THE COLUMBIA REPUBLICANS

MIRATE A STRONG TICKET AT LAST NIGHT'S PRIMARIES.

the Democracy Propose to See That It Is Laid Low-The Democratic Nominees for the Borough Offices-Briefs About the Town.

COLUMBIA, Feb. 10.—The Republicans COLUMBIA, Feb. 10.—The Republicans undoubtedly nominated a strong ticket last svening, one which will cause the Democrats the hardest kind of work to defeat. The nomination for councilmen and school directors are especially strong, but the Democrats mean to defeat them. When the Democracy mean business as it does new, nothing can withstand them. The Republican nominations are stellars.

Mr. B. Simpson, residing in this borough, but who was employed in Lareaster, yesterday, fell from a truck and was badly bruised. A plank fell after him, and striking him on the head an ugly sealp wound was inflicted. Col. C. S. Kauffman has contributed $5 to the relief association, and Miss Elizabeth Kehlar $3. Al. such presents are thankfully received.

It has been suggested that Co. C. give an exhibition drill in the rink, as soon as their new uniforms are completed. The members favor the plan, and will do their best to please the audience, if the suggestion should be accepted.

Samuel Bailey, of Harrisburg, slipped as he attempted to alight from a freight train, last evening, below Locast street, and fell on the opposite track. His face was badly gashed in several places.

A Scene at the White House.

The dinner at the White House last Wed nesday was in honor of the justices of the supreme court. A correspondent of the New York World says Mrs. John Davis, who sat by the side of Colonel Jerome Bonaparte, was taken ill towards the latter part of the dinner, and came near fainting. She retired from the table, leaning upon the arm of Col. Bonaparte. Servants were hastily summoned and she was helped upstairs. After resting there for a short time she was able to return about the time the guests were leaving the table. for a short time she was able to return about the time the guests were leaving the table. The party then, according to the World correspondent, went to the Blue Parlor, where there was a sensational episode. Mrs. Benapar e suddenly became rigid and slid down from the sofa to the floor. Justice Blatchford's wife is the aunt of Mrs. Bomaparte. She came forward and held her niece's head. She sid there was no occasion for alarm, as Mrs. Bomaparte, was subject to the actual the second state. Mrs. Bonaparte was subject to these attacks.
At the expiration of twenty minutes Mrs.
Bon parte had sufficiently recovered to be helped to her carriage, and she was driven home.

The Champion Mean Man. The little town of Lectonia, Ohio, has produced the champion mean man. Miss Annie Woods has sued her recreant lover for breach of promise, and says of him: "We were regularly engaged and were to be married next May. About a week before New Year's I was taken sick, and he came to see me every day, and seemed very solicitous for my speedy recovery, and I did not for a moment doubt him. The day before New Year's he came to see me, and noticed my gold ne klace lying on the stand in front of the bed, picked it up and remarked that it might get lost, and if I had no objection he would take it and keep it until I got around again. I told him that he could. He came back that night and sat up with me all night and gave me my medicine, and visited me regularly until I got well, when I discovered that he was married the day before New Year's, and gave my necklace as a wedding present to his bride." regularly engaged and were to be married General Grant Repays a Lean. When the firm of Grant & Ward failed last May, Charles Wood, a brush manufacturer, of Lansingburg, N. Y., sent Gen, Grant $500 as a token of appreciation for the services rengeneral to this country during the war of the Reballion, together with a loan of $1,000 for one year, without interest or secu-rity. Recently General Grant forwarded a check for $1,000 and a lotter thanking him for his general to a stronger in time of people check for $1,000 and a letter thanking him for his generosity to a stranger in time of need. Grant explained in his letter that in the year he had found an opportunity to earn the money so kindly loaned. Mr. Wood is an enthusiastic admirer of the ex-br-sident.

A Question of Charity, From the Providence News.

Mrs. Barnaele went to rido with Mr. B. when Mrs. Barnaele wentforido with Mr. B. when the me.cury was at zero. "Why John, how cold it is! We must do something for the poor! They'll freeze this weather." When she reached home, and had sat for an hour over the register in her scalakin sacque, she exclaimed: "Reality, John, it's not as col' as I thought it was. We need not hurry in that charity matter."

Seriously Injured.

Mrs. Ahliter, residing at the corner of Strawberry and Andrew streets, slipped on the ice last evening and cut a deep gash in her head. Her wound was droused by Dr. J. K. Shirk.

The Humors of Observation From the World of Proverb and Barable

The reader will remember the old story of the Chinese traveler in England. In those days, not so long since, when the pleasant shores and banks of the Thames were lined by watermen, our Chinese traveler landed by one of these an-worthies who had a wooden leg. cient worthies who had a wooden leg. It was a fact, and it struck him; the stranger saw that the wooden leg was used to stand in the water, while the other was kept high and dry. The economy of this fact struck him very much; he saw in it strong evidences of design, and he wrote home that "in England one-legged men were kept for watermen, to the saving of all injury resulting to health, shoes or stockings from standing in the water." The fact was correct, the inference or generalization was ludicrously wrong.

There is a story told by the once very popular writer, Dr. John Moore, of a French student in London who lodged in the same house with a poor man ill of a fever, and who was continually teased by his who was continually teased by his nurse to drink, although quite nauscated by the liquids she offered him. At last, when she was more importunate than usual, he whispered: "For Heaven's sake bring the inquids she offered him. At last, when she was more importunate than usual, he whispered: "For Heaven's sake bring me a salt herring, and I will drink as much as you please!" The woman in-dulged his request, the man perspired profusely and recovered; the French student inserted in his note-book this abortisms. student inserted in his note-book this aphorism: "A salt herring cures an Englishman in his fever." On his return to France he prescribed the same remedy for the first patient in fever he was called to attend; the patient died. The student inserted in his note book; "N. B. Though a salt herring cures an Englishman, it kills a Frenchman." This was be a salire upon that rapidity of general may be a satire upon that rapidity of generalization for which our French neighbors are remarkable. But, true story or joke, it certainly illustrates the false method is mind that is called observation.

From the New York Tribune, February 8. Experiments on the long-distance telephone from the offices of the Postal Telegraph company, No. 40 Broadway, to Chicago were made pany, No. 40 Broadway, to Canage were made yesterday. After a half-hour's conversation between the two points with different persons Mayor Harrison of Chicago sent the following to Mayor Grace, which was delivered by Web-ster Gillett last night: "Mayor Harrison at Chicago asks Mayor Grace to protect Governor Cleveland from the officeseekers, and wants him to live 4 years and not be killed by New Yorkers this week." The first commercial message by telephone from New York to Chicago was sent by F. M. Gillet to Henry Gillet, but as it was given on Sunday there may be a question as to its legality. The order was to "ship three cars of hogs, but do not buy un-less Lake Shore agrees to put them on time."

Wintry Winds.

Its all right for poets to sing the praises of the beautiful snow, and the merry sloighheils, and the ringing skates on the glassy fee, but they can't fill the bill with that sort of stuff when one is sitting with his feet in a tub of hot water, his head done up in fiannels, and with mustard plasters on both sides of his chest. EDUCATIONAL. "I AM CLASSICALLY EDUCATED:

Such were the words of a young man, a college graduate, in applying for a position, after he had met with disappointment in every direction that he turned. "Yes," said the business man, "that's all very well; but have you any practical knowledge of bookkeeping?" The young man was compelled to admit that he pessessed no such knowledge, and he fatied to secure the position he sought. We do not mean to deprecate a classical education—it should be every young man's aim to secure such an education; but, if your means are limited and your opportunities few, seek that which will be of most practical use to you—a business education, such as is given at the

BRANDY.

Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to MR. H. E. SLAYMAKER, Agent for REIGART'S OLD WINE STORE, by a prominent practicing physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those afflicted with INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of greater potency in the cure of some of the desiructive diseases which sweeps away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive, we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially these afflicted with that miserable disease, Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than BRANDY.

The aged, with feeble appetite, and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly.

A SOVEKEIGN REMEDY

For all their ills and aches. He it, however, strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

Regart's Old Brandy,

Regart's Uld Brandy,

Sold by our enterprising friend, H. E. SLAYMAKER. This brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies—no maiter with how many law breaking French tilles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics, would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the curative power of BEIGART'S OLD BRANDY
In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers
of witnesses—one case in particular we will cite:
A hard working farmer had been afflicted with an exhausting Dyspepsia for a number of years, his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour cructations constantly—no appetite—in fact he was obliged to restrict his diet to cruckers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed carnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try

REIGART's OLD BRANDY
In his case, he looked up with astonishment;
but after hearing of his wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appelite, and before the second was all taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which he choose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine, he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor—A Practising Physician.
