

WHAT UPSHUR MUST FACE.

UNLAWFUL ASSUMPTION OF POWER IN THE PRIZER CASE.

Unlawful Assumption of Power in the Prizer Case. The Whole Story of the Suspension of the Paymasters.

From the Washington Herald.

The fact that several paymasters were court-martialed by the Pacific Squadron and that the trouble arose out of Admiral Uphur's arbitrary orders about purchases, is already known, but as the matter is by no means settled yet, some further particulars should be put before the public.

These paymasters in making the certificates stated that the articles were not purchased at the lowest market rates, in consequence of these arbitrary orders having taken the precaution to get bids from other firms at Callao, which bids offered the supplies at lower prices.

The paymasters in making the certificates stated that the articles were not purchased at the lowest market rates, in consequence of these arbitrary orders having taken the precaution to get bids from other firms at Callao, which bids offered the supplies at lower prices.

As there seems to be some misapprehension or misunderstanding as to the true nature and construction of the regulations regarding purchases by the purchasing pay officers upon open purchase requisitions, the department desires to repeat the following and reissue its instructions on that subject.

All such purchases must be made either by the secretary of the navy, the chiefs of bureau, or the purchasing master at the station. This authority does not extend to the officers representing the bureau at any yard or station.

Articles to be purchased on open purchase requisition are subject to inspection by the proper inspecting officer or officers, and the latter are not to purchase thereon. The purchasing agent or officer will procure them on requisition on him, and be responsible that they are received at the lowest market price.

The substance of the charges that Rear Admiral Uphur will have to face when he returns are as follows: An unlawful assumption of a power which is limited by law to the president and secretary of the board of regulation of law in requiring commanding officers to perform the duties of pay officers; a violation of law in prohibiting competing bids from being purchased from a particular firm; a violation of naval regulations; a violation of the statutes of Congress bearing on this subject.

It is claimed by the officers of the staff that the court-martial was unfair, in that it was not held at Callao, but below and off Callao, and that it was impossible for witnesses to be summoned and all the facts presented.

THE LATE REV. D. B. WILSON. The Minute and Resolution Adopted by the Vestry of a Bereaved Church. At a meeting of the vestry of the Church of the Ascension, Bradford, Pa., held June 3d, the following minute and resolution were adopted:

THE FIRST COLORED GRADUATE.

Correcting a Statement from West Chester. A Queer Visitor—Personal Items—Recent Notes About Town.

Regular Correspondence of THE INTELLIGENCER. COLLEGE, June 8.—It was mistaken that Miss Kate Patterson, a colored girl of Columbia, graduated from our high school 1882, consequently when the West Chester Local News claims that Miss M. Jennie Wright, who graduated from the Cateville high school last Friday was the first colored girl graduate of Chester county, it is not the state, it is in error. Miss Wright may be the first colored graduate from Chester county, but she is not from the state by several years.

Col. Samuel Shoeh presided at this morning's meeting of the board of directors of the Columbia National Bank. It was for the last time, his successor, J. A. Meyers, filling that position hereafter.

Turning the Tables.

The several charges of assault and battery and disorderly conduct made by Martin Rush against Grant Lindsay, colored, were heard by Alderman Beatty yesterday.

Grant Lindsay, a colored girl of Columbia, graduated from our high school 1882, consequently when the West Chester Local News claims that Miss M. Jennie Wright, who graduated from the Cateville high school last Friday was the first colored girl graduate of Chester county, it is not the state, it is in error.
