FAITH HEALING.

Form of Popular Credence That has Always Prevailed.

From the Gentleman's Magazine,
Epidemic, which were once regarded as supernatural visitations, are now known by science to depend upon natural causes and to be amenable to treatment. This especially is he case with cholera, which was attributed to divine displeasure, and, in accordance with the theological theory of disease, was supposed to be staid by a miraculous interpoion. But science has long since unmistakably proved that cholera is one of the diseases which attack with the greatest effect those classes of a community who "neglect their persons and live in dirty, ill-drained or ill-ventilated dwellings." And as with chol-era, so with other diseases; they mostly spring from natural causes; they mostly spring from natural causes, concerning which there was formerly so much mis-conception. But, on the other hand, it is no matter of surprise that when delusions of this kind were widely circulated and cred-ited, faith healing should be resorted to as the most consistent means of escandar as the most consistent means of escaping the effects of disease. This probably also explains the origin of many of the charms practiced throughout our own and other countries, in which the formulas used are distinct prayers' although it is true that in some instances they are more verbal forms by no means intelligible. At any rate forms by no means intelligible. At any rate they are so numerous, and survive under such a variety of forms, that it would seem much efficacy was attached to them by our forefathers. Coleridge, it may be remembered, records the time-honored mode of procedure practiced at Christ's hospital, reported to have been in use in the school since its foundation in the reign of Edward VI. A boy attacked by a fit of cramp would get out of bed, stand firmly on the leg affected, and make the sign of the cross over it, repeating meanwhile this formula:

"The devil is types a knot in my leg." "The devil is tying a knot in my leg, Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John unloose it. 1 beg: Crosses three we make to ease us, Two for the thieves, and one for Christ Jesus.

Bishop Garrett (a most charming and ac-complished prelate) tells the story that in a ngregation of cowboys once he was explaining, just bejore the creed, knights used to draw their swords, and hold them aloft to show that were ready to defend their faith with their blade if necessary. He began the creed, but something caused him to look around, and there was one of the cowboys shouting out the belief with a pistol raised shouting out the belief with a pistol raised aloft in each hand. That was the Texas adaptation of the knightly pledge. Does this remind one of the old Danish Vikings, who, on hearing, fourteen hundred years ago, the old, old story of the Crucifixion, demanded with a great clash of serves to be belowed. with a great clash of arms to be led agains the persecutors of "The White Christ."

Hox. A. A. King, U. S. Senator from Vermont, says:—It affords me great pleasure to state that "Dr. Petzoid's German Bitters" is a reliable and pleasant medicine and the best I ever used for Sick Stomach and Billiousness.

"I sold in two years thirry-three thousand one undeed and twenty (33,120) bottles of Hunt's emedy. It is a valuable medicine for kidn's iscases." W. B. Blanding, Prov.

A Necessity of Health.

It is a prime necessity of health that the action of the bowels should be kept regular. But the way to overcome a temporary fit of constipation or to remedy chronic costiveness, is not to delirgatives of violent and painful action. happy medium between an inoperative and vioent cathartic is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which acts just sufficiently upon the bowels to relax them without pain, and which being a wholesome tonic, as well as aperient, has the effect of strengthening both them and the stom-ach, and promoting the well being of the whole internal economy. The removal of the bile from the blood, increases activity of the liver, usually dormant in cases of costiveness, and sound di-gestion follows the use of this beneficent medicine, as thorough and genial in its effects as it is safe and pure in composition. Rhenmat'sm, faver and ague, kidney troubles and debility are also remedied by it. jy29-aug5
