LANCASTER, FEBRUARY 16, 1885.

Practice and Profession. The North American points out that not only Senator Wallace, the president of the Beach Creek railroad, is a Democrat, but General Magee also, who, as Senator Wallace says, controls it. The North American is moved to wonder that any intimation of a disposition towards constitutional infraction should be possible against a Democrat. The North American fails to make the distinction between a Democrat in private and public station. General Magee goes for cash across the constitution; which is very wrong in General Magoe, but he follows the crowd to be in at the death and get the biggest possible part of the carcass. The tone of public sentiment is not yet sufficiently high in this country to require the citizen in his business pursuits to make his practice wholly conalstent with his political profession. hope, however, that it is strong enough to require that the statesmen of the country shall have this consistency in their con-

It is entirely true that the controlling management of the Beech Creek railroad is in Democratic hands; and that the road should be run in obedience to Democratic professions. If it is not, it is bad for the Democrats in control, if they would also be popular leaders. That it is not, we do not yet know.

We have however had the courage to inquire; we would recommend our example to the North American and its fellow Republican organs. Perchance if the newspapers would undertake to hold the rein on the politicians of their respective parties who are running railroads through the constitution, the practice might be checked; or does the North American want us to understand that Republican principles warrant such infraction of the constitution and that only the Democratic newspapers need bother about it? If this is so, we will cheerfully assume that position. We fancy that when the people get to comprehend that this is the political situation, the Republican vote will soon dwindle rapidly. As Democrats we do not propose to condone the stabbing of our political convictions, though done by Democratic hands. We are fully aware that a great deal of the responsibility for the railroad violation of law and justice rests upon Democrats. Thomas A. Scott was a Democrat, and yet one of the most aggressive of railroad managers against lawful restraints. Mr. A. J. Cassatt is a Democrat, and yet wholly without principle or con-science when his interests clash with his political faith. William L. Scott is a Democrat, and one now active in the party councils; and yet no one would say that he has ever manifested a proper regard for the constitution, the law and Democratic principles, when they crossed the paths of his private business. He has been in search of wealth all his life, and has got it most abundantly. He has been an active Democrat all his life and is now in Congress. There are other Democrats who have reached out for political fame and for private fortune in railroad operations. They are not necessarily contradictory aims; yet it is hard to run them successfully together : as it is hard for the camel to go through the needle's eye. At least if they are on the Democratic side of politics, where they must respect the constitution and the law. to keep their political title clear to mansions in the skies. We understand that it is a fundamental condition of a Democratic statesman's leadership that he shall be true in thought, in word and in deed to the Democratic demand that the railroad corporations shall obey the spirit and the letter of the constitution and the laws; and that they shall be just in their treatment of all their customers and honest in all their conduct. We propose to hold every Democrat claiming to be a leader up to this rack, be he who, or what, or where he may; and this is fair notice that we will strike our brother if he offends.

The Pension Abuses. It has been testified before a congressional committee that the examiners in the pension office were instructed during the last campaign not to report any case for rejection lest the disappointed applicants would oppose the Republican candidates for office, and that a worthy case of a widow urged by Mr. Holman, was "held up for requirements" on a technical defect because one Holman was a "great objec-tor" and " a d-d Democrat." This is a fair specimen of the abuses to which this department has been subject; it was noticeable all over the country that sioners, grantees and applicants, were bull-dozed into voting the Republican ticket. The agents of the department were busy everywhere coercing Democratic soldiers. These practices should be probed to the core and every last rascal be turned out neck and heels. An Albany dispatch says that Judge Thurman is likely to be in the cabinet, as Mr. Cleveland takes no stock in the idea that he must be at all solicitous as to local disputes in the party, He is not a pacificator of party brawlers, but an elected president, whose duty it is to surround self with the wisest councillors and the best administrators in the party. His head is level if he holds this view, as we do not doubt he does. We have never supposed that the preeminent qualifications of Judge Thurm in for the cabinet would be overlooked by the president-elect. Senator Bayard, Senator Lamar and Representative Randall are now in places where they can do good service, and will not leave them. The good men in Congress should be kept there.

They cannot be more useful anywhere else. The Fourth Ward Contest. In no department of local office-holding has there been more conspicuous malfeasance than in the abuse of the office of alderman; and of all the magistrates none has been such a notable offender as Spur rier. His derelictions are rank and known of all men. The grand juries have exposed them, the court has condemned them. commissioners and auditors have passed judgment upon them and a petit jury set the seal of its adverse verdict upon him.

And yet he has the unblushing effrontery to present himself as a candidate for reelection; and by controlling the election board, by manipulating the worst element of his ward and by the meanest sort of boss. ing and bulldozing, he gets the form of a party nomination.

The Examiner yells to its party friends to stick to the ticket." This was to have een expected. The New Era, which has of late been professing some indignation at the illegal fee business and some general opposition to the aldermanic abuses, wheels into line as gracefully as it came to the rescue of the great original fee-grabber when the INTELLIGENCER exposed his operations. It finds that Alderman Spurrier has the regular nomination of Wash Potts and young Bob Evans, and it is" not ustified in going behind their face " of the returns.

This also is what might have been ex-

The Fire Department.

The New Era says that in its judgment any change in the superintending of the water or fire department at this time, for partisan or personal reasons, would be uncise, and for this reason every Bepublican should vote intelligently for council-

This trap is set " to ketch the coon a'goin' and a'comin'." While the city ring wants no change in the superintendence of the water department, it has set up its councilmanic candidates for a change in the fire department, for purely partisan and personal reasons; and to afford loading places for some of its pets.

The increasing efficiency of the fire department is due to the fact that it is not rganized on a partisan basis, and it would be better for all the departments of our city government if they were taken out of party politics. The attempt to drag into them the fire department can only lead to demoralization and disaster.

Every Republican who would " vote intelligently for councilmen" will have to vote against the nominees of his party in most of the wards; and especially against those set up to keep the city offices in the hands of the city ring, and to prostitute the fire department for "partisan or per-

THE shade of Lindley Murray may rest in peace; Logan will not write a book.

MATTHEW ARNOLD, since he has comamong us, has found it necessary to radically change some of his preconceived notions about American institutions that were derived from the indiscriminate reading of the views of foreign travelers in the United States. He finds that our political corruption is exaggerated, though few could blame any one for believing that American politics are all that is debasing, if the views of the best class of journals in a heated campaign were taken as an authority. He notes the entire absence of classes in American institutions and decides therefrom that our danger from revolution is not so great as the older European countries where class distinctions prevail. The views of intelligent foreigners on things American are always interesting to those made the subject of them, and when they contain a slight leaven of adulation, they are very much easier to swallow by those criticized.

Vote to turn out the originators of the $2,400 Huber job.

THERE seems to be no better time than the resent for the vest pocket voter to assert himself in this city. At to-morrow's election the Republican candidates for aldermen in the Fourth, Sixth and Ninth wards represent conspicuous unfitness and persistent place seeking. They should be rebuked by those who believe that the office should seek the man, and not the man the office. The Democratic candidates are men of honesty of purpose and integrity of character that promise the right kind of administration of official duties. Vote to put them in.

THE vest pecket voters to-morrow will have Democratic names on their ballots.

SATURDAY seems to have been a poor day for St. Valentine. At the Philadelphia postoffice the business in these sweet missives was only half of that done last year, and in New York the proportion was only onefourth. In Lancaster the postoffice employes found their work lighter than usual, and inquiry at the stores where valentines were sold elicits the information that the sales were unusually small, and that those purchased were generally of the cheaper variety. This is a sad state of affairs. The conclusion that seems inevitable is that the Christmas, New Year, Easter, Thanksgiving and birthday cards are driving out the literature of Saint Valentine. But hard times were upon us this year, and business will be better a year hence. Then let us hope that the valentine will be given a new and sturdier lease of life.

VOTE for Democratic candidates for council is a wholesome check on a carcless mayor.

THERE is a fashionable folly that has taken hold of the fair sex at the present time that physicians pronounce most harmful. It is the frequent use of vinalgrettes, or smelling bottles, by young women in fashionable society. It has the effect of stimulating nerves rendered shaky by late hours or indulgence in dissipation. But the strength of the salts contained in the bottles must be increased, as must the dose of opium for the victim of the latter habit. As a consequence the olfactory nerves become blunted and constant headache result. The pretty vinaigrettes make a very aesthetic adornment attached to a lady's belt, and they do offer an opportunity for the exhibition of a well moulded arm and trim waist, but those who use them will have a serious reckoning to pay some day.

BURIED BY A SNOWSLIDE.

HE TOWN OF ALTA, UTAIL NEARLY DE STROYED BY AN AVALANCHE.

Fall of Twelve Feet of Snow on the Level A Mining Town Under the Drifts-Dead Bodies Taken Out-Rescuers Endeavoring to Save the Imprisoned.

The startling news has reached Salt Lake city that the town of Alta was nearly wiped out by an avalanche. It has been snowing for a week, and is now twelve feet deep on a evel, with the storm still raging. Friday night soon after 8 o'clock a tremendous volume of snow swept down over the Emma mine works, doing no damage there, except taking the smoke-stack along; then it struck the town, crushing about three-fourths of it, but fortunately many of the houses were descried for the winter. The place is built at the foot of converging gulches, and the slides had a fair mark. Tucker's boarding house was swept away and the hotel crushed. The Vallejo works, including buildings and tram-ways, were crushed. Two men at this mine happened to be in the drift and cscaped injury. Strickley, Tucker and Wallace's stores were injured slightly. Powers' butcher-shop Simpson's drug store were the only buildings that escaped entirely, a large por-tion of the victims were in the boarding house and hotel. Twenty-eight in all were buried, but twelve were dug out alive. The rest are undoubtedly dead. The men from the City Rocks and the Evergreen mines formed a digging force to get out the bodies. Three had been taken out at last accounts much difficulty, the rescuers battling with the heavy storm and low temperature. Timothy Maddern was not dead when brought out, but died soon after. The bodies of James Watson and Mrs. John Ford were taken out, quite dead. The following is a correct list of those not yet recovered. Andrew S. White, Barley Gilson, Fred. Collinson, Mattie Hickey, Charley Volk and Big Jim (both Chinese), Jerry Regan, David P. Evans, a child of Mrs. Ford, and four children of Vil Palley.

The losses are estimated as follows: Tucker's hotel, $2,500; Smith's brewery, $2,000; Vallejo mine, $30,000; Case house, $500; O'Reilly's store, $2,000; Baldy Fritz's salcon, $500; John Strickley, $5,000; Jackson Jones, $500. Other buildings, $800.

Sad Ending of a Wedding Tour.

Mrs. Edna Anderson, aged 17, who was tricken with smallpox while homeward bound from a long and pleasant wedding tour, and who was taken to the hospital on her arrival in Chicago, it is thought, is beyoud recovery. On November 5, 1884, she and her husband started from Rochelle, Ill., where the marriage ceremony had just taken place, to visit their former home in Germany. They are quite wealthy, and enjoyed an ex-tended honeymoon. Returning from Europe, they started for their Illinois home in the eper Palermo, just in time to be caught in a snow storm that raged so fiercely early in a week. Soon after starting from New York, Mrs. Anderson was taken so ill that the was not able to leave her berth, but it was thought to be the fatigue incident to the ong journey. They were snowed in for two lays, Mrs. Anderson growing constantly worse; but it was not until they reached Chi-cago that the dread nature of her sickness was known. Mrs. Anderson was taken im mediately to the hospital, and her death seems inevitable. Her husband has never left her side from the moment it was known she had the smallpox.

Fears that the Snow Blockade Will be Renewed in and Around Chicago. A driving snow storm prevailed in Chicago nearly all Sunday, ceasing in the evening after darkness set in. Breaking Up. On every hand we see evidence that winter is breaking up, and will soon have to yield to the advancing spring. It is a most important ques-tion amongst scientific men what causes the general feeling of debility and lassitude so prev-alent in this region. While some regard it as the result of confinement and inaction, others the result of confinement and inaction, others suppose it to be caused by the decay of vegetable and animal debris which has accumulated during the winter. What is especially needed at this time, however, is something to overcome these influences. It is too late to falk about the causes; what is the cure? Thousands of persons all over the country who have given Kidney-Wort a faithful trial are ready to testify that no other remedy is equal to it for cleansing the system, purifying the blood, regulating the love's, and curing all kidney and liver discasses. Regart's Old Brandy,

Sold by our enterprising friend, H. E. SLAY MAKER. This brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our expe-rience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies—no matter preference over all other Brandles—no matter with how many jaw breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dys pepsia specifics, would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the curative power of of the curative power of REIGART'S OLD BRANDY In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers of witnesses—one case in particular we will cite; A bard working farmer had been afflicted with an exhausting Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour cructations constantly—no appetite—in fact he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGraun's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try IEEGART'S OLD BRANDY In his case, he looked up with astonishment; In his case, he looked up with astonishment; but after hearing of his wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was all taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which he choose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine, he has been of very little preuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.
