

Prof. Bill's Lecture.

Prof. H. Bill's gave his promised lecture on approved methods of canning, at the Y. M. C. A. hall yesterday afternoon to about fifty his hundred Lancaster subscribers, and will instruct some others privately. At the close of his instruction and after he had distributed copies of his recipes, he declared that while he was not able to give up their hands and they need not pay the extra $1. None objected, and the professor claims that he has given full satisfaction and has lifted the $100 forfeit money which he had deposited as a guarantee of good faith. The course he started incloses the methods of canning corn and tomatoes in glass, of canning fruit by steaming, how to can blackberries, raspberries and strawberries, keeping grapes, making jellies, evaporating fruit, &c. The instructions he gives are at last so numerous that if the recipes prove efficacious they are worth all they cost.

Presentation of a Private Communion Set.

On Friday last a class of nineteen persons, the largest class for many years, was confirmed in the Reformed church in Manheim, by the pastor Rev. Warren J. Johnson. They were joined in the parsonage and presented him with a handsome private communion set and a sum of money, Mr. Wm. A. Ensminger making a fitting presentation. The pastor responded and entertained them with a sermon. The service was followed by the donation of two weeks ago, in which the pastor and wife were made the recipients of a dinner set, household articles and provisions, shows the true warm affection of these people for their new pastor.

Many Opportunities for Excursions.

Some time ago the Young Men's Christian association advertised that they would run an excursion to Atlantic City to-day, over the Reading railroad. The Pennsylvania company at once announced that they would run an excursion to Atlantic City and Cape May at a half dollar cheaper. Both excursions left this morning. The Reading road took 60 cents and the Pennsylvania 55 cents.

Persons desiring to leave this city to-morrow can do so on excursions over both routes. The Reading people will have one to Reading, while another will leave at 8 a.m. for Mt. Gretna, the arrival being at Pennsvlania National Guard camp.

On Monday the Pennsylvania railroad will commence selling excursion tickets to Lansdale, where camping meets on Tuesday.

The price will be 25 cents at all times for the round trip. This is a reduction of 15 cents from last year.

A Mob at an Execution.

William W. Smith, the wife-murderer, was executed by the sheriff of Polk county, Neb., Friday morning in the presence of five thousand persons. The murderer on the scaffold admitted her guilt. This is the intention of the authorities, having the execution private, and for this purpose a very high fence was erected around the place of execution.

Early in the morning, however, a mob, anxious to see the hanging, completely demolished the fence, and the execution took place in the midst of an unruly crowd.

Sent Against the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Harvey Kauffman, of Rohrstown, has brought suit against the Pennsylvania railroad company for damages in the court of common pleas. He alleges that while driving near Rohrstown, about a year ago, his horse scared at some phosphatic put on the public road from some Pennsylvania railroad company and ran off. The wagon was wrecked, the horse hurt, and he was so badly injured that he has not yet recovered from the accident.

The Tucquan Party's Return.

The Tucquan party have nearly all returned to this city, as the camp has been broken. Some came up last evening and others this morning, but a few remain bound to enjoy the meeting which has been excellent for the past few days. Nearly all the old anglers have had fine luck. This camp was one of the most successful ever held by the club.

The Wind Gave Him Away.

The New York Times,
"So I saw you across the street down below, and I noticed that you had been off and (surprised)—How do you know that I had been drinking?"
"Because the wind was blowing in my direction."

The Mercury in the Shade.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer in the INTELLIGENCER publication office marked 90 degrees; in front of Kaufman's drug store 97; in front of Zahn's jewelry store 102 degrees.

Not Mike, the Fruit-Dealer.

The Michael Welsh arrested for the larceny of a watch and afterwards dismissed, is not Michael Welsh, the well-known fruit-dealer of 551 Green street.

Fishing by Fisher.

The base in the Conestoga also seem to have been awakened yesterday. Charles B. Fisher, the well-known fisherman, caught one at Rocky springs that weighed 3½ pounds.

Opening East Clay Street.

The city regular has men at work to-day opening and fixing the line of Clay street, east of North Duke.

Indecent Conduct.

Goo. Hogarth was arrested and gave bail for a hearing before Alderman Deen, on Tuesday next, for indecently exposing his person while swimming in Rankin's dam, on the Conestoga.
