OPENING DAY FOR TROUT ACCORD-ING TO THE ACT OF ASSEMBLY.

How the Reginning of the Season Will be En-Joyed by Eager Anglers in the Wilds of Sullivan County-Stories of Animal Instinct-How to Break Colts.

According to the act of assembly, the trout streams of this state open on April 1. On that day in every year the eager and enthusiastic angler is supposed to steal to the margin of his favorite stream, and with willowy rod deftly dance his well-dissembled s across its shadowy foam-fleeked pools, and on the silver crests of its murmuring ripples, while the wily but unsuspecting trout leaps from pebbly rift and rock-bound depth to its undoing. That's what the law says the angler may do. Well, he can't do it this year on the 1st of April. Not this year nor in Sullivan county. Some other year, maybe, but not this year. If he does, he must be preceded by a snow plough to make a road to his favorite stream, and a corps of dynamiters to hoist the covering of crystal ice that still rests upon its bosom, not only where the shallows murmur, but where the deeps are dumb.

The skilful anglers who go to Long Island with a piece of liver in one hand to coax the trout within reach so they may drop the fly hook in its mouth with the other, no doubt bave a lot of fun, and lug home a string of big fish; but their brothers in the wild region where Boreas still lays back and howls. get no nearer to a trout brook than the nearest tavern stove, where they fish all day, and go home to the regulation mackerel for supper. Some irrepressible small boy may take wn his father's tip-ups when the old man isn't looking, and, taking a hunk of fat pork along for bait, hie him to the snow-clad banks of a near-by mountain brook, and, plunging bravely through the drifts, cut holes in the ice and open the season by lifting out a few dazed and hungry pioneers of the brook with his pickerel tackle; and if he does there will be no law-abiding angler on the brook to detect him. There is snow enough in the Sullivan county woods to last six weeks vet, with such weather as this, and the prospects are that there may be ice-houses filled from the brooks on the 1st of May. Opening day in this region is closed tighter than an oyster. All the satisfaction the boys have will be to sit by the stove and order sugar in theirs, and swan lies about what his fainer than did and swap lies about what big fishing they did

CUNNING REYNARD.

A Fox Leads a Dog to Its Death and Calmly Gazes on Its Work. As a passenger train on the Rochester and Pittsburg railroad was approaching the viaduct which carries the road across the Cattaraugus creek, near Springville, a few days ago, a passenger sitting on the right hand side of the cars saw a fox dashing down from the hills, closely pressed by a hound, The creek flows through a ravine 175 feet deep.

The fox flew over the snow directly toward the very highest part of the precipice on that side of the creek. The bound was not more than ten feet behind it as the brink of the chasm was reached, and as neither fox nor dog slacked its pace, the excited passen-gers expected to see them both tumble head-long in the ravine. The fox leaped to the long in the ravine. The fox leaped to the very edge of the rocks, and the dog was but one jump behind it, when, like a flash, the fox turned abruptly out of its course and ran along the edge of the ravine. The dog was unable to imitate the agility of the fox, and one more jump brought its forefeet within a foot of the brink. It saw its peril and tried to throw itself back, but its momentum was too great, and the next second it went whirling down into the ravine, and was dashed to ing down into the ravine, and was dashed to death on the ice at the bottom. The fox stopped on the edge of the rocks, the dog went over and turned and looked down at it as it fell, and continued to gaze at it for a moment as it lay dead on the ice. The fox than turned and trotted leisurely back across the country and disappeared in the woods How to Break Colts.

Mr. J. H. walker, of Worcester, Mass., tells how he broke a colt once : "When I got dy to break it, I told the hostler to put the saddle on the colt in the stall. This he did. He put it on at about nine o'clock in the morning and at noon he took it off, leaving the colt in the stall all the time. I told him to do this for about a week.

"The next week I had him put the bridle on and let the colt stand in its place in the stall. He did that for a week. Then I told him to hitch the colt on the barn floor for two days in the harness, which he did. Then, for four days, the colt was hitched in the car-riage on the barn floor. Of course he had to back her a little in harnessing and unhar-nessing her. Afterward the colt was har-nessed and let out into the yard, then I told him to hitch and the horness and Lidgers.

him to hitch up the horse and I drove her, and the horse was broken.

"The first time I drove her she had no blinders on her. I believe the way to break a horse is just that way. First put on the saddle and then the bridle. Keep a little watch, for the colt is liable to get into trouble in the stall. Pursue that method carefully and I don't believe there will be any trouble. I have no patience with anybody that has trouble in breaking a colt. There is no need

If You Doubt, Try It and Sec.
D. W. Dewey, of Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 25, 1882, wrote, "One of the most prominent physicians here found 22 grains of sugar to the fluid ounce of my urine; was unable to benefit me. I then began using Warner's Sare Diabetes Cure, and Warner's SAFE Pills. Having used five bottles of each, I found myself cured." N. B.-Mr. Dewey remains well.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Ague-Shaken Sufferers Who resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, ex perience speedier and more complete relief than they can hope to do by the use of quinine. This well authenticated fact is of itself sufficient to have established a high reputation for the Bitters. But the article is not a specific merely for the various forms of malarial disease, it endows the system with a degree of vigor, and reforms its irregularities with a certainty that consti tutes its best defence against disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, specially rife where the atmosphere and water are miasma tainted. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, damb ague and ague cake are remedied and prevented by It, and it also removes dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism, etc. Take this medicine on the first indication that the system is out of order, and rest assured that you will be grateful for the hint.

We will give from now until after Easter, a beautiful Easter Card with each pound of Coffee, and another design, also very pretty, two cards, with each pound. We do this to stimulate trade and make the children happy.

You want good Coffees, and we have them. Our Coffees cannot be bent. We buy the best, and always have them fresh roasted, also fresh ground. and always nave them and always nave them ground.

OUR VARIETIES—Old Mandehling and Pedang Java, Choice Mocha, Lagusyra, Costa Rico, Guatemala and Rics.

Our 30 cent Rio for a good strong drink, cannot be neat. Our Rio Blended is superb at 25 cents, also lower priced Coffee.
