A Burgiar on a Bicycle. Towns in Essex county, Mass., are pe by a burgiar that comes and goes on his raids upon a bicycle. He had not been heard from for several weeks until one o'clock Tuesday morning, when the housekeeper of Mr. Cyrus Doilge, a cabinet manufacturer, living on the Essex road, in Manchester, was awakened by the flashing of the rays of a dark lantern across her face. Starting up she saw a man wearing a mask bending over her. He presented the muzzle of a revolver at her head, and warned her not to scream, saying he would not harm her; all he wanted was money. He forced her to get up and he succeeded in getting $55 from the bureau drawer. She said that was all she had, but he demanded more, and snatching the pillow from her bed found her wallet, containing $10 more. He then asked her for the key of the safe. She denied any knowledge of it, but was again menaced by the revolver, and conducted the burglar down stairs to the dining room, on the same floor on which three sons of Mr. Dodge slept. Here she screamed violently and the robber leaped from a window and escaped. The household was aroused and the burglar was seen to mount a bicycle, which was leaning against a tree, and ride off. He was a tall young man, and from his description is believed. Cyrus Dodge, a cabinet manufacturer, living He was a tall young man, and from his de-scription is believed to have ridden from Salem across Beverly bridge soon after eleven o'clock. It is believed the burglar rode back to Salem or beyond.

A Puzzle for the Educators.

Superintendent MacAlister is now rubbing that distracted globe he calls his head, trying to find a suitable method of teaching the little ones in the primary grades of the public schools "physiology and hygiene." How shall be teach what his infant pupils cannot comprehend? Yet they must be taught the harm and danger that lie hidden in alcoholic drinks, stimulants and narcotics, or the money appropriated by the state will not be paid over. It is a hard case. Few of the teachers are competent to impart the required instruction, and few of the pupils to under-stand it. How much better it would be if the stand it. How much better it would be if the legislature would not meddle, and if the teachers would teach the rudimentary branches, so that their scholars might read write and cipher. There are graduates of the schools in plenty who can do but indifferently well any of these three things. We are turning our school into smatter-shops.

WHO IS THE VILLAIN? Alas! Who Poisoned His "Beautiful Shoats" A Reward for the Scoundrel. From the Mechanicsburg Saturday Night.

The most startling affair that has ever occurred in Shiremanstown occurred on last Monday night at the American hotel. Some person or persons, spitefully though it may have been, entered the hogpen and admin istered some strychnine with meal to five beautiful shoats, all weighing 125 pounds and upwards. All were well on Monday evening, but Tuesday morning early they were stiff in death. The outward appear-ance proved that they were poisoned. To be further satisfied I had a physician to investigate. After having one of them cut open he testified that they had been given strychnine. Who is the villain that took the lives of my beautiful shoats? I hope he cannot die until he makes honest confession. The person who proves the guilty one will be liberally rewarded. Very truly yours,

A. C. Rich.

Claiming Senator Mitchell for His Uncle. A young man, dressed in faultless style nd giving the name of Charles Mitchell, was in the Chicago court Tuesday for vagrancy. The officer who arrested him said he was the companion of thieves and had no visible means of support. The young man denied that he was a vagrant and said he had come there last fall and had worked in stores, "My uncle," he said, "is United States Senator Mitchell, from Pennsylvania. My Senator Mitchell, from Pennsylvania. My father is wealthy and my brother draws $5,000 a year from one of the largest firms in New York city, and I am living on one meal a day when I'm lucky. But it matter not. Let me go. I'll walk out of town if you wish, but for goodness sake don't imprison me." After a quiet, fatherly talk Justice Foote put a fine of $50 over his head and ordered him out of town inside of forty-eight bours.

HON. FERDINAND C. LATROBE, Mayor of Balti more, says: I concur in the recommendation of "Dr. Petzold's German Bitters," and have no doubt that the preparation will justify the many endorsements of those who have used it.

On every hand we see evidences that winter is breaking up, and will soon have to yield to the advancing spring. It is a most important ques tion amongst scientific men what causes the general feeling of debility and lassitude so preva-lent in this region. While some regard it as the result of confluement and inaction, others suppose it to be caused by the decay of vegetable pose it to be caused by the decay of vegetable and animal debris which has accumulated during the winter. What is especially needed at this time, however, is something to overcome these influences. It is too late to talk about the causes; what is the cure? Thousands of persons all over the country who have given Kidney-Wor a faithful trial are ready to testify that no othe remedy is equal to it for cleansing the system purifying the blood, regulating the bowels, and fact the king of all spring medicines.

A HEALTHFUL DIURETIC.

You advise placing Allcock's Porous Plasters, in dyspepsia, on the pit of the stomach; in ague cake, on the spicen; but I really think you should also recommend that one or two Plaster be put over the kidneys. They stimulate strengthen and act as powerful diureties, thu casting out many poisonous acids and salts. I have had fever and ague. All remedies I took produced little or no effect until I put an All-cock's Porous Plaster over each kidney; their action being more than doubled, the malaria waquickly washed away. I have also had several attacks of rhenmatism and two of gout, and by applying the plasters over the local pain and also the kidneys, I again found your plasters wonderfully efficacious.
