Two Lives Lost in a Railroad Collis

A frightful accident occurred on the Nickel-plate railroad on Tuesday, near Erie, whereby two lives were lost. Mrs. John Donlin, with her babe and little boy and nurse girl, Sadie Mahoney, were riding in the caboose of a freight train, which stopped on a trestle over a ravine at Springfield, where it was run into by another freight. Mrs. Donlin grasped her babe and boy and ran out on the platform, followed by the nurse, when all were huiled over into the abyes, 100 feet in depth. Mrs. Donlin and the nurse were mangled A frightful accident occurred on the abyse, 100 feet in depth. Mrs. Donlin and the nurse were mangled to death. The babe was caught in the boughs of a tree, and may possibly recover. Mrs. Donlin held on to her child until it was torn from her grasp by telegraph wires below. She was terribly mangled by the wires about the breast. Brakeman Thomas Fahey was injured in the collision. the breast. Brakeman injured in the collision.

The Result of a Temporary Eclipse. From the Altoona Times.

The New York Sun, which claims to shine for all, is evidently a good deal in the dark itself, possibly the result of a temporary eclipse, with regard to the political standing eclipse, with regard to the political standing of our esteemed and excellent contemporary, the Lancaster INTELLIGENCER, which it quotes as a Republican paper. So far from this being true, it is a fact patent to every newspaper reader in this state, to say the least, that the INTELLIGENCER is one of the most steadfast and best edited Democratic dallies in or out of Pennsylvania, and it is difficult to understand how so knowing a journal as the New York Sun could have fallen into the error of quoting it as Republi-can authority. ake S st. ### Almost a Serious Accident.

Monday evening about 7 o'clock, David Pleam, a hired boy of Abram Groff, was coming from Bareville on a mule carrying a der. The mule took fright at it and ran spreader. The mule took fright at it and ran away, throwing the young man off, when imaking the turn from the pike to the Horse Shoe road. He was picked up by M. B. Weidler and others, and carried to his home near by. Dr. Weidler was sent for and ne administered to his wants. No bones were broken, and he may in a few days be able to move about again. The boy has been rather unfortunate of late, as last week he was kicked on the arm by a horse quite severely.

Excitement Caused by a Squirrel. A large grey squirrel, which no doubt es-caped from a private yard or pen, created a great deal of excitement on East Orange street, between Lime and Shippen yesterday. He put in an appearance on one of the large maple trees on the North side and as soon as the boys discovered his whereabouts they followed him with clubs, sling shots, dc. At one time there was quite a crowd on hand and the people in the neighborhood were greatly annoyed by them. The squirrel is believed to have escaped unhurt.
