The Oregon Disaster. The officer in charge of the Oregon at the time of the collision with an unknown schooner says that though the night was starlit, he did not see the vessel until it was too late to change the course of the Oregon, though the order was promptly given by him to do so.

There is nothing surprising in the disclosure that the Republican majority in the Senate is about to go to pieces over the issue raised by Mr. Edmunds. It is altogether certain that a number of his party colleagues never had any hearty faith in his position.

Edmunds' position cannot be sustained, because it is illogical, inconsistent and absurd. His contention to see the president's private papers, while those who agree with him insist on admitting that the Senate has no right to sit in judgment upon the president's suspension of officials, is a waste of time as well as a strain upon public patience.

The better class of Republican senators see this. They know that Mr. Edmunds has been well described as one who can see a fly on the barn door and lose sight of the barn door itself.

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE has decided the act requiring physicians to register in the prothonotary's office to be constitutional.

MANY people observe Lent by putting a "6" in their fast.

ACCORDING to the report of the secretary of the Interior, there are in all—men, women and children—260,000 Indians. They occupy 134,000,000 acres of land.

THE PROMINENT fact about the Oregon disaster is that after the collision the vessel was enabled to keep afloat for 8 hours, thus giving her more than 600 passengers ample time to leave the doomed steamer.

AND the hesitation to believe all that the Oregon's commander says, will not be lessened by his declaration that the doors in the water tight compartments were all closed.

THE GROUND-HOG'S winter sleep is nearly over.

THOSE who are arranging for the publication of the memoirs of Gen. Logan will be dazzled by the prospects before them.

THERE should be a large turnout at the Irish meeting in the court house, on St. Patrick's night.

PUNCHING A PLANO. A Wild Westerner Playing Before a Cultured New York Audience.

THE following was the introduction to a concert programme in New York, on Sunday evening, which attracted a large audience, many of whom came no doubt to scoff:

TEXAS cowboy pianist, A. O. Babel, pronounced, and with propriety, the most perfect pianist of his age. His execution is marvelous; he is perfect master of the piano; composes and improvises, and plays over twelve hundred selections.

THE programme assertion that Mr. Babel had never received any instruction had prepared the critical audience for something extremely funny. But those who came to sneer remained to praise.

THEIR critical taste was overwhelmed by their admiration at the wonderful and dexterous manipulation of the keys by a breezy and muscular Westerner, who had never endured or inflicted the "melodies" of scales or five-finger exercises.

WE discover how far our best enthusiasms have abated, and how largely the world-spirit has faded in the Arabian retirement; Moses in the mount alone with Jehovah; Elijah in the cave of desolation; David in the sheep-cote and mountains; Luther in Wartburg castle—are all examples to us, and enforce the lesson that on such seasons of retirement depends the vigor of our life.
