niar Correspondence of INTELLIGENCER. COLUMBIA, Pa., July 21.-A borough ordi are ago, relating to the obstructing of the by those persons erecting houses and ing the streets for building materials. The ce provided for the persons building o expose in some prominent place, a red amp to be used in giving warning to persons triving. Several accidents had resulted rom carriages running into piles of brick and lumber, which cost the borough conole money. The streets are now obnoted, in many instances in a similar er, and this matter should receive at The cause of complaint by many persons is the leaving of wagons, etc., on the freets by many parties all night. At present he streets are very dark, and it is surprising hat there are no accidents resulting from col-

Three small children were seen, a day or two ago, jumping on and off a freight was moving slowly through the beir teens, and were companied not yet in cast yards) The children were not yet in their teens, and were compelled to hang on the steps, not being able to reach the handles. The two boys were riding on the steps, while the other one, a small girl, was hanging on the iron rod that supports the door of the car. The moving of the car caused the girl to swing to and fro, and it was almost a miracle that a serious accident did not result therefrom. They did not cease their jumping on the train until an employe chased them away. Although the railroad police officers are very vigilant in their efforts to break up this dangerous habit, yet the practice is indulged in to a very great extent.

The boys gave their names as follows: Grant Boyd, 17 years old; Harry Hall, 17 years; Harry Eaton, 15 years; Perry Moore, 17 years and John Anderson, 11 years. Moore and Anderson were colored and the other white boys. At first the squire and the other white boys. At first the squire was determined to make an example of these boys as they were violating both a state law and a borough ordinance. After giving them timely warning not to repeat their of-Queer Thieving.
