The rage for novelties at the great holiday secons of the year is something curious to ady. In recent years the desire to rememper sweetheart or friend at these times has become so universal that publishers, drugists and confectioners with an eye to busi news, have spent great sums of money in obng the latest and most exquisite designs. Any one of observation who takes a stroll slong the principal streets of Lancaster, now must find himself occasionally brought to a standstill at the wealth of beauty that gazes at him from the prettily decorated shopws in his path. And if he is given to much inward medi-ation he must find himself often at a loss to srstand how some of the novelties he sees are typical of the great idea of the Resur-rection. He will for instance wonder where the Easter thought comes in with a decorated egg, or a party of playful rabbits. Or what pos-able relation exists between a $3.75 satin and plush card, having a summer landscape trimmed in oriental lace and the great key stone of Christianty. Yet these seem to be the chief Easter tokens that the modern buy. A prominent bookseller informed representative of the INTELLIGENCER that the present call was for souvenirs like sachets, bunches of French artificial flowers with an Easter card attached, and bannere

The prices of the various cards and knick-knacks that are considered proper for Easter remembrances range, from five cents to four dollars, the latter being the extreme limit. dollars, the latter being the extreme limit. While the high priced souvenirs often show much good taste, albeit sometimes without a particle of Easter appropriateness, it is a pity that their prices place them beyond the reach of the ordinary purchaser. It would be well if a return to the old days could be inaugurated when cheaper cards with fitting designs might pass from friend to friend with no serious exaction on the purse. Then the Easter and other holidays would be Then the Easter and other holidays would be

Then the Easter and other holidays would be brought home to more people and their significance have a wider appreciation.

The bookstores of G. Luther Fon Dersmith, Chas. H. Barr, John Baer's Sons, L. M. Flynn, and L. B. Herr abound in pretty rifles suitable for the season, with cost that can be made to suit all variety of purchasers. These exhibits are all so pretty that the casual visitor who enters their stores merely the filest ground." finds himself a purchaser " look around " finds himself a purchase almost before he understands the process by which he reached that situation.

There is no more attractive window on East King street than that of High & Martin, and although they do not make an exclusive display of Easter goods, there are many pretty novelties in glass and queensware that have a special reference to Easter. PHE DRUGGISTS REEPING UP THEIR END.

Long's drug store, North Queen street, is a kind of headquarters for brilliantly colored eggs of all sorts and sizes, from pigeon eggs up to those of the roc. There are many huge porcelain eggs, a foot in diameter, made of porcelain, and in one of these is a nest of live guinea pigs and in another a nest of young rabbits. In a large glass cage is a family of live rabbits, and in a vase a family of white mice, that have been dyed various colors by Long's dyes. Suspended from the ceiling inside one of the windows is a bamboo stand, filled with eggs, that revolves on an old fashioned English spit, that was used in the older time for turning meat to reast in old fashioned English spit, that was used in the olden time for turning meat to roast in front of a fire of live coals. It is quite a curiosity, being run by clock works. In the other front window is a revolving pyramid of beautifully dyed pampas grass.

Kauffman's drug store on North Queen street, also contains a remarkably fine collection of brilliantly dyed eggs, large and small, and in addition there is an attropood display of stuffed birds—including, young of young ducks, a brood of partri. Kauffman of young ducks, a brood of partri. K. Audiman chick, will so incks, etc. with which his eggs are colored, and has his exhibits very tastefully arranged.

Hull's new drug store on West King street is also very pretily arranged, and although the display of colored eggs is not so large as those above named, there are enough of them to attract much attention, while the artistic arrangement of other fine goods in the front windows surprises all others in this line of Cochran's drug store, North Queen street, also contains a very pretty display of colored eggs, dyes, and other objects of interest. WHAT THE CONFECTIONERS HAVE DONE.

The confectioners vie with the druggists in their exhibit of Easter articles. If their eggs and their rabbits are not quite so brilliantly and their rabbits are not quite so brilliantly colored, they are in greater variety, and they possess the merit of suiting the palate as well as the eye of the juvenile asthete. The windows of John C. Spaeth, North Queen street, are piled full of eggs, and "peeps," and rabbits, made of all sizes and colors; and there are stuffed birds and imitations of stuffed birds, and boxes and baskets of egg-shaped candies in enabless cariety.

Sheetz's candy store, on North Queen street, where the display of candles of his own manufacture is always large and attractive, looks unusually pretty just now, the egg and the rabbit for the time being always large and attractive, looks unusually pretty just now, the egg and the rabbit for the time being always monopolicing the pretty baskets with most monopolizing the pretty baskets with which the show window is filled. Jos. R. Royer, West King street, has a world of Easter novelties in his windows, including candy eggs of all qualities, sizes and colors, and rabbits of all colors and in all atti-tude. The fruits and confections are fine and tude. The fruits and confections are fine and prottily arranged.

The confectionery of Samuel Demuth, East King street, is very tastily fitted up. In the windows there is a complete menagerie of animals of all kinds, climbing over mountains of alag. Against the plate glass of each window is placed a large magnifying glass, through which passers by may look and see the show greatly enlarged. The arrangement is very pretty and attracts much attention.

Gruel's, George Erisman's, Sharp's, and some other contectionery and toy stores are very prettily decked with Easter novelties.

PLANT TREES ON APRIL 16.

State Superin tendent Higbee's Arbor Day Circu lar to Superintendents.

The proclamation of Gov. Pattison, desig nating April 16 as "Arbor Day" [and recom-mending the citizens of the state to set out trees and shrubbery on that day, is posted in the postoffice; and other efficient means of directing public attention to it are being employed. But the best way to secure general action in the matter is that adopted by State Superintendent Higbee, who is trying to rally the children of the public schools to cooperate in the matter. He has requested cooperate in the matter. He has requested all the county superintendents to impress the subject upon their teachers, directors and pupils; and from his circular to them are taken these hints, which are of general in-taken these hints, which are of general interest.

Select mainly such trees for planting on school grounds as grow well in your immediate vicinity—hickory, walnut, sweet gum, dogwood, buttonwood, ash, basswood or linden, birch, beech, iocust, willows, tutiptree, pines larches, firs, and others too numerous to mention. For shrubbery and vines—mock orange, spireas, the burning bush, deutzla, illacs, wigelia, hardy roses, honeysuckles, Virginia creeper, wistaria, the tacoma, and others, which will give variety, and greatly increase the attractiveness of the school-buildings and its surroundings of grass-plat and greenery.

increase the attractiveness of the school-buildings and its surroundings of grass-plat and greenery.

As to the exercises of Arbor Day, these may be quite informal, if that shall seem best—the essential purpose being the planting of trees, shrubs and vines. But it will be eminently proper, where arrangements can readily be made for a formal programme, to make this also a prominent feature. The reading of a selection from the Bible, prayer by a clergyman of the neighborhood, readings, recitations and songs by the pupils, an address by the teacher or other citizen of the district interested in the work of the day, will afford variety, and serve to render the occasion more interesting and impressive.

Let every teacher organize his school for the work, and, in consultation with the directors, have the grounds properly prepared, and holes ready for trees, and shrubs, and flowers, and vines, Solieit the co-operation of the whole neighborhood. Should the day appointed prove inclement and unfit for the work, postpone it until the following Saturday.

THE FIRST OF APRIL. What Kind of a Day is Expected in Busin

After interviewing a number of bankers merchants, city and county officials, the con-clusion is reached that there will be a local revival of trade, beginning with the first of April, after the old accounts have been settled. Money is plenty, and it is being freely offered on loan where the security is satisfactory. Lenders prefer real estate securities. to any other form of investment, and large sums are being invested in this way at 414, 5, sums are being invested in this way at 4½, 5, 5½ and 6 per cent., many small farmers, especially growers of tobacco who have been unable to sell their crops, finding it necessary to obtain loans in this way.

The demand for money on the part of our business men is not so heavy as is usual at this season of the year. It is believed that money will command a rather higher rate of interest than last year. On the whole, a lively time may be expected on our streets to morrow, and though there will be a few "lame ducks" who will fall to come to time, the great majority of creditors will meet the great majority of creditors will meet their obligations, and settlement day will be followed by a business boom.

REMOVALS AND CHANGES. For some days there have been many signs on the streets of the frequency of business and private changes at this season of the year. Day and night men with stove pipe and double files of women carrying clother baskets of crockery have swept the pave ments like war chariots on the march. Following are the principal business changes.
