WHY HENRY B. GOODWIN SHOT DOWN ALBERT D. SWAN.

A Difficultly Over a Patent Telephone Switchboard Invented by Goodwin Causes a Tragedy—The Details of an Affair That Started Lawrence, Mass.

Albert D. Swan, one of the most prominent and wealthiest citizens of Lawrence, Mass., was shot in the back of the head and killed by Henry B. Goodwin at 10:30 o'clock on Thursday morning. Goodwin gave himself up.

Goodwin entered the office of the L. Sprague manufacturing company, of which Mr. Swan was treasurer, about ten o'clock, President Coburn and the latter being in the office at the time. Goodwin has been in the employ of the Molecular telephone company, of New York, since 1872.

Goodwin is 38 years old. He was brought up in Lawrence and was one of the firm of Goodwin & Caldwell. He started a telephone business in Lawrence, and later sold out to Swan and his associates.

Swan was born in Towkesbury in 1845, and had a wide and varied experience in the insurance business since 1869 and was at one time in the banking house of Hargrett & Hirschfeld, New York, and paying teller of the New York stock exchange.

Swan had previously sent Goodwin to Europe for advice in the matter of his invention of the molecular telephone switchboard. Swan had previously sent Goodwin to Europe for advice in the matter of his invention of the molecular telephone switchboard.

WHAT ARE A WOMAN'S RIGHTS?

A Philosopher Who Asks Some Questions Pertinent to the Gender Sex.

There was a riot of women once in Madrid. The mob gathered about the house of Casimir Perrier and made a great outcry.

After all, what are a woman's rights? Justice would answer—precisely the same as a man's. These are the rights which this world would solve the problem.
