THE CIRCUS IN TOWN.

A BRIGHT DAY AND A GREAT CROWD ON THE STREETS.

geant and Glittering Train-The Attendance of Country People.

The great Barnum, Baily & Hutchinson circus and menagerie, which after its open-ing in Philadelphia moved out to Norristown on Monday, and exhibited in Reading yesterday with great success, left there for Lancas with its special train on the R. & C. railroad last night, and reached Lancaster in the gray dawn of this bright and beautiful orning. Early as was the hour of their arrival, 5 a. m., there was a little growd of curious spectators to meet the circus men as unloaded and prepared to creet their tents on McGovern's lot, north of the city. The crowd increased as the morning wore on, and the scenes and incidents of the occasion were such as always mark this great event. THE STREET PARADE.

The street parade took place between 9 and 10 o'clock a. m. The promptness with which it came off quite astonished many who were in waiting for it, and as the blare of the bugl and the throb of the drum were heard at the various points which it passed, the throng tering pageant. When it moved through Centre Square and on up North Queen street the highways were packed with people from eurb to curb; from every window and ele-vated place curious faces peered at its won-ders and attractions, and only a narrow line was left through the dense throng for the

Proudly prancing up South Queen street ame six gray horses drawing the advance chariot with band, followed by a cavalcade of about fifty riders, gally dressed in brilliant suits. Then followed cages on wheels, with the royal Bengal tigers, lions, leopards and pan-thers and performing black bears, with their eepers and trainers in full view of the multitude and making graceful obeisance to the human throng. A chime of church bells was a novel and attractive feature of the parade : they were drawn on a wagon, followed by five splendid black horses. Eight iron-grays drew the globe chariot: and six strong steeds were hitched to the rhinoceros' cage. A Continental band; eight equestriennes and a troop of jockeys on blooded race horses; lour gray horses drawing a Roman chariot and four others driven by a Moorish chariocaste Hindoos, the Todas Indians and Afghan warriors, whose ears were saluted with the music of the melochor on wheels. Conspicuous features in the rest of the cavalcade were the Andaman islanders, the Nu-bians from the famous Soudan country, the Burmese priests and band, the Marimba Indians from Central America and Uja Magyr Egyptians. They sat placidly on wagons, bestrode the camels and dromedaries or rode with the majesty of princess on the chariots; six camels in a herd, four dromedaries in x camels in a herd, four dromedaries in arness, a double pair of camels and two double teams made an imposing figure, with the Oriental garbs of their drivers. NOVEL PEATURES OF THE SHOW. The condition of the horses, of which there were an immense number, has never been equalled by a circus showing here; no such on foot was ever seen on our streets, and the genuineness of the many representatives of remote and savage tribes who were shown could hardly be doubted.

Altogether the show, as tested by the street exhibition, is the most original, best selected and altogether unique combination that has presented itself to the public, even in these days of advanced circus managein these days of advanced circus manage ment and amusement enterprise.

AT THE EXHIBITION GROUNDS. Great crowds were on the lot, where the circus exhibits, all morning, and North Queen street was packed with people all day from one end to the other. The canvas is one of the largest ever seen in this city and the arrangements are first class in every respect, Large number of fakirs, lemonade and pea-nut-venders are doing a lively trade in the vicinity of the tent, while others are enjoying a profitable business in different parts of the town.

There are large crowds of strangers in the city from Columbia, York and smaller places and every one is bent upon seeing the great show. The usual number of thieves who cannot be kept back are on hand. This morning a thief put his hand in the pocket of a woman named Rush, who was standing on North Queen street, looking at the circus parade. Officer Speece caught him in the act and took him into custody. At the station house he gave his name as Wm. Murray and over $\frac{3}{3}$ were found upon him. The arrangements of the city police force are very good. All of the officers were on duty, although some wore citizens' clothes around the circus lot; and in North Queen street officers are stationed at different points and the utmost will be done to prevent disorder and protect the citizens.

THE AFTERNOON SHOW. Hetween 12,000 and 15,000 attended the two performances of the great show at Reading derday, and it is believed that $8,000 was taken away from that town. The attendance is very large at the afternoon performance here, and the crowd will be much bigger tonight. The menagerie is very large, and includes animals of all kinds. A feature of the big circus is the collection of wild people from different parts of the world, which is said to be the finest ever seen in this country.
The circus is excellent, and includes the bestknown performers living. The great hippodrome, in which men and monkeys ride all kinds of animals, races, performance of trained elephants, bigh wire feats, &c., are features of the performing tent.

Mr. F. A. Perley is press agent of the show. He is a gentleman who understands his business, and the newspapers of the city are indebted to him for many courtesics.

A baby show of unique character is to be given this week by a number of young ladies given this week by a number of young ladies in New York for a charitable purpose. The entertainment will consist of the singing of the cradle songs, carels and Iuliables of all nations. Each piece will be accompanied by a scene that will depict, as nearly as possible, the costumes and customs of the nation which the music will be typical. There will be a supply of live and docide babies, who will be dressed in the manner of the countries represented. There will be Grecian, Chinese, Egyptian, Russian, German, Irish and Indian scenes among others.

ON THE BASE BALL FIELD. A Close and Good Game Between the Iron sides and Somerset.

Yesterday afternoon the closest game of ball of the season here was played on the Ironsides ground. The visiting club was the Somerset, of Philadelphia, which recently gave such a severe drubbing to the Wilmington Eastern League team. The contesting teams seemed to be almost equally matched yesterday. Sweitzer pitched for the Ironsides and was only hit hard in the early part of the game. The visitors managed to secure four runs in the first inning by a couple of hits and the home teams errors. After that the runs were not so many. The home club bunched their hits in the fourth inning and made three. The score was tied in the eighth and the winning run was secured by the visitors in the tenth, on an error of the Ironsides. Householder played a poor game at second but batted well. The battery errors are given in the score published and outside of them it will be seen that the game was good:

KILLED BY HIS KEEPERS.

Patient of the Norristown Insane Asylum Another patient at the Norristown insanc asylum was killed by his keepers on Monday night last, and following so close after the death of William Fiss, the affair has caused consternation among the asylum officials. The victim of the latest outrage is ded at No. 4,721 Frankford avenue, Philadelphia. The attendants who assaulted the unfortunate and helpless man performed their work so brutally that one of his broken ribs found in his bed in a dying condition about 10 o'clock by Night Watehman Alexander Steele, who at once notified William H. Turnbolt, the day attendant in the ward in Turnbolt, the day attendant in the ward in which Castor was confined. Turnbolt immediately summoned Dr. Harris, but before the arrival of the latter Castor had expired.

Tuesday morning Coroner Aikens held an inquest and his physician, Dr. C. H. Bradley, made an autopsy of the body. In addition to external bruises he found seven ribs broken, one of which pierced the heart. Several marks on the thighs appeared to have been made by kicks. Turnbolt and Steele testified to the facts already given, as did also Ellwood Johnson and Henry Corner, who are employed in the same ward. Corner testified that about 6 o'clock in the evening he saw Castor walking unattended from the are employed in the same ward. Corner testified that about 6 o'clock in the evening he saw Castor walking unattended from the toilet-room in the lower end of the ward to his bed-room. When Steele was sworn he testified that at about 6 o'clock he and Turnbolt were compelled to forcibly remove Castor from the toilet-room and conduct him to his proper apartment. Steele also testified to noticing Castor acting in a strange manner about half an hour previous to his death. The testimony of Turnbolt and Steele was very conflicting. The jury rendered a verdict that the deceased "came to his death by violence received from the hands of Alexander Steele and William H. Turnbolt, attendants in ward 5 D, section 7, of the state hospital for the insane at Norristown, or by one of said attendants unknown to the jury." Turnbolt and Steele were taken into custody. They were given a hearing before Burgess White and remanded to jail to await trial. Castor was admitted to the hospital about six months ago from Frankford. He was what is termed a feeble patient, but was nevertheless subject to violent spells.

Major General Irwin McDowell died in San Francisco on Tuesday night. He was born in Ohio in 1818, graduated at West born in Ohio in 1818, graduated at West Point in 1838 and won a captaincy at Buena Vista. In 1865 he became assistant adjutant general, and on May 14, 1861, he reached the rank of brigadier general. He had command of the first army gathered at Washington at the outbreak of the rebellion, and commanded at the battle of Bull Run, July 29, 1861. In 1862, he took command of a corps, was appointed major general of volunteers, and was given charge of the Rappahannock. He co-operated with the forces of Banks in the Shenandoah and was of great assistance to Pope. At his own request he was relieved Sept. 5, 1862, and subsequently commanded the department of the Pacific. In 1865 he was made brevet major general United States army and was commissioned in November, 1872. He was placed on the retired list in 1882.

A Maniac Murders Her Child. At 11 o'clock Tuesday morning Lucy Gil-christ, wife of John Gilchrist, of Newark, christ, wife of John Gilchrist, of Newark, N. J., while insane from drink selzed her sixmonths old baby and, placing it on a block, chopped its, neck and body with an axe, killing it instantly. Another of her children gave an alarm and neighbors rushed in, but too late to save the baby. The woman without doubt is insane. She says she did the deed because the spirits told her and because she must save Ireland. When her husband arrived, soon after the child was killed, it was with great difficulty that he was restrained from attacking her. The woman, who is about thirty-eight years old, has hiree remaining children, aged fourteen, eleven and five years. She was taken into custody.

second of the competitive examina tions between representatives of advanced primary schools was held at Miss Marshall's school on South Duke street on Tuesday afternoon. Representative pupils of Misses Marshall, Bruning, Bundel, Buckius and Stahl's schools were examined, and as on Monday all the pupils without exception acquitted themselves with credit. For the the reading test the INTELLIGENCER of Tuesday evening was used. There were two items that particularly struck the scholars, and one of them was that calling the attention of housekeepers to the thieves that follow circuses, and the other was the item about the coal office at Florin being robbed. So many of the boys and girls had selected these teems that Prof. Buchrle had to call a halt and request them to select some other item to read.

PAREWELL MEETING

Last evening there was a meeting held in the chapel of the college, attended by many students of the theological seminary and of their number, Wm. E. Hoy, who pur-of their number, Wm. E. Hoy, who purposes becoming a missionary among the heathen in Japan.

Rev. Dr. S. C. Wagner, of Allentown, was called to the chair and opened the services by prayer and conducted the exercises. After singing some devotional selections and a prayer by Rev. Dr. E. R. Eschbach, of Frederick city, Md., Rev. Dr. J. M. Titzel, of the First Reformed church, was introduced and made a brief address upon the importance of foreign missionary work. He bade god-speed to Mr. Hoy in the work in which he was about to engage, and hoped that his example would stimulate others to enter the same field of labor.

Dr. Titzel was followed by Mr. Wilson F. More, of Bethlehem, a member of the seminary's middle class, who spoke of the personnel of the class to which Mr. Hoy belonged, complimented him on his fitness for the work he had chosen, and in the name of the class, tendered him their encouragement and prayers for his success.

A fitting response was made by Mr. Hoy, in which he returned thanks for the honor done, and with the help of the Divine power hoped he would not disappoint the expectations formed of him.

The services closed with a benediction by Dr. Wagner.

Mardered and Thrown Into a Drain.

The body of an unknown man, weighted with a sack of bricks and with the hands and feet securely tied, has been found in the seventeenth street drainage canal, New Orleans. The body shows unmistakable signs of violence and the police think that the man was murdered some distance from where the remains were found. Light wagon tracks leading to the place where the body was found have been discovered. The police are working up the case.

Yesterday at 11:45 a. m. the delegation of medical men who were in attendance at the meeting of the American Medical association, at New Orleans, with their wives and at New Orleans, with their wives and daughters arrived at Broad street station, Philadelphia, on their return home. They report very favorably of their trip to the Crescent City, having had a very delightful time on the way, and also while there. The citizens of New Orleans, who are noted for their hospitality, were not lacking in their kind attention to the visiting physicians; giving them receptions and taking them into their homes and making it as pleasant for them as it was possible to do. After the close of the session of four days the association visited the exposition and found it to be beyond their expectations in magnitude and beauty of display. A number of excursions were given to the Gulf of Mexico, Lake Pontchartrain, the Old Spanish fort and many other points of interest in and around the city. Drs. Compton and Miller, who went as delegates with the excursion from Philadelphia, arrived at their homes last evening on the Harrisburg accommodation.
