Coming February Elections Condition of the River-A Slight Fire-Notes About the Biver Town. egular Correspondence of INTELLIGENCES.

COLUMBIA, Jan. 22-The wedding bell: rang merrily, yesterday and one of Columbia's daughters was the bride. The wedding of Miss Elmira R. Pierce, of Columbis, to Mr. William Penn Wilson, a prominent lawyer of New York city, had for the past fev weeks been attracting considerable attention in the circle of society, of which the bride was a leading member, and the nuptials lebrated yesterday proved to be the event of the season in Columbia. A more select or refined gathering never assembled at a redding here.

At the request of the bride there were no bridesmalds or groomsmen, and when the seremony was performed none stood near the bride, groom and minister but the relatives and friends in a half circle formed facing the wedding party.

Promptly at 3 o'clock, the bride-elect, Miss Elmira R. Pierce, radiant in a magnificent cream-colored satin bridal dress, tastefully trimmed with elegant brocaded satin and lace, and wearing no ornaments other than a bouquet of natural flowers, entered the handsome parlor of her mother, Mrs. J. E. Ralston Pierce, or South Front street leaving or some parlor of her mother, Mrs. J. E. Raiston Pierce, on South Front street, leaning on the arm of her intended, William Penn Wilson, esq., who were the conventional full dress suit. As the couple took their position in the west end of the parlor, all present agreed that a handsomer couple never stood before a Columbia minister.

Rev. R. W. Humphriss, paster of the Columbia Mathedia Enjagent description in the Columbia Mathedia Enjagent experience.

Rev. R. W. Hamphriss, pastor of the Columbia Methodist Episcopal church, in his usual impressive manner, united the couple, and while Miss Amy Oberlin rendered one of Mendelssohn's choicest marches, the guests present advanced and congratulated the man and wife. As soon as these good wishes for Joy, happiness, prosperity and longovity had ended an elegant banquet was industrial.

Tow Hill's Notorious Residents Nowhere can be found a larger or more orthless set of people than there is on Tow Hill, or at least the greater portion of them We make the exception out of justice to some of the colored people who reside in that por tion of Columbia, for there are several fami ies who are sober, industrious and honest But the majority cannot even be classed with tramps. They are much lazier than the latter, for tramps do their own begging, while the "coons" we refer to compel their hildren to go from house to house and beg for their worthless parents, who tie at home drinking, playing cards, and living more like animals than human beings. And less are the people who ask for charity from ur citizens. It is given them only because must be, for they will steal rather than do eithout the scraps their children bring to hem daily. These children deserve pity hey are compelled to do their parents' wish, and offentimes with clothing on them hardly ufficient to hide their nakedness let alone seep out the cold. The river did not freeze over last night as vas prodicted, although the weather was cold enough to effect that. The wind was too high, also the water, but the former had more to do with preventing the closing, than the latter, for an old riverman, one who knows, said this morning: "Had it not been for the heavy wind the river certainly would have been shut by lest night's cold, even though it, the river, is considered too high for that to be done."

Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to MR. H. E. SLAYMAKER, Agent for REIGART'S OLD WINE STORE, by a president practicing physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those afflicted with

INDIGESTION AND DISPERSIA.

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant sus never intended as a beverage, but to be used as medicine of greater potency in the cure of once of the destructive discusses which sweeps some of the destructive discuses which sweeps way their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philauthropic motive, we present to the avorable notice of invalids—especially these dilutes with that miserable discuss. Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than BHANDY.

The aged, with feeble superite, and more or less than BHANDY will find this simple medicine, when used properly.

A SOVEREIGN BUMEDTY

For all their ills and sches, he it, however, strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

Regart's Old Brandy,

Regart's Old Brandy,

Sold by our enterprising friend, H. E. SLAYMAKER. This brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our expeliones extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandos—no matter with how many law breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away our various impotent dyspepsia specifics, would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the carative power of
REIGART'S OLD BRANDY
In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers
of witnesses—one case in particular we will cite:
A bard working farmer had been sufficied with an exhausting Dyspepsia for a number of veers;
his stouach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour cructations constantly—nousppetite—in fact he was obliged to restrict his diet to cruckers and state bread, and as a heverage he head McGrunny Root Beer. He is a Mcthodist, and then as now, preached at times, and in his allecourses often declaimed expectly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try

REIGART'S OLD BRANDY
In his case, he looked up with astonishment;
but after hearing of his wonderful effects is the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he vit hat consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steady: the first bortle giving him an appetite, and before the second was all taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting asything which he choses to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occusionally; and since he has this medicine, he has been of very little pecunary benefit to the shortly—A Practising Physicians.
