WHAT MY LOVER SAID. merest chance in the twilight gloom, In the orchard path he met me-

In the tall wet grass, with its faint perfume, And I tried to pass, but he made no room : Oh, I tried, but he would not let me! So I stood and blushed till the grass grew red, While my face bent down above it, While he took my hand, as he whispering said-How the clover lifted its pink, sweet head, To listen to all that my lover said Oh, the clover in bloom, I love it !

In the high wet grass went the path to hide, And the low, wet leaves hung over, flut I could not pass on either side, For I found myself, when I vainly tried, In the arms of my steadfast lover. And he held me there, and he raised my head, While he closed the path before me; And he looked down into my eyes and said— How the leaves bent down from the boughs o'er-

FARM, GARDEN AND KITCHEN. casonable Hints and Scasonable Suggestion for Householders and Husbandmen. From the Germantown Telegraph.

Beets require only about 70 days to mature : radishes, 50 : tomatoes, 55 : lettuce, 45. With all such quick growing crops, there is need for fine, well-rotted soluble manure. Ducks should have separate houses from other fowls. No roots are necessary, but they should have troughs, as they do not like to hunt and pick on the ground like chickens.

The American Agriculturist states that a remedy for colic in horses, which never fails, is an injection of from one to two quarts of cold water, not too cold. Instant relief will be afforded by this treatment. An old and successful farmer says that he has noticed in his garden "that that portion which is hoed or cultivated with the dew upon the ground produces better crops than that heed in the heat of the day,'

Don't neglect to give the plgs a run on the cound and in the open air. The breeding ground and in the open air. sows should run in open pasture and should be left to root or go bungry. It will give them strength and constitutional vigor. No wonder hogs die of cholera or something else when kept in close pens and wallowing Farmers who have cows and do their own dairying, and who at the same time keep hens, should know that there is nothing better for hens and that tends to encourage their laying than plenty of skimmed milk to drink; if it is elabbered it is none the worse. The advantage of this kind of feeding was illustrated by a comparison of notes of two neighbors—one was selling eggs all the time while the other obtained but few. It was found that both were feeding exactly alike with the ngle exception that one was feed a pailful of skimmed milk, and as a consequence was receiving the eggs. Curded milk is also good for young chicks,

Hints for the Household If grease or oil is spilled on the carpet, sprinkle flour or fine meal over the spot as soon as possible, let it lie for several hours, and it will absorb the grease. A pretty ornament for a mantle or bracket is a small panel covered with crimson plush; on this hang a decorated holly palette; tie it on with a narrow, old-gold satin ribbon.

It may not be known to all housekeepers that they can effectually remove dust from soft cloth dipped in luke warm suds. Wipe dry.

To remove the smell of paint in a room this method is given: Slice a few onlons and place them in the centre of the room, close the doors, leave the window open a little, and in a few hours the disagreeable odor will have nearly disappeared.

To prevent preserves spoiling, apply the white of an egg with a brush to a single thickness of white tissue paper, with which cover the jars, lapping over an inch or two. It will require no tying, becoming when dry inconceivably tight and strong, and imper-

TWO BOSTON DOG STORIES. Showing the Remarkable Intelligence of Really

Cultured Animals. From the Beston Record,

There is a Newfoundland dog, Lion by name, who gives daily proof of his comprehension of what is said to him. A lady called on his mistress the other day. During her call Lion came in rather slyly, lay down on the parior carpet and went to sleep, The conversation ran on, and the visitor said "What a handsome Newfoundland you have !" Lion opened one eye, "Yes," said his mistress, "he is a very good deg, and takes ex-cellent care of the children." Lion opened the other eye and waved his tail complacently to and fro along the carpet.

"When the baby goes out he always goes with her, and I feel perfectly sure then that no harm can come to her," his mistress went Lion's tail thumped up and down violently on the carpet. "And he is so gentle to them all, and such "And he is so gentle to them an, and such a playmate and companion to them that we would not take a thousand dollars for him." Lion's tail now went up and down, to and fro, and round and round with great and un-disguised glee. "But," said his mistress, "Lion has one serious fault."

Total subsidence of Lion's tail, together with the appearance of an expression of great concern on his face.

"He will come in here with his dirty feet and lie down on the carpet, when I have told him time and time again that he musn't

Here Lion arose with an air of the utmost dejection and humiliation and slunk out of the room, with his lately exuberant tail totally crestfallen.

A dog went every day, with a dime given him by his master, to buy meat for his din-ner at a butcher's shop. The dog always pre-sented his dime, which went into the till and then his meat was given him and he trotted home with it. One day the butcher thought he would play a trick on his customer, just he would play a trick on his customer, has to see what he would do. So he put the dime in his drawer and went about other business. The dog waited patiently for a long time to he waited on, showing some signs of impa-tience. The butcher made no sign of serving him. Finally the dog began to bark violently. walking meanwhile from the till to the chop ping block.
