This was an action to recover a bill for lumber furnished for a tobacco warehouse leased to defendant by plaintiff. The lumber was used in making some repairs at defendant's request. The defense offered was that Sterner was not given the use of the warehouse at the time specified in the agreement and the dam-age he sustained was an offset to the bill for lumber. The court ruled that the amount of damages sustained could not be offered as an offset in this action and the jury rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiff for the full amount of his claim, $57.86.

Some time after the judgment was given, and before the delivery of the tobacco, Wenger made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. Burkman presented his judgment to the assignee and received a dividend of $105 on his claim. Plaintif demanded the tobacco several times and not receiving it brought this suit, as Brinkman had the tobacco and $205 of his

THE NEAL WILL CASE. A Long Fight and Final Settlement Over at Estate.

William Neal died in the summer of 1881, at the residence of Neal Hambleton, Goshen, Lancaster county, in the 87th year of his age He left a will made in 1875, leaving his entire estate to his surviving nephews and nieces share and share alike, and making Neal Hambleton his executor. The las named was raised and lived in the West, but in 1883 William Neal selected him from his twenty-seven or twenty-eight nephews and nieces to live with or near him in case he needed any one to assist him, and in pursuance of that idea as far back as 1868 he had Hambleton appointed his deputy, and gave him a key to his private box in the vanit of the Friedrity Safety Deposit and Trust company, Philadelphia, where he at that time had the bulk of his estate in bonds. And when years after he moved his box to the Northern Safety Deposit, near his home in Philadelphia, he had Neal Hambleton again made his attorney or deputy, and this intimate and confidential relation existed continually until William Neal's death. This excited the jealousy of and unfriendly attacks of other heirs of Neal, who went to law with Hambleton during his uncle's life and contested the will atter his death, but all the suits have finally been decided in rianand nieces to live with or near him in the suits have finally been decided in riam-bleton's favor, his uncle's will stands and he

nded to Prison to Serve a Term for

Offence Committed in 1873. George Watson, a colored man, was taken before Judge Livingston on a writ of habeas corpus this afternoon at 2 o'clock. It appears that Watson was committed by Justice Eyans, of Columbia, on suspicion of being one of the Linville burglars. When he was taken to the county prison he was identified as the colored man who escaped from that institution in June, 1873. The prison record shows that Watson was sentenced on April 24, 1873, to undergo an imprisonment of ten months for larceny. He escaped on June 3, and remained away several years. He turned up again at the August sessions of 1884 and was convicted of a similar of-fense, for which he was sentenced to undergo an imprisonment of seven months. The prisoner served this term and nothing was said about the term he had to serve when he escaped. The prison authorities had the writ of habeas corpus issued to ascertain whether Watson could now be held for the balance of his appropriate term, when he escaped, he of his unexpired term, when he escaped, he having served another full term since the escape. The court ruled that Watson would escape. The court ruled that Watson would now have to serve the balance of the term he had to serve when he broke jail and he was remanded to the county prison. Justice Evans will give the prisoner a hearing at as early a day as convenient, on the charge of robbing the Linvilles.

Firemen's Parade in Wilmington.
The Laurel fire company, of York, passed through Lancaster at 8:10 this morning on their way to Wilmington to participate in the firemen's parade in that city. They numbered forty-nine men handsomely equipped, and had with them the Spring Garden cornet band of nineteen pieces, and the famous New Foundland dog "Major," one of the most intelligent animals of his race. He weighs 160 pounds, sleeps in the engine house and is on duty twenty-four hours every day. He understands the fire alarm as well as any other member of company; unbolts and throws open the doors of the engine heuse as soon as an alarm is struck, and leads the way to the fire and does police duty in preventing interference with the firemen. When "Major" wants a drink he goes to the hydrant, turns on the water, slakes his thirst and then carefully shuts off the water. The boys are very proud of him and expect him to be able to couple hose and "hold de pipe" before the season ends. ircmen's parade in that city. They numbered

MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING

Is a source of continued comfort to buyer and seller alike. A desire to reconsider a purchase because of mistake in selection, over-persuasion of salesmen, or any one of the thousand reasons that might be given, is met immediately by the "money return" system. Years ago we took the long stride forward, "burning the bridges behind us," and we are free to say, we have never regretted it. Hence, no pains with these original methods continued, and the constant application of whatever is new in the production of Clothing and Gents' Furnishings. We present to-day a complete stock, which you cannot afford to pass by.

BOYS' AND YOUNG MEN'S CLOTHING has received more than ordinary attention this season. Norfolk and Pleated Suits for Boys, in plain and fancy fabrics, $1.00, $6.50, $8.00. School and Dress Suits for larger boys, $6.50 to $18.00. Those at $7.50 to $10.00 should receive the consideration of all careful and discriminating consideration of all careful subspects. Several new lots of Plaid Suits for young men, $15.00, will be first shown to-day. Also a large line of fine pantaloons, $5.00.
