The Truth About the Hayes Saloon.

Rutherford B. Hayes owned a building in Omaha which was occupied as a saloon. It had been so used for years without producing any qualms of conscience.

This led to a discussion with his wife, whose name is given as Lucy, and the conclusion was reached to sell the real estate and the accompanying saloon building and invest the resulting money in more land at home, new chicken houses and a large number of new fowls of the most approved breeds.

The pastor finding that his neighbor Hayes was slightly disturbed in mind because of four years of unpaid rent, suggested that this sin might be atoned for by the holding of a clerical convention in their town in the summer of 1886.

An "Offensive" Partisan. The New York Evening Post, which, more than any other paper in the country represents the real civil service reformers, has been looking into the record of A. Loudon Snowden, and has reached the conclusion that his removal is in strict accord with this principle.

It is a well known fact that Snowden is well known at his Portland place, as the Post points out, he asserted of the Democracy: "Their record begins with treason and ends with failure everywhere."

The Coleridge Libel Case. The action for libel against Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, brought by Charles Mantel Adams, and based upon attacks on his character made by the defendant in letters to the Maine Press, for the purpose of prejudging Miss Mildred Coleridge, whom Adams was courting, against him, was brought up for trial in the court of appeals in London, on Thursday.

When Mrs. Cowan, the wife of a farmer at Tompkinsville, in Lankawanna county, was buried, the other day, it was rumored among those who attended the funeral that she was the victim of malpractice.

The Mills stop because it does not pay them to run, and because they want to clean their boilers and make needed repairs. Doubtless they will get work before long, and the price they will pay for labor will be determined by the price they can get for their product.

DEATH OF A DEAR OLD MOTHER.

According to a story made public in Chicago, Mr. Frank C. Smith, a lawyer, has at last been successful in discovering and digging up $80,000 worth of diamonds that had been buried in London, Pa., by client Andrew J. Anderson, who last November was sent to the penitentiary on a fifteen years' sentence for burglary.

THE INVESTIGATION into the agricultural department of the government has revealed a system of expediting that is startling. It has been found that $22,000 was improperly spent for sorghum seed under Commodore Sumner Loring, and the first auditor has disallowed this sum as improperly expended.

ANTI-DISCRIMINATION was once no larger than a man's hand; it now bids fair to be the Jumbo of state politics.

THE NEW YORK having been imposed upon or having imposed upon its readers by a headless spook, a petrified man, a decayed kitten and a languid woman, the very naturally, late Abe Bazzard pull the wool over its eyes.

THE GENERAL presbytery of the United Presbyterian church has again straddled the great question of instrumental music in the meeting house. It declines to say that it is illegal while prayerfully enjoying the music.

THE AIR current being changed and the men have been forbidden to enter certain portions of the mine where gas would accumulate. The gas caught fire from their naked lamps, causing a violent explosion.

AN ITALIAN COURT A WANDERER. Benedetto Martella, an Italian court interpreter in Brooklyn, received a call three years ago from a ragged, young Italian who was in want of money.

THE JUNKETING EXPEDITION. Joseph Bayle, a resident of New Orleans, but a citizen of France, has been the subject of a complaint against the city of New Orleans before Judge Pardee, in the United States court, in which he asserts that the council of the city of New Orleans have organized a junketing expedition to Philadelphia.
