hens in continement a feed of some green stuff; young clover is well relished, and fresh grass of any kind will not be refused We don't know how lettuce fed for any considerable time would affect them, but having an extra supply of late, have been throwing it to them every evening for a few days. They cat it greedily. Coops for young chicks are best made with a partial board bottom for them to cluster on wet weather; the roofs should be watertight. Place coops near the border of the garden that the chicks may take a chase after the insects. The little fellows can do no possible harm, and they will soon destroy their weight in noxious bugs and worms. Some poultry writers say damaged wheat is good for fow is. We don't use it: the best of any kind of grain is none too good for ours. Clean out the hen house, nests and all, ow, and futnigate thoroughly to get rid of ce. Wash perches, etc., with kerosene. It will soon be time to separate the cockerels from the pullets : with the early hatched, it is best to do it now. Kill off the the old cocks to make room for good selections from among the younger ones. ----

Improving on His Wife's Method.

From the Buffilo Courier.

There is in this city a young Benedict who is so fortunate as to be wedded to a lady of rare beauty and attractiveness. Now this benedict had in all respects proved a model husband and had acquitted himself so faithfully on all occasions that his wife had confidence in him, and willingly intrusted the most sacred and important du-ties to his charge. So fully, indeed, did she trust him that on Wednesday last she started for the country to have a week's visit with a friend, and the last words to him before starting—having consigned the baby to the tender moreles of the nurse—were: "Georgie, promise me to take good care of Fido. Don't let him over-eat himself, and the bath-tub in the parlor, the towels are in the bath-tub in the parlor, the towels are in the linen-press and his comb and brushes are in the left hand corner of my right-hand bureau drawer, and the cologne is on the shelf above. And be sure 'when won've finished to wrap him in his the shell above. And be sure (when you've finished to wrap him in his blanket and put him in the sunshine to dry, and if he c-catches cold telegraph me." So saying she printed one last im-passioned kiss on Fido's nose, tearfully de-livered him to her husband's arm, stopped in-to the carriage and was gone. On Thursday and Eches George implicitly carried out the and Friday George implicitly carried out the parting instructions of his absent wife. He bathed Fido, cologned Fido, brushed, combed and dried Fido. But yesterday morning when the scribe passed by their residence he heard wild yelpings and ki-yi-ings proceeding from the yard. Stepping up to the fence, he locked over and saw an unusually fat pug, now tumbling on the ground, new turning somersaults in the aur, and frantically yelping the while. Some lew yards off stood George with his hands in his pockets and a smile of sweet contentment on his face. He was bathing Fido. He had chained him to a post and there is him to a post

If Your Liver Reminds You Of its existence by dull pain or sharp twinges in the right side, or beneath the dexter shoulder blade, accept the readance as a warning, and regulate theorgan without loss of time, by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The above symptoms a . usually accompanied by yellow-ness of the skin, constipation, tarred torgue, disorder, of the stomach, sick headache and morning nausea. But a reform is promptly in-stituted by the fitters, the best possible substitute for calonici, blue pill, and other super-potent and hartful drugs, erroneously designa-ted as remedies for billoueness. Appetite and digestion are restored, and the Lowel's resume activity, when an impetus is given to the func-tions of health by this sterling anti-billous med-leine, which also has the effect of enriching and parifying the circulation, and fortifying the system against malarial infection in air or water. It is also highly beneficial for rheuma-tism, kidney and bladder troubles. aug12-19
