REST. My feet are wearled and my hands are tired-My soul oppressed;
And with desire have I long desired
Rest—only Rest.

'Its hard to toll when toll is almost vam, In barren ways;
'Tis hard to sow and never garner grain
In harvest days.

The burden of my days is hard to bear,
But God knows best;
And I have prayed—but vain has been my prayer
For Rest, sweet Rest.

'Tis hard to plant in apring and never reap The autumn yield; 'Tis hard to till, and when 'tis tilled to weep O'er fruitless field.

And so I cry—a weak and human cry— So heart oppressed ; And so I sigh—a weak and human sigh— For Rest—for Rest

My way has wound across the desert years:
And cares infest
My path, and through the flowing of hot tears
I pine for Rest. 'Twas always so; when still a child I isid
On mother's breast
My weary little head—e'en then I prayed,
As now, for Best.

And I am restless still: 't will soon be o'er,
For down the West
Life's sun is setting; and I see the shore
Where I shall Rest.

.- Father Ryan. CURTIS ON CLEVELAND.

The Leading New York Mugwamp Still & Firm

Supporter of the President. From the New York Mail and Express. "Although one year of President Cleve-land's administration has passed amid trying circumstances and the election to power of a party long kept out, he has, by his own force and courage, made it a success," said George William Curtis, editor of Harper's Weekly, yesterday.

After declaring that the president has given entire satisfaction in his general attitude and idelity to the general principles of reform

Of the Pan-Electric matter he said: "It is a great scandal upon the administration, especially coming so soon after taking the reins of government. Mr. Garland ought to have known better than to accept stock in the Pan-Electric Telephone company. It was a great misfortune and has been a blot upon the fair fame of the administration. It has given ground for numerous attacks, Indeed, I consider it the most injurious incident and one that may do great harm unless the result of the investigation should relieve Mr. Garland should be removed? Well, it is a very difficult matter. If he resigned it would doubtless be interpreted as a judgment against him. The president may be excused from taking any steps looking towards Mr. Garland's removal. To ask Mr. Garland to resign would be a disgrace to him and a reflection somewhat upon the administration. The investigation will relieve the president of the initiative in the matter. Mr. Garland is his friend and he doesn't desire to bring disgrace upon him unless the facts, upon inquiry, are sufficient to warrant summary action. The whole thing is much to be deplored, coming as it does in the first year of a new administration."

Regarding the president's message to the Senate relative to the demand for papers, he s his views and declare his intentions in that way it he chose, rather than through some senator in a speech. The report of the committee that Mr. Edmunds was on certainly required some answer, and the president neglected a very staightforward, manly way. But for Mr. Edmunds to say that the message reminded him of the action of Charles I. was utterly uncalled for and out of keeping with the spirit and purpose of the coming with the spirit and purpose of the com-munication. Mr. Edmunds should know that the right of the president is a constitu-tional right. The president, like any-body else, has a private correspond-ence. He gets letters in confidence, and he can not honestly show them. But he has put them on the public tiles in his department. He should be allowed to withdraw them. I think that all letters and communications received by the president pertaining to incumbents in office should be open to public inspection. These confidential letters are obviously intended to stab in the dark. If a man really knows and can prove that an office-holder is guilty of anything sufficient to cause his removal or suspension, he should be willing to have his name made public. Now, the president should desire all openness in these matters for two reasons, viz.: By allowing his reasons to be known why he did so and so, he frustrates the game of the Senate. Then he can reply, I have done my duty and have no secret behind my official actions. Personally there never was any poppy-cock about Mr. Cleveland. He is plain, direct and frank, and a perfectly courageous man." He should be allowed to withdraw them.

"Do the Mugwumps still endorse the administration?"
"Yes, they do. I think the Mugwump support, with one exception, is still staunch. In Maryland I confess they are aghast at the chief appointments that have been made there. They have been of such a kind as to call forth universal condemnation. It has tried their confidence to find that they were made through the advice of Sanator Gorman. made through the advice of Senator Gorman who has no sympathy with Mr. Cleveland and does not believe in civil service reform.

THAT DRULL MERTING

The Publishers and Their Friends Had With From the Chicago News.

"My first meeting with Miss Murfree was very droil," continued Mr. Howells, with a hearty laugh. "She had been writing for the Allastic a couple of years. One day Osgood dropped in at my library. 'Craddock's in town,' said he. 'He will dine with me tonight. Can't you join us at dinner? I told Osgood I had an engagement for that night, but would surely put in an appearance if only for a few minutes. You see, it had never accurred to any of us that 'Craddock, was not a man, and I had often given free rein to my fancy in imagining how he would look and act. After Osgood left me he hunted up Aldrich and told him about it, and Aldrich said nothing but death would prevent him being present, for if there was one man in the world he wanted to see it was Craddock. Then Osgood told Lawrence Barrett about it, and Barrett promised to be there, too. It so happened that I was the first of the men to arrive. I saw two strange ladies in the drawing-room, but no Craddock. Osgood enjoyed my disappointment a moment and then he said: 'Mr. Howells, let me present you to Miss M. N. Murfree, whom we all know as Charles Egpert Craddock. The other lady was Miss Murfree's sister. Of course I was greatly surprised, and they all laughed heartily at my confusion. There was more laughter when Aldrich came in, and then we waited to see how Barrett would take it. I think he was the most nonplused man I ever saw. He could do nothing for a few mements but grin—yes, setually grin. Think of it! That model of elegance and dignity grinning; but he did it, and he stammered and hesitated so when he attempted to speak that the entire party roared until their sides ached." "My first meeting with Miss Murfree was

Not symptoms, But The Disease.

It would seem to be a truth appreciable by all, and especially by professors of the healing art, that to remove the disease, not to alieviate its symptoms, should be the chief aim of medication. Yet in how many instances do we see this truth admitted in theory, ignored in practice. The reason that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is successful in so many cases, with which remedies previously tried were inadequate to cope, is attributable to the fact that it is a medicine which reaches and removes the causes of the various maladies to which it is adapted. Indigestion, fever and ague, liver complaint, gout, rheumatism, disorder of the bowels, urinary affections and other maladies are not palliated merely, but rooted out by it. It goes to the fountain heat, it is really, not nominally, a radical remedy, and it endows the system with an amount of vigor which is best protection and elected.

J. P. Mozara, cashier of the Girard House, Phiadelphia, Pa., writes, November 27, 1894: "For the past twelve years I have been a sufferer with what is known to the medical profession as imbago. Having been recommended, about n've years ago, to try Alicock's Porous Plasters, i did so, and was more than astonished at the result. I found almost instant relief on their application. I wear one constantly now, and would not be without them. I consider them invaluable."

Many vain attempts are made to repeat the remarkable success of Benson's Capeins Flaster. This splendid remedy is known, sold and used everywhere, and its prompt action and unrivalled curative powers have won for it heats of friends. Imitations have sprung up under similar sounding names, such se' Capeion," "Capsicum," etc., intended to desceive the carriess and unwary. These articles possess uone of the virtues of the genuine. Therefore we hope the people will assist us to protect what are at once their interests and ours. Ask for Benson's Pinster and examine what is given you, and make sure that the word "Capeine" is cut in the middle of the pissier fitself, and the "Three Seals trademark is on the face cloth. Any reputable kealer will show you these asfiguards without hesitations. If you cannot remember the name—Benson's Capeine Flaster—cut this paragrap from the paper.

SPECIAL NOTICES

Curious to think that desks and chairs kill people, but they do. Taken in large quantities office furniture is fatal as yellow lever. We sit and write ourselves away. Sedentary habits produce constipation; that begets dyspopala; rheumatism and kidney trouble follow in their train and death ends the chapter. You whose lives passed over desks and in the confined air of office sought to keep Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy "always on hand for the stomach and brain.

A Few Facts.

Housekeepers in selecting wares for your tables, etc., especially those just buying new outfits, it is important that you select the best in the market. How embarrassing to a lady, especially if she has table pride, and what lady should not have, to find that her ware is all full of small cracks, and that grease has penetrated and made it look black and ugly.

A cause and a remedy. All semipercelain or granite ware in its biscuit state is porous. It is then covered with natural or artificial glass to prevent its penetration by liquids. This is termed glazing. The glaze must vary as it must fuse or melt according to the ware upon which it is placed. It must also dilate or contract in proportion to the biscuit or else it will crack or craze and produce the above result. Unequal or insufficient firing or burning may and will sometimes produce You may, and will no doubt ask,

Attentive parents cannot avoid noticing the tendency on the part of their children (especially girls) to fall into the labit of sitting and walking in a stooping posture. In most cases, this pernicious habit is the direct result of the position which they are obliged to occupy while bending over a desk, while at study at school, or while engaged in practicing on the piano or other instrumentat home. This not only causes them to become round shouldered, but makes of what would otherwise have been robust children weak and sickly ones, with a tendency to spinal diseases. from weak and sickly ones, with a tendency to opinal diseases.

To obtain a Brace that would sufficiently supplement the nuscles of the back and at the same time draw back the shoulders (thus bringing the relative parts of the body into a heaithful and natural position), has been our study for some time past.

We submit the result to your consideration feeling assured that a trial will convince you of the merits which we claim for the "Aliantic "Misses Corset and Brace combined.

JEWELRY AND ART!

In calling attention to our offerings in this line, the public are invited to a close and critical examination of the goods which we believe we can fairly claim are of a standard equal to any ever offered in the largest cities of our land, and we ask comparison of prices, knowing that ours are lower for the fine goods offered than the ruling of prices elsewhere.

Our Stock of Unset Diamonds is large, and we will make up from these any style of work desired.

All the Newest Patterns of Ladies' Wear always in Stock, and Birth or Month Stones of the whole calender can be had promptly. The Gems—Diamond, Ruby, Emerald, Sapphire, Topaz, Opal and Pearl always on hand, and set to order. Oil Paintings, Marbie and Bronze Statuary, and Musical Boxes, always cheerfully shown by our attendants. Everybody is invited to call and be shown through our stock.

CARRIAGE WORMS.

NORBECK & MILEY. THIRD GREAT THIRD GREAT CARRIAGE SALE

At Norbeck & Miley's, CORNER OF DUKE AND VINE STREETS, LANCASTER, PENN'A.,

Monday, March 22, 1886,--10 A: M. and 2 P. M, AT TERMS-NINETY DAY NOTE; SIX PER CENT. OFF FOR CASH. TO GREATEST OF SALES, GREATEST IN NUMBERS, GREATEST IN VARIETY. FINEST IN FINISH, ALL STYLES AND GRADES. ALSO, A FEW SLEIGHS.

First-Class Vehicle at Low Prices is astonishing, but we do it, and as proof, we refer to any buyer at former sales. Over 600 jobs sold at former sales and not 20 worth of repair. Our sales in Lancaster city and county in the last few years are larger than any two retail factories in the city or county. We manufacture more than any three factories in above mentioned district. This is no paper talk, but a fact. A public inspection is favited to examine work. Procure a bargain. Don't listen to abusive, lealous and lying competitors, but attend and see for yourself. Sale MONDAY, MARCH 22,1835, at 10 a m. and 2 p. m. TERMS—Ninety days, with approved security; six per cent, per annum off for cash.

CARD—We know some of our competitors have abused our reputation on account of holding sales and reducing the price of a first-class job, but we challenge them again, as before, to produce as much first-class stock, or construct a finer vehicle of a my style. We mean business, and those it concerns can have satisfaction by calling on or addressing Norbeck & Miley.
