LANCASTER, MARCH 24, 1886

Mr Gowen's Scheme. Mr. Gowen presents his proposition for the rehabilitation of Reading and it is a far simpler, wiser and more generous proposi-tion than that of the syndicate which has en organized to restore Reading for its own profit. This is the essential difference in the two propositions. The one proposes to use the whole Reading property for the benefit of its owners and creditors, while the other proposes a deal with great profit in it to other and outside people. Mr. Gowen's plan needs to have behind it capitalists who are ready to take a Reading four per cent. mortgage for a hundred millions at its value. And it is reasonable to suppose that these are to be had. There can be no doubt of the ability of the Reading property to earn this interest upon this im, and it would be a secure and profitable investment of capital. Mr. Gowen oses two other issues of securities, that will be subsequent incumbrances upon the property, to be given to those who now hold the deferred obligations of the road. The stockholders are left in the position they now hold. There is no assessment made, the failure to pay which will deprive the holder of the securities of hi property.

Only those will be left out who refuse to accept the new security tendered. If these securities will be equal in value to those now held there will be no one to refuse to accept them. The new value given to the mior securities will be in the decreased burthen that the preferred securities place upon the property. The reduction in the interest charge upon the general mortgage from six to four per cent. lets the junior securities into the daylight and gives them a fair expectation that the interest promised them will be earned. This reduction can only be made by offering cash to stockholders of the general mortgage bonds who prefer it to a four per cent. bond. If the cash is offered them they will not take it, because the bond is better. If however, it is not ready for them they will refuse to exchange their six per cents. for four per cents. That Mr. Gowen will be find capitalists to furnish him with all the money he needs upon the four per cent. security he has to offer them. may readily be believed; and if so. he commands the situation.

New York's Law Officers.

They have a queer way of doing things in the police line in New York. Inspector Byrnes, of the police corps, has just had the vice president of the board of aldermen arrested for receiving bribes, which offense the inspector says he induced him to confess to him. The same inspector was a few days ago charged, upon the affidavit of one of the most respectable ladies of New York, with having refused to arrest this same alderman, whom she charged with having received and melted up her stolen silver plate. The vice president of the board of aldermen was accused by her of ping a "fence" for the receipt of stolen goods. Inspector Byrnes' detectives testified to this. There seems to be no oubt of it. Inspector Byrnes was his friend. Very suddenly he becomes his ssor and his accuser. It is said that the vice chairman of the aldermen was presented, by the inspector, with his choice of being jailed as a "fence" or as a bribe-taker; and he took the latter born of the dilemma as the easiest, and to accommodate Byrnes, who wanted to exhibit his activity in the latest accusation to cover up his inactivity as to

The district attorney, who acted in the first charge as the friendly counsellor of the vice chairman of the aldermen and advised him to make restitution of the value of the lady's silver to save his reputation, is now hot-foot after the bribe-taking weakness of his guardian friend.

And this is the same district attorney who has been so easy upon Grant and Ward's money-making friends. The reubtable Warner, who after two years is declared to have taken a million and a half or so, to which he was not entitled, is not to be found, nor his money, and he has never been near the jail, notwithstanding his big steal.

The Chaplain's Prayer.

The chaplain of the House made a se ion in that body by asking the Lord to seliver the land from all those who earned ir money otherwise than by the honest and manly work of their brain and hands. The House ordered the prayer to be spread on its record.

It will do well to ponder upon it. Perps it will conclude as it has hitherto conhuded, that, however great the blessing of o riddance its chaplain demanded, only Lord, to whom it was addressed, could nt his prayer; and the Lord has shown great sign yet of moving to the work the sid of Congress. bill received in a committee of the House, the hope has been cherished that it would soon receive decent interment. That such osition of it would be a most cheering sight to the country becomes more and more evident. Louisiana, which the advocates of the bill pointed to as specially in need of its provisions, evidently wants none tit. The New Orleans Times-Democrat which should be an authority on the ques tion, says: "There is a marked improvement in the duration of the time in which the public schools are kept open 150 days now as against 101 days in 1883 and ninety-two in 1882. * * We hope that with the aid of the legislature we will be able to make a better exhibit in the next report."

This is the keynote to the situation. Let the aid necessary come under state auspices, and for every dollar of it expended there will be ten times the return as compared with the money flowing in from federal FARMERS will read with interest the agricultural statistics of Great Britain for 1885 which have recently been issued. They show a very serious decrease from the yield of 1884 in some of the most important food products. The decrease in wheat is estimated at 2,628,211 bushels, in peas 1,336,578 bushels, in beans 2,610,783 bushels, in potatoes 544,699 tons, in turnips 6,562,497 tons, and mangold 87,869 tons, in England. In Ireland, on the other hand, there has been an se over 1884 amounting to 197,016 bushels of wheat, 135,386 tons of potatoes, 43,859 tons of turnips, and 60,253 tons of mangold. Both England and Ireland have shown an increase in the production of barley, amounting to 5,338,519 bushels in the former country and 463,998 in the latter. From barley is nade mait and from mait, sie, so that, though food may be somewhat scarcer and conse quently dearer, there need be no dread of a lack of drink.

ANOTHER millionaire comes to the United States Senate in the person of George Hearst, appointed by Governor Stoneman, of Callfornia, to the place made vacant by the death of Senator Miller. We are told that Mr. Hearst is considered the most expert prospector on the Pacific coast, and his judgment in regard to a mire has never yet been at fault; that he is a very wealthy man, and among his real estate owns 40,000 acres of the finest lands in the state. He may be all these, and yet be unqualified for the position on which he enters. But it is unfair to prejudge the case against the new senator. It is only proper to say that something far more than wealth is required to make him shine in his new position. Senator Hearst is probably a man of strong character, for he has risen to his present place from being a laborer in the mines in 1850.

THE news that John Bright favors the Gladstone scheme for Ireland is worth its weight in gold.

THERE is to be a convention of the American Agriculture and Dairy association in Washington on April 6th, to go before the House committee on agriculture in behalf of the till now before that committee to tax and place the manufacture and sale of imitation butter under the supervision of the internal revenue bureau. These are doubtess the same people who want the constitution trampled upon to prohibit the manufacture of a good food product which is a great boon to the poor.

MUCH has been said in the papers recently of the "peachblow" vase which was purchased at the Morgan art sale in New York for the collection of William T. Walters, in Baltimore. The New York Times sets affoat a curious story regarding it. This vase for which Mrs. Morgan paid the American Art association $12,000, and which is popularly known as the "fifteen-thousand-dollar ase," was purchased for the American Art association by Mr. Austin Robertson, in Pekin, from a dealer in curios, who received for it 250 Mexican silver dollars, eoin worth about 80 cents each in our money or $200 in round numbers. It was sent immediately to this country, and was sold to Mrs. Morgan for $12,000. The salesman who waited upon her mistook the selling price marked on the vase, $2,000, for $12,000, and told her the latter figure. After a little hesitancy she decided to buy the vase at that price, and it was set aside for her. After she ad gone the salesman discovered the error he had made, and reported it to one of the members of the association. The gentleman to whom the story was told remarked in effect : "Well, if Mrs. Morgan was willing to pay $12,000 for it, charge her that for it." This variety of vase for which so much money was paid is said to have no particular value in China.

The Philadelphia Evening News will advance its price from one to two cents on Monday next. It is safe to say that a newspaper that is not worth two cents to its purchaser is worth nothing.

HENRY STRONG, in the course of an article in the North American Review for March, combats the idea that this country is threatened by the English system of landlordism, showing by successive censuses that small estates are not in the course of consolidation into large estates. In Illinois, out of 255,000 farms, only 640 are of more than 1,000 acres; in Michigan there are but Si, and in Kansas only 235.

MRS. JOHN W. MACKAY'S jewels at Queen Victoria's drawing room on Tuesday were very gorgeous. Among the most conspicuous of her adornments were a riviere of diamonds, pendents of diamonds and sand four strings of pearls. Nothing to equal Mrs. Mackay's display of rare and costly jewels has been witnessed at any court since the reign of the Empress Eugenie at the Tuilleries.

Presence of Mind.

From the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

The cattle-growers who graze their herds on the northern range have kept the fact of their being engaged in that business so con-stantly before the public that they have created the impression that the larger portion of the cattle in the country graze on the arid plains or in the Rocky Mountain valleys and parks. This is a mistake.

Given a country where corn thrives, there will be found cattle and hogs in large numbers. All intelligent agriculturists know that the Mississippi valley is divided into great belts of land, each distinguished by some marked peculiarity of soil and climate that determines the use to which it is devoted. The upper Mississippi valley is wheat land; the iower upper, corn land; the upper lower, cotton land; and the lower, so-called sugar-land. It is true that corn can be reised in cotton land; and the lower, so-called sugar-land. It is true that corn can be raised in the wheat and in the cotton belt, and even in the sugar belt; but it is not corn as the West-ern corn-growers use the word. The corn belt proper includes Hilmols, lowa, Mis-souri, and Eastern Kansas and Nebraska. Portions of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, and Tennessee properly belong in this bett. But I use the first division for convenience of E-lustration. Where corn grows to perfection there is always pienty of feed for catile. Mil-let will grow and yield bountiful crops throughout the region. The same is true of ots; and wheat, though not a sure crop in the corn belt, is extensively sown. In 1870 there were 22,501,337 domestic horned cattle in the United States. In 1880 the census shows that there were 33,931,670 the census shows that there were 33,931,670 cattle in the country—an increase of 12,430,-333 during the decade. Of this increase 5,-022,988 were in the five corn states of Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska. When the last census was taken, more than one-fourth of the cattle in the country were in those states. In 1880 our production of corn was 1,754,591,676 bushels. The five corn states produced 1,671,595,344 bushels—more than half the crop. It is plainly seen that where the land yields large crops of corn, there the cattle naturally gravitate.

In 1880 there were in all that extensive area composed of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington, 1,786,282 cattle or 594,714 less than there were in Illinois, and but 351,974 more than there was in the young state of Kansas. New York, which is never spoken of as a cattle growing state, contained in 1780 2,300,088 cattle—613,825 more than then grazed on the whole of the arth balt, the state, contained in 1780 2,300,088 cattle—613,-826 more than then grazed on the whole of the arid belt, the much vaunted grazing grounds of the West. In my opinion the census of 1890 will show that there will be more cattle in the three corn-growing states of Illinois, lowa, and Missouri than in the entire plain region, excepting Texas, of course. And there will not be as much acute suffering, nor as many miserable deaths from starvation and cold, in the three states as there will be among the cattle existing through the winter in a single county in the so-called cattle country. In 1880 there were 3,084,102 cattle in Texas.

The Texas cattlemen so thoroughly under-stand their business, and the state is so well adapted to raising cattle, that nothing need be said of them or their lands. All Texas be said of them of their lands. All Texas cattle-growers realize that they must not overstock their range, now fully stocked. Those at all familiar with Texas know that as long as grass grows and water runs that state can be relied upon to supply from 750,000 to 1,000,000 cattle annually; cows can raise calves on the Texas ranges and live, and the same is true of New Mexico and Arizons and portions of the Indian territory. Arizona and portions of the Indian territory

Bismarck and His Docto

From the London World. Prince Bismarck is again indisposed, it is said, and pleurisy is feared. That means work for Prof. Schwenniger, the prince's Schwenninger is the Roose of Berlin. Munich was to him what Brighton was to our English rising medico, and Bismarck's eldest son was his discoverer. This gentleman, having had some sixty or seventy pounds' weight taken off him, and having been brought out of the very back-teeth of death by following Dr. Schwenniger's advice, suggested that his father should also become death by following Dr. Schwenia also become suggested that his father should also become a patient. The chancellor was willing, but he could not go to Munich, and the doctor could not leave his practice there without a guid pro quo. The quid—several hundred quid—was found by his appointment to a professorship in Berlin, which he now holds, in addition to an enormous private practice. He sees Bismarck daily, had brought him into perfect health, and had so tamed the tiger that the former periodical explosions in the that the former periodical explosions in the Reichsrath had entirely ceased, and there had been no change in the government since Schwenniger had charge of the chancellor's digestion. Diet, not medicine, is what Prof. Schwenniger swears by. No drugs, no mineral waters, no "kur" of any kind. Fet of eral waters, no "kur" of any kind. Eat of only one dish, no matter what that may be. Oysters, lobsters, beef, multon—eat your moderate fill of that, but touch nothing else at a meal; no vegetables, save perhaps a little salad, no sweets, no savories, and do no touch one drop of liquid until half an hour, in some cases an hour, after your meal is ended! A QUESTION ABOUT

Brown's Iron Bitters

The question has probably been asked then sands of times. "How can firown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IRON. Physicians recognize Iron as the beat restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in mediciae. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of REOW NS IMON BITTERS no perfectly satisfactory combination had ever been found. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, esuse headache, or produce constipation—all other medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Maiaria, Chilis and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs. Headache and Neuralgia—for all these allments Iron is prescribed daily. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however, does not cure in a minute, Like all other thorough medicines, it acts slowly. When taken by men the first symptom of benefit is renewed energy. The muscles then become rapid and marked. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a nursing mother, abundant sustenance is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and druggints recommend if.
