson is a native of Ohio, and was United States senator from Missouri from 1857 to 1871. In the latter he was appointed chief justice of the court of claims and became eligible for retirement in 1881.

False Pretense Case Settled.

W. J. Andrews was arrested this afternoon by Officer Alt on a warrant issued by Alderman Foreney, charging him with false pretenses. Paul A. Hamilton, organ manufacturer, was the prosecutor. Andrews procured an organ from them by false and fraudulent representations, and was afterwards arrested and intended to skip from the city with the proceeds. When the parties met in the alderman's office this afternoon the suit was withdrawn, Andrews returning the organ and paying the costs.

Surf It Was Hazardous.

Officer Gilbert, of Columbia, the Pennsylvania railroad detective, who some time ago captured Lippincott, a companion of Abe Bozard, with a lot of booty in his possession is now satisfied that he has seen the picture of Bozard in the Lancaster INTELLIGENCER that the man who was with Lippincott at the time of his arrest, and who was named Bozard. He resembled the picture and he is confident now that it was the venerable Abe.
