ONLY ONE PARADISE. Out of the desert's burning glare Came of old to Damasous fair The Prophet Mahmoud. Drawing rein, His steed a foam from the flery plain, He saw the streets of the city lie Cool and still 'neath the twitight sky; Visions of peace, where softly swim Mosque, and villa, and garden dim; Fountains flinging their waters sweet, Like shadowy sheaves of crystal wheat; Lamps that shone like the evening star Over the booths or the bright bazaar; And graceful women, veiled and slight, Peering below from the casement's height. Their dark eyes flashing like gems before The window laces or latticed door. All a tender, entrancing dream, All a tender, entrancing dream,
Fit for an Eastern poet's theme.
Who could a stronger contrast find
To the bare, wild, burning sands behind?
"Allah il Allah!" the Prophet said,
Closing his eyes with averted head,
"This is a Paradise; and for Man
There's but one Paradise. Let who can
Taste these pleasures; they're not for me;
There's nothing to do but to turn and flee!"
And so he put spurs to his Arab steed;
So he gave rein to his alray speed;
And straightway (marvel, ye Christian men!)
Plunged back to the dreary desert again.
—Eleanor C. Donnelly.

Gardening for Women. There is nothing better for wives and daughters physically than to have the care of a garden; a flower pot is nothing more. What is pleasanter than to spend a portion of every passing day in working among plants and watching the growth of shrubs and trees and plants, and to observe the opening of flowers from week to week as the season advances? Then how much it adds to the enjoyment to know that your own hands have planted and tilled them and have pruned and trained them-this is a pleasure that requires neither great riches nor pro-found knowledge. The humble cottage of the laboring poor not less than the grounds of the rich may be adorned with plants, which in due time will become redolent of perfume, not less than radiant with beauty, thus ministering to the love of the beautiful in nature.

The wife or daughter that loves home and would seek ever to make it the best place for husband and brother, is willing to forego hustand and brother, is willing to forego some gossiping morning calls for the sake of having leieure for the cultivation of plants, shrubs and flowers. The good housewife is early among her plants and flowers, as is the husband at his place of business. They are both utilitarians; the one it may be in the abstract and the other in the concrete, such as essential to the enjoyment of the other as are real and the ideal in human life. The are real and the ideal in human life. The oldest utilitarianism would labor only for the meat that perishetb. Those of higher and more noble views would labor with no less assiduity for the substantial things of life, but would in addition seek also those things which elevate and refine the mind and exalt

When Thomas N. Barbour, the founder and owner of the largest silk milts in Paterson, N. J., and one of the wealthiest men in Northern New Jersey, died recently, he left two wills, one executed in Ireland, of which country he was a native, and the other in New York, where reside his widow and daughter. The latter will was much the more favorable to the widow and daughter, while the Irish will was most advantageous to the relatives in Ireland. Fully $1,000,000 of the estate is involved by the matter. The American heirs sent ex-Senator Garret A. Hobart to Ireland to attend to their interests there, while vigorous steps were taken in this country to secure the recognition of the American will. American will.

A dispatch from Dublin says that the trial of the case was begun on Monday in the probate court in Dublin before Judge Warren and a special jury. If the Irish will is rejected by the jury the court will then take testimony as to the earlier American will without a jury.

A Summer Idyl. From the New York Journal.

"I beg pardon, ma'am, but are you going into the country this summer?" politely inquired a grocer of a shoddy society lady on Fifth avenue. "Why, certainly." "Very well, ma'am. When shall I stop calling for the orders?"

"Let me see. Well, I guess you'd better continue as usual until the middle of June. After that don't call until late in the evening as I don't want the neighbors to see me."

Bright teeth, and lips that glow the while, Give light and color to a smile; And, infinitely more than this, Give light and color to a kiss. But both must suffer from the want Of the life-giving SOZODONT. j9-lwdeod&w

SPECIAL NOTICES.

There is no use fighting nature. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy does nothing of that kind. It does not make the sufferers who trust it worse under the pretense of doing them good. It acts tenderly and in sympathy with what Nature herself is trying to accomplish. Do you have trouble with your digestion, your liver or your kidneys? Does rheumatism pain and rack you? Is your head thick and heavy? It will charm away these allments almost ere you are aware (1)myll-lindcod&w

The Preventive of a Terrible Disease. No disorders, excepting the most deadly forms of lung disease, involve such a tremendous de struction of organic tissue as those which fasten upon the kidney. Such maladies, when they become chronic—and none are so liable to assame that phase—completely wreck the system. To prevent this terrible disease, recourse should be had, upon the first manifestation—of trouble, to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which experience has proved to be highly effective as a means of imparting tone and regularity to the organs of urination, as well as to the liver, stomach and bowels. Another beneficial result of this medicine, naturally consequent upon its diuretic ac-tion, is the elimination from the blood of impurities which beget rheumatism, neuralgia, gout, dropsy and other maladies. By increasing the activity of the kidneys, it augments the depurative efficiency of these organs, which are most important outlets for the escape of such impuri-ties. jet-10
