no chance for his life and the killing is no sport, but butchery. What with fishing and deer-stalking by day and jack-hunting by night, it will be seen that but little time is left for rest. This may account for the worn appearance of the president. On such nights as they are held in camp by rain or fatigue after a hard day's sport the party spend the time until day-light in a game of euchre. One of the guides informed me that the president since he has been in camp bad not averaged over three or been in camp had not averaged over three or four hours' sleep out of the twenty-four.

Sudden Death of a Former Lancastrian. From the Reading Herald.

From the Reading Heraid. Adam Plank, residing at 304 Court street, father of Charles M. Plank, esq., of the Read-ing bar, died very suddenly Wednesday afternoon, while engaged in conversation with several friends at Fifth and Washington streets. Dr. Martin Luther was called, but death resulted before his arrival. Deceased was borne in Cambridge, Lancaster county, February 13, 1318, and removed to Reading about 36 years ago. He was employed for many years at Bushong's distillery and more recently at Fox & Co's terra cotta works. He was a member of common council from the old northwest ward from 1859 to 1861, and was a quiet, unassuming citizen. He had been alling for some time, but his death was unexpected. Coroner Schoedler in-quired into the facts and learned that apo-plexy of the heart was the cause of hisdeath.

This morning at 7 o'clock Messrs. Samuel Frantz, Jacob G. Peters, Andrew M. Frantz and Capt. Charles Denues, managers of the and Capt. Charles Denues, managers of the Millersville railway, accompanied by a few invited guests, including members of the press, left Lancaster and made an in-spection of the horse car road to Millers-ville. They reached Millersville at eight o'clock, and thence took stage for Safe Harbor, arriving at 9 o'clock. They found the railroad in good condition, except where it passes through the streets in this city. The stage route to Safe Harbor, owing to the late heavy rains, is in rather bad condition, the roads being badly washed in some places. The party returned to Millersville in time to partake of a first rate dinner at the Normal school, after which they came on to this city.

Gounod's Masterpiece. Gounod's now oratorio, "Mors et Vita," was rendered Wednesday afternoon at the Birmingham, Eng., music festival for the first time. The andience was enormous, and the enthusiasm evoked by the music amounted to an ovation. The composition was pronounced by all to be the author's masterpiece. It is more melodious than "The Redemption." The ornicrio was ad-mirably rendered. The principal soloists were Mme, Albani and Mr. Lloyd. Herr Richter conducted the performance. Not That Way.
