COLUMBIA, Aug. 22.—The residents of ancester avenue near Locust street were really annoyed last night by having several argo stones inrown with great force against heir houses. The man who committed these citiess marted by throwing several handsall of gravel against the wire screen in the scond-story window of the residence of Mr. Leonge O. Fisher. Not actisfied with this he cam hurled stones against the front of the our houses situated on this square. The tolice occasioned by these stones awakened commitmed by these stones awakened coupants of the houses, and when re-trated with, the man commenced using wery abusive language. ngust 20, was received in Columbia this seening, and contains a very complimentary otics of the Columbia rod and gun club cow encamping near Tyrone. The members of the club are having a fine time among the mountains, and the fishing and gunning in that vicinity is first-class. The balance of the members of the club left town yesterday for the camp, not being able to leave with the other members on last Wednesday morning.

Who will be constable?

Up to the time that Andrew Hardnele started among the citizens of the Third ward with a petition to be appointed constable of that ward to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Frederick Struck, the office went begging for the man. Several Republican residents of the ward were applicants but as the judges had decided to appoint a Democrat to the office for the reason that the last incumbent had been of that political faith, their chance of getting the appointment were considered very slight. Yesterday several other petitions were started on the rounds for the purpose of getting signers asking for the appointment of other Democrats of the ward, but the probability is that Andrew Hardnele will secure the prize, as he has the influence of the 'squire of the ward on his side.

"The Little Trump,"—Of Annie Lewis, who plays the "Little Trump," the Hagerstown News says: "The play is a good one and well set, abounding with opportunities for the display of the versatility of this charming and entirely unaffected little actress, and she improved every opportunity and captured her immense audience to a man. Everywhere we heard the remark that she was the peer of Carrie Swain and we believe there are few better on the American stage who essay the difficult roles she takes.
