THE PRESENT OUTLOOK

OF THE TRADE IN THE LOCAL TO-BACCO MARKET.

uplers Find the '84 Havana of a High Standard-The Condition of the Growing Crops -Reports from Distant Dealers and Growers of the Weed.

From the present outlook the tobacco trade seems to be more favorable than it has been for a considerable while, for two reasons : the stock in packers' hands is lighter than it has been for years and in manufacturers hands it is the same. The crop of last year is very much smaller than was anticipated. There is scarcely a packer in this county who has as much as he expected to have, and none of them have as much by odds as they had one year ago. Of old leaf there is scarcely any but "83," most of which is of the best of that erop; nearly all low grades have been sold

Several of our largest packers have sold large proportion of their '84; in fact some we sold all, while for others good offers have been refused. From what has been sampled and examined of the Havana, by sampled and examined of the Havana, by packers, it is found to be fully up to their most sanguine expectations. What seed leaf there is has turned out very good. Taken upon the whole, as we said before, packers are happier than they have been for years, and feel as though their luck is upon the turning point, for it is a well known fact that there has been little money in the business to them for the last four years.

Several hundred cases of tobacco were sold during the last week, about one half of which was "84" Havana, and more could have been was "84" Havana, and more could have been sold but for the asking price. Some new seed leaf has also been taken.

The growing crop needs a good soaking rain badly, although August is the month to make a crop if it can hold its own until then: it is scarcely doing so now. Havana seed will

From an extended trip through the lower end of this county and over in Chester, we find the acroage will not be over two-thirds as large as last year's, and of the whole planting three-tourths is Havana seed. We notice that several farmers who have heretofore been large growers have given it up entirely.

and some have very much reduced their quantities over in Chester.

So far as can be seen from the car windows, along the Pennsylvania railroad from Lancaster to Middletown, the planting appears to be about equal to that of last year. The plants that were set early look well, and are recovering finely account that were set. growing finely, especially along the river branch of the road. The late set plants are very small and need rain badly.

New York Market, From the U. S. Tobacco Journal. Seed leaf tobacco is moving. Old stock sells, if offered very low. New stock of the favorite crops attract buyers if it is 'good and runs in figures from 15 to 22 cents; exceptionally fine goods in Wisconsin are quoted still higher by sellers. New Housatonic tobaccos are much bragged about, holders deeming allusions to prices below cents an unpardonable piece of impertinence. Most quotations in the markets are hum bugs. To get at ready facts one will have to do detective duty and get possession of people's ledgers and cash books—note books not excluded. Sellers relying upon market quotations are relying on lies. The only way sellers can post themselves is by taking the tenor of the market into consideration. If a man has bought good tobaccos at as low or as high a figure as others, he need not sell them now at a loss; if he can get a profit, let him sell them now at a loss; if he can get a pro-

Samatra. The sales of Sumatra at New York for the week were 350 bales at from $1.20 to $1.60. Operations have been retarded to a large extent by the uncertainty that has existed relative to the passage at 35c duty of the large invoices that have recently arrived at that port. The new customs officials are a rumor to the effect that a few lots had been appraised at 75c duty made importers exappraised at 75c duty made importers ex-tremely cautious about guaranteeing the lower duty on goods that were offered for sale but which had not passed through the custom house. The new good are taking very well, and in many cases are given the preference over old tobacco, for which a higher price is asked. The color of the 1884 tobacco that has reached this market is lighter in the main and the tobacco is credited with being goo burning. Exporters have been careful not to send over real dark tobacco, for fear that it would not burn well. The sale which occurs in Amsterdam on the 22d inst., promises to yield some fine tobacco.

Another timely rain on Friday gave the farmers a fine opportunity to finish planting their tobacco crop. Generally speaking, the '85 crop is now transplanted, and never be-fore in the history of tobacco growing in Vis-consin has the fields had a better start. The stand is almost faultless, scarcely a missing plant in the fields, and all are thrifty and growing finely.

The damage from cut-worms and other insects is much less this season than usual.
The prospects for the new crop thus far could not be more promising. The planting different leaf firms of Edgerton. About 800 cases of the '84 crop have been sampled, and the report of the inspectors fully justifies what the Reporter has all along claimed, viz: That the '84 contains the finest goods the state ever produced. Not a single case of damage was found in the lot that was sampled and only two cases but had cooled off from the sweat.

South Granby—Farmers have been anxiously looking for rain the past week, and now they have got it. It came Tuesday, and such a soaking rain we have not had in a long time. It was everything for late set tobacco. It our dry weather had continued much longer tobacco that had been watered in the past week—and there was considerable—would have been almost a failure, the ground being so dry. Now farmers will reset their being so dry. Now farmers will reset their fields, probably for the last time, as it is get-ting late. Quite a number have about fin-ished hoeing their tobacco for the first time, while others have just commenced.

Benton's Corners—The market for tobacco is very quiet at this point. A few crops still remain in growers' hands, who are holding for a higher price. Great activity prevails in regard to the new crop just set, each grower trying to do his best to grow a very fine leaf. We have set our plants this year thicker than ever before, and with good soil, good care, careful handling and years of experience we intend to raise a crop, that will perience we intend to raise a crop that will se the most fastidious buyer.

at the time. Tobacco growers have met with unusual discouragements this year, the tobacco grubs having appeared in great numbers and eaten the plants voraciously. Many farmers have had to reset their tobacco plants three or four times, and we learn that in Morryall some have had to reset their plants six times. From around one tobacco plant in that locality one man dug the other day not less than twenty-five grubs. The cost of resetting the tobacco plants and watering them has been enough to discourage the farmers, but the prospect now is that the plants which have been last set will thrive, as the grubs have ceased their serious ravages and have begun to disappear.

as the grubs have ceased their serious ravages and have begun to disappear.

From the Miamtsburg, Ohio, Balletin.

The spirit of the market is encouraging to holders of '84 leaf. Prices are slowly moving upward and growing stronger under competitive bidding. The top notch for Little Dutch is about 9c, but transactions are effected at 8c, to 845c. The finest crops are held at 10c, and growers are very firm; nearly all of them having weighed their leaf before it went into a sweat will insist upon selling at marked weight. Seed leaf is selling at about the cost of the fertilizer required to grow it. Zimmer's Spanish will not move until ready to work, which will be in three or four weeks. This stock and the Dutch have special merit that will talk loud to manufacturers. Buyors are busy throughout the valley fighting figures and buying as rapidly as possible.

Low-priced Little Dutch in general has dirty fillers, houseburn or unripe cuttings. There is neither rot nor funk in '84, and not the slightest danger in sweating this crop.

The '85 crop is now growing under very favoring conditions and presents a fine appearance.

Connecticut Valley Leaf Market. Dealers in tobacco occasionally put in an appearance and would buy if the tobacco ould be obtained for the low figures they offer. The last visiting dealer we heard of was offering from 4 to 6e per 1b., claiming was offering from 4 to 6c per lb., claiming that he could only do this because of a slight stiffening in prices in the New York market. We did not hear of his securing a pound of tobacco, or of any one showing their goods to him. Those who were late in setting their obacco have been fortunate in having splen did weather for setting and stocking their field. The season for cut worms is about passed and the season for their green neigh-bors is near at hand. The crop is now all worked once and the bulk of it twice. In some localities the stand is rather uneven, but the good weather will seen being the late. but the good weather will soon bring the late plants along. In some localities growers have set the old fashioned seed, probably the "Belknap variety," setting it from 7,000 the 5,000 plants to the acre and, as a rule, the same close setting is followed for Havana seed.

Yesterday afternoon the Nationals and Lancaster clubs played again at McGrann's park and the latter was successful in a very pretty game. The visitors put Gagus in and he pitched a beautiful game, striking out no ess than ten of the home club, and allowing but four hits to be made. Deagle's pitching for the Lancaster was also good, and he received fine support. Burch was the only man that hit him bad. Although outman that hit him bad. Although out-batted by their opponents, Lancaster won the game by bunching hits in the third inning and aided by a couple of errors of the Nationals they scored three runs in the third inning. The home team played the better fielding game and the errors which they had secreted to do them little injury. With their opponents matters were different, as their errors occurred at times when good playing was necessary. The score, in full, follows:

Mr. Robert Garrett, president of the Balti-more & Ohio railroad, was improving his handsome residence on Mount Vernon place in Baltimore, and started to build a bay window, which projected farther over the side walk than is allowed by law. Mr. Henry Janes, a wealthy lumber dealer, whose residence adjoins that of Mr. Garrett, complained that the projected improvement would cut off light from his house, and brought suit to compel Mr. Garrett to refrain from exceeding the legal limit. Mr. Garrett kept his men at work and the building was finished, but Judge Duffy, siting in the circuit court, decided that Mr. Janes was entitled to the rights given him by law and signed. James was entitled to the rights given him by law, and signed a decree ordering the removal of the objectionable bay-window. The suit has been the subject of considerable talk, and Mr. Garrettis the loser by probably morning stepping out of a one-story house in poor and crowded quarter of the Seventi

"What's up ?" asked an INTELLIGENCER reporter, on the hunt of news. "Only some baby insurance business" was the reply. It may be a little surprising to some resiients of Lancaster to know the extent to which baby insurance is carried on in this city. An agent of a prominent New York company, the pioneer of the business in this country, informed the reporter that two companies having offices in this city that insure n this manner carry from 1,200 to 1,500 children, ranging in age from 1 to 12 years on dren, ranging in age from 1 to 12 years on their books.

"Why, he said," "I have had occasion to it sure the whole household of three generations, from the grandparents down to the cradie,"

It is not surprising that this should be as it is, when one reflects on the very small premium, payable weekly, that is required in order to secure a goodly amount of insursurance. For five cents a week you can insure a child, aged from 1 to 6 years, and if it dies the first year $14 is paid, and and so on up to the eleventh year when the amount up to the eleventh year when the amount payable is $123. After the child is six years old you pay ten cents a week, in which case the benefits will be double those given above. HOW IT ORIGINATED. This system is an outgrowth of the indusrial scheme of insurance that originated in London about forty years ago, and in which the chief success has been attained by the Prudential company of that city. This company paid out last year oyer $5,000,000 in benefits, and has over 6,000,000 people on its books, more than one-third of whom are children. It gives employment to 12,000

The local agencies for the companies with the baby insurance feature have been in operation for about three years. Lancaster, with its many comfortable homes and thrifty people, offers not the same field of operation as industrial cities like Scranton, Reading and Harrisburg. Yet as seen by the figures given above, it manages to keep up with the procession.

THE PRO AND CON OF BABY INSURANCE. The advocates of baby insurance dilate upon the beneficial results of the system in providing a fund for the burial of a child of parents who find it nearly impossible to lay up money for such a purpose. A death in a family will frequently seriously embarrass an industrious workman, and the baby in-surance people claim that their system is the only one that satisfactority meets the diffionly one that satisfactorily meets the diffi-culty.

On the other hand it is asserted that this mode of insurance tends to develop the mercenary instinct in parents to the detri-ment of affection for their offspring. That parent must, however, be most inhuman who can look with satisfaction on a dying child because of the insurance money that its death will bring in. It is even darkly its death will bring in. It is even darkly hinted that fiendish parents may hasten the death of little ones for this cause. But for the credit of humanity few instances of the latter enormities have been discovered among the vast number of insurers. The four-year-old child of John Sorg, of Slackwater, notice of whose drowning is given elsewhere, was insured in a New York company having the baby insurance feature.

A FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY DROWNED. Monday afternoon, John, a four-year-old son of John Sorg, residing at Slack water, was drowned in the old canal at that place. The father went fishing a short distance from home after dinner and took his little son with him. After being out for some time the boy wanted to go home and he started to walk to the house. After finishing fishing the father went home, supposing his son to be there. He at once found that he had not been seen by the mother, and search was made. 'The child's hat was first found lying in the water of the canal. Rakes were pro-cured and the dead body was soon dis-covered. It is supposed that the little felow stoped to pick something up near the water's edge and lost his balance was about three feet deep where the drowning occurred. Last evening Coroner Honaman was noti-Last evening Coroner Honaman was notified and he proceeded to Slackwater to hold an inquest. The jury was composed of John Stoll, Anthony Bunnon, Uriah Hess, Daniel Singer, Wm. Stoll and Henry Baitz. The verdict was one of accidental drowning.

MOVEMENTS OF THE CREYENNES. The Excitement Hourly Increasing in the Indian Territory.

WICHITA, Kan., July 14.—Telegrams from Indian territory say the excitement is hourly increasing. The Cheyennes for 3 or 4 days have been going off in bands of from 20 to 50. Some of these bands return in day or two, then go again; so it is impossible to tell how many are away. The bridge across the river between the fort and the agency is being pushed rapidly. A band of Chey ennes night before last stopped at the ranch of the C. & A. Cattle company, having in their possession a herd of stolen mules and horses. They forced the ranchman to get them something to eat. Another band of camp supply. Stock stolen from the Panhandle, of Texas, is already making its appearance among the home Indians. doubt some of these roving bands got as far north as the Kansas line, and their presence gave rise to the late scare. Col. Chapman nmander of Fort Supply, accompanied by his interpreter, has arrived at Darlington, to act with Commissioner Armstrong. The Indians are very anxious to discover the in tentions of the government toward them and express more than a usual desire for "big talk." Fourteen coach loads of soldiers, principally of the 11th infantry, passed through Wichita, going to the front at 2 o'clock p. m.

En Route for Fort Reno. WICHITA, Kan., July 14 .- Gen. Sheridan Sen. Miles, Col. Sheridan and Major Corbin, of Miles' staff, passed through here at 9 a.m. en route for Fort Reno. They will reach the front to-morrow at noon. Everything is quiet here. Another detachment' of troops went through for Crossfield this morning.

Fatal Quarrel Over Money Sr. Joseph, Mo., July 14.—Chas. W. Davis of this city, was fatally shot about 11 o'clock last night by his brother-in-law, John Ryan of Leavenworth, Kansas. The quarrel are in a saloon over some money Ryan had ad-vanced Davis. Ryan drew a large pistol after Davis had kicked him and fired, the pistol being so near Davis that his clothing was scorched. The ball entering the abdo-men, producing a mortal wound. Ryan had just come from Leavenworth last evening. The wounded man's wife sided with her brother and visited him last night in jail. All the parties are well connected.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 14.—Last night Kate Carter was assaulted and fatally kicked by Sam Durrett. Both are negroes and have been living together. Two years ago he was sent to the penitentiary and his term expired last week. When he returned, the woman refused to live with him. They met last night in Green street, and without a word he knocked her down and stamped her in the face with both feet. Her mouth, jaw, nose and skull were crushed. She is dying. Dur-

THE TELEGRAPH FIGHT. Watching Western Union Men-The America

ALRANY, N. Y., July 14.-Since the Western Union for the second time on Sunday morning secured possession of the American Rapid and Bankers & Merchants' wires, there has been a guard on duty night and day. Last night about fifteen line men were watching, two each on the office

Western Union. The management of the B. & M. here remains quiet, watching for developments in New York city. A special from Boston states that the bond olders' committee of the American Rapid Telegraph company has declined a cash offer of 25 cents on the dollar for the $2,250,000 bonds they represent. President Bates, of the Baltimore & Ohio, says that the receipts of his company have been greatly augmented by the unpleasantness between the Hearing of the Difficulty Between the Telegraph Companies Postponed a Week.

New York, July 14.—Two score or more awyers entered the supreme court chambers this morning to engage in and listen to the legal discussion of the difficulties between the Western Union and the Bankers & Merchants' telegraph companies. More than an hour was consumed in other hearings by Judge Donohue before the chief matter of the day was called. Then Mr. Aurbach, on behalf of Mr. Powers and others, who represent a quarter of a million of the bonds of the Bankers & Merchants' moved that the Farmers' Loan and Trust company be removed from the trusteeship of the $10,-000,000 of first construction mortgage bonds of the Bankers' & Merchants' company, on account of collision with the bondholders who fa vored reorganization. Col. Ingersoll, on behalf of the holders of receivers certificates then arose and said. "If the court please, on behalf of the holders of of the receivers certificates, I the receivers certificates, I move the adjournment on this motion. An order by Judge Shipman allowed the receiver of the American Rapid company to make a contract with a corporation to take the business of company. On the basis of this the court directed the receiver of the Bankers & Merchants to deliver to the agent of the receiver of the American Rapid company its wires and instruments. The Western Union company and the agent of the receiver, pretending to act under this order took possession not only of the American Rapid Company's wires but of the Bankers & Merchants."
